The Rev. C. J. Davis presented the following which, on motion, was received:

REPORT OF POLICY OF THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF THE DIOCESE OF WESTERN NEW YORK

The three year period of the Nation-Wide Campaign will be completed this year. The Presiding Bishop and Council are already preparing a program and budget covering the next three years to submit to General Convention in September. They will invite the suggestions and co-operation of the dioceses in this work. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that this diocese formulate its opinions in regard to the future policy of the Church that it may be governed accordingly in making its own plans, in its co-operation with the Presiding Bishop and Council, and in the attitude of its deputies in General Convention.

With this end in view, your Executive Council begs leave to present the following report and the resolutions attached to it.

I

We recognize with deepest gratitude the great good that has been accomplished by the Nation-Wide Campaign both in the Diocese and General Church. The great increase in vitality which was the primary result enabled the new organization of the General Church to function and also was the compelling motive which led many dioceses and parishes to re-organize along the same effective lines. The Church seems adequately organized to discharge the great task of which the campaign gave us a vision. In our own diocese, new organization was followed by a real strengthening of our stakes. The salaries of the clergy, so great a source of weakness in the past, were brought up at least to the minimum set by the diocese save in a few cases where the necessary co-operation was not forthcoming. The work of the diocese has been centralized in a fine property in Buffalo, and our bishops provided with adequate salaries.

In the field of Diocesan Missions a new policy has resulted in the creation of two rural associate missions by which important rural communities have the ministrations of resident clergymen. In Buffalo an efficient Church Extension Society has been created, and in Rochester the existing Society has been supported and strengthened. A diocesan paper has been published regularly which has unified the diocese in a wonderful way. The work of Religious Education and Social Service has been increased, and through regional and county conferences as well as parochial study groups the conception of the Church's mission in its various fields has been implanted in the Church's consciousness as never before. Financially the Diocese has on the whole lived up to its pledges being one of the very few in the Church which have done so. For every dollar spent on ourselves, a dollar has been given to the work of the General Church, the total being fully three times as much as the Diocese ever gave before to objects outside of itself. The increase in the spiritual life of the Diocese is of course impossible of measurement, but is unquestionably the greatest fruit of this effort.

II

It is evident that this progress in the diocese and in the General Church alike, in itself has increased the financial as well as the moral responsibility of the Church. The income (as well as interest and vitality) required merely to hold the ground we have gained is very much greater than it was two years ago; and if the Church discharges its responsibility to go forward, still more will be required.

III

As an offset to this, however, certain lines of policy may be suggested which will make for economy, and by which we believe the actual apportionment upon parishes may be readjusted with a real gain in efficiency. This is desirable, if possible; indeed it seems imperative. We must reckon with the present depression in business. Moreover, there is an impression abroad, perhaps more or less well-founded, that in the General Church, money has been wasted in publicity, in experimentation, and in creating an organization larger than is warranted by actual results. As is usual, this impression has outweighed the remarkably fine results of the campaign in the minds of many subscribers, and their confidence must be restored.

IV

With these ends in view it seems to the Executive Council that in the plans of both the Diocese and the General Church, certain principles should govern as follows:

Principle 1.

Organization should be simplified in both the Diocese and the General Church. This involves first the elimination of the name, Nation-Wide Campaign, and its corresponding department. The idea of the campaign can be exploited by a co-ordinating committee of the various departments. We are convinced that every effort should be made to bring about a closer co-ordination among the various departments of the Presiding Bishop and Council to the end that all plans and publications originating in any one department may be co-ordinated with the plans and publications of other departments. When this is done, what is now called the Nation-Wide Campaign, under whatever name it may be continued, will simply be the summing up and unified expression of the mind of the General Convention and the Presiding Bishop and Council as formulated in the various departments co-ordinated, and presented, through one publication and publicity agent, to the Church. Thus the Nation-Wide Campaign under its new name would not be a thing apart, but would simply be the field agent, the voice and the instrument of a closely co-ordinated Executive Council and executive policy. Secondly, the duties of several secretaries can and should be consolidated into fewer offices, and a substantial reduction in the force should be made, if possible. Organizations should be increased only as the necessity is seen to be imperative, and only after funds have been provided therefor.

Principle 2.

The Kingdom is best advanced by personal contacts. Letters, pamphlets and news sheets should be reduced to a minimum, and an organization developed by which plans and information can be given by personal contact. In this connection it would be advisable in the interests both of economy and efficiency for the General Church to communicate with individual clergy and parishes but through the diocesan organization.

Principle 3.

The program should be flexible, and should be influenced by the prospective income. For the Diocese it should cover one year as should pledges. For the General Church, while the program may cover three years, there should be a readjustment of the budget and apportionment annually. Fixed specification should cover current expenses only. And the remainder of the budget should be subject to revision from time to time by the Executive Authorities.

Principle 4.

A program of education should be begun by the Executive Authorities as soon as possible and should include the publication of budgets and of all offices with the salaries and duties appertaining to them.

Principle 5.

"Specials" should again be allowed and credited on apportionments.

Principle 6.

The apportionments upon parishes and dioceses should be based upon current expenses and not upon a sum inclusive of Diocesan Missions and Forward Work, which are not properly a basis for apportionment.

V.

To carry out these principles, we offer the following resolutions:

1. RESOLVED, that the foregoing report of the Bishop and Executive Council upon the policy of the Diocese be adopted as the mind of this Convention.

2. RESOLVED, that the Bishop and Executive Council be and they are hereby instructed to put the principles stated in said report into effect in the work of the Diocese after the expiration of the three year period of the Nation-Wide Campaign.

3. RESOLVED, that the Bishop and Executive Council be and they are hereby instructed to print this report and action and to send a copy thereof to the Presiding Bishop and Council and to the authorities of every Diocese in the Church.

4. RESOLVED, that the deputies representing this Diocese in General Convention be, and they are hereby instructed to make every endeavor to obtain the incorporation of the principles stated above in the program and budget which shall be adopted by General Convention.

The Rev. Mr. Mosher, for the Standing Committee on Finance, presented the following report which, on motion, was received:

To the Eighty-fifth Annual Convention of the Diocese of Western New York:

Gentlemen:

The Standing Committee on Finance to which has been referred the annual reports of (1) The Treasurer of the Diocese, (2) The Treasurer of the Church Pension Fund, (3) The Treasurer of the Executive Council, (4) The Financial Report of the Trustees of the Parochial Fund, and (5) The Treasurer of the Episcopate Fund would respectfully report: That we have examined the said reports as printed for the use of the Convention.

(1) The Report of the Treasurer of the Diocese appears to be in due form and correct, but there is no evidence that it has been audited. In the judgment of this committee all such reports should be audited.

(2) The Report of the Treasurer of the Church Pension Fund has not been audited. It is full and complete. The special attention of the Convention is called to the supplemental note at the close of the Report citing the unusual number of parishes and missions which were in arrears December 31, 1921,—a condition not at all commendable to the Diocese.

(3) The Treasurer of the Executive Council is now the Treasurer of the Diocese and no separate report is made.

(4) The Report of the Trustees of the Parochial Fund has not been audited. We would call the attention of the Trustees that their report does not conform to the requirements of subsection 7 of their Act of Incorporation, as printed on page 77 of the Constitution and Canons of the Diocese. We would also call the attention of the Convention to the fact that in Schedule A of their report the Swift Fund which in January 1, 1921, amounted to $900.00 is charged off. We think the Trustees should make the Convention some explanation of this.

(5) The Report of the Episcopate Fund is in complete form, and has been duly audited by a public accountant.

In closing we would suggest that as this Finance Committee is appointed at the close of the Convention the reports submitted to it should be in the hands of the Committee in sufficient time to allow the Committee to carefully consider them.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

PHILIP W. MOSHER

BENJAMIN S. SANDERSON

The Rev. Mr. Brittain, for the Standing Committee on Non-reporting Parishes and Missions, stated that forty-seven parishes and missions failed to send in parochial reports last year.

NATHAN W. STANTON

JOHN M. PROPHET

EUGENE C. DENTON

The Rev. Dr. Smith, for the Standing Committee on the State of the Church, presented the following report which, on motion, was adopted with its recommendations:

REPORT

of the Committee on the State of the Church

To the 85th. Annual Convention of the Diocese of Western New York The Committee on the State of the Church offers the following Report.

The duty of this Committee appears to be clearly defined in the Rules of order directing its appointment;—"To whom shall be referred the Report of the Executive Council with a Report of its Treasurer, who shall formulate and submit to the Diocesan Convention such recommendations as shall be suggested by the Executive Council."

Your Committee craves your indulgence on the score of the shortness of time which it has had for the due consideration of such important matters as are thus committed to it, and its first criticism will be upon that point.

The Report of the Executive Council should be in the hands of the Committee in time for its members to deliberate thoughtfully upon it in order that such suggestions may be made as will be of real value to the Diocese.

Secondly, It would seem to the Committee that a Report of the State of the Church should not be confined exclusively to the Executive Council and its Treasurer. Previous to the introduction of the Nation Wide Campaign such a Committee would be expected to present for consideration all matters which would effect the general condition of the Church, but under the new regime, many matters of that kind appear to be excluded, and as the Committee has no precedent under the new system for its guidance, it will endeavor to keep close to the prescribed order.

It must be perfectly apparent to every observer that the Nation-Wide Campaign has imparted a wonderful impetus to the work of the Church. Never before have there been such activities as have been developed, not only on the spiritual side of religion, but also in all those departments which might be included under our Lord's second division of the Law;—"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Many members of the Church have only just begun to realize something of the duties and responsibilities which rest upon them as followers of Him who gave up everything for their redemption, and they are responding as never before to the calls for personal service in His cause and liberal gifts for its advancement. New zeal and enthusiasm have been awakened in the various Departments of Missions and Church Extension, of Religious Education, of Christian Social Service, and Finance, and this zeal must continue to increase with most gratifying results.

The Executive Council has held four meetings during the year, and their Report shows what an enormous amount of business has been transacted by them, and also demonstrates the importance and wisdom of having such a body to act for the Diocese during the interval between the sessions of the Convention.

In view of the importance of the Nation Wide Campaign, it seems to the Committee that the Resolution of the Executive Council recommending to the Diocesan Convention of 1922 that a definite place be given to the subject of the Nation-Wide Campaign on the program of the Convention, should meet with universal acceptance, and your Committee recommends the adoption of that Resolution.

The Department of Finance calls attention to the fact that it "is badly handicapped by the inflexibility of the N. W. C. three-year budget upon the figures of which, all appropriations must be based, and recommends the adoption of the following Resolution by the Annual Convention."

"Whereas a strict adherence to the N. W. C. Budget covering Diocesan activities for 1920, 1921, and 1922 fails to provide accommodations for necessary Diocesan expansion, thus preventing forward movements contemplated by our Bishops, therefore be it;—Resolved that the Executive Council, subject to the approval of its Department of Finance may readjust the appropriations of the Budget so as to provide proper care and expansion of needful diocesan projects."

This appears not only reasonable, but also necessary, if opportunities for advancement which may arise during the period are to be taken advantage of, and your Committee approves of such action.

With regard to the Report of the Treasurer, it may be well to explain for the benefit of those who might not otherwise understand it, that the "Miscellaneous Credits" mentioned are made up of the increase of the salaries of Rectors for which credit was given in the apportionment on the parishes, though no cash therefrom came into the Treasurer's hand, and the "Miscellaneous Charges," which balance the Credits, result from the same cause.

In the Apportionment Budget the Committee would call attention to an error of the printer (page 47) in mistaking the amount of the General Church Budget ($117,576.50) for that of the Total Budget which is $235,153.00. With this correction the Committee recommends the adoption of the Report by the Convention.

The Rev. Mr. Lewis, for the Standing Committee on Dispatch of Business, reported the Committee had endeavored to expedite the business of the Convention by various suggestions and plans looking to improved methods of procedure.

The Rev. Mr. Broughton, for the Standing Committee on Publicity, reported the Committee was procuring the publication of the proceedings of the Convention in the daily papers.

Mr. Harper Sibley reported on a Conference, recently held in the City of New York, on Men for the Ministry.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Lord it was—

RESOLVED, That a committee of three be appointed to bring before the Diocese the matter of the Conference for Boys, for considering the question of the Ministry, of which committee Mr. Harper Sibley shall be chairman.

The Chair appointed as

The Rev. C. J. Davis proposed the following resolutions which, on motion, was adopted:

RESOLVED, That the Secretary of the Convention be instructed to have the Bishop's Address to this Convention printed and distributed to the Clergy, and that the Clergy be requested to read the Address to their congregations at a Sunday morning service before Easter.

The Bishop Suffragan proposed the following resolution which, on motion, was adopted:

In regard to that part of the Bishop's Address which referred to St. Stephen's College, recognizing its value to the Church for its consistent contribution to the Sacred Ministry; and also recognizing the claims which St. Stephen's College has, in common with Hobart, Kenyon, Trinity and the University of the South upon the interest and support of the Church, we, therefore, the Diocesan Convention of Western New York, desire to express our interest in, and sympathy with the efforts of the Trustees of St. Stephen's College to raise an Endowment fund to increase its efficiency and enlarge its work.

The Rev. Dr. Tyler, by request of the Department of Christian Social Service of the General Church, addressed the Convention in regard to the program of the Department. On motion, the Convention resolved to send a representative to the National Conference of Social Workers of the Episcopal Church, to be held in Providence, R. I., June 19, 1922.

The Rev. Mr. Tibbits presented the following, which, on motion, was adopted:

In view of the acute distress, especially in the industrial centers, from unemployment, be it—

RESOLVED, That this Convention put on record its grave concern at the situation in which some thirty-five thousand men in Buffalo alone are out of employment, and express its deep sympathy with those who are suffering because of the lack of work; and that we, members of the Convention pledge ourselves individually and as leaders in our respective parishes to do whatever may be in our power to help in improving the condition and aiding those in distress, and be it further

RESOLVED, That it is the mind of this Convention that public works necessary in the future should be begun, so far as possible, at once; and be it further

RESOLVED, That it is the sense of this Convention that, in addition to the efforts that are being made, or may be made, on broader lines by city governments or business firms and organizations, substantial help may be rendered by persuading our own people and their friends to find in their homes and places of business casual jobs for men out of permanent work, and in this way to assist materially many families in their present need.

The Rev. Mr. Hatch addressed the Convention in behalf of the Ex-Service man, and offered the following resolution which, on motion, was adopted:

Whereas, Since the war the nation has been thrown into wide-spread unemployment, this condition however improving steadily; and

Whereas, This condition has been especially hard upon the ex-service man, not only economically but through its pernicious effect endangering his independence of spirit and allegiance to spiritual ideals; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That we, the Bishops and Delegates of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Western New York, in Convention assembled, acknowledging our debt of gratitude and unending responsibility to the ex-service man, do again pledge ourselves, as earnestly as if our country were now plunged into war to take renewed steps as Clergymen and Laymen to seek him out, to make known to him that we desire to be his friend and help him in any way which opportunity may present; and be it further

RESOLVED, That to this end we urge all Clergymen to extend invitations to patriotic veteran organizations such as the American Legion and similar organizations to special services, and that we earnestly recommend that Laymen do honor to the bodies of ex-service men whenever burial services are held by suspension of business whenever practicable and by allowing employees who are veterans to attend services.

On motion it was

RESOLVED, That the resolutions relating to the ex-service men and to non-employment, and all other resolutions of public interest, be printed in Our Diocesan Fellowship and sent to each parish in the Diocese; and that such other action be taken by the Department of Publicity as to present these resolutions promptly to the Diocese.

The Chair appointed as such committee the Rev's W. C. Compton, C. A. Jessup, D.D. and Judge Westbury.

The Committee appointed to consider the best method under which the voting which annually takes place in the Diocesan Convention may be most expeditiously done reports that they recommend the use of a voting machine for balloting in Convention. If this suggestion is in general approved, this Committee asks to be continued to investigate as to cost of renting or purchasing such a machine, and if found expedient to have same ready for use at the next Convention. We, therefore, submit the following resolution:

RESOLVED, That the Convention approves the suggestion of using a voting machine for balloting in the Diocesan Convention provided such machine can be rented or purchased at reasonable cost; and that the Committee be continued with power,—to report to the Executive Council for final decision.

Nichols, Chairman of the Commission appointed by the General Convention of 1919 to consider the whole matter of women's work in the Church and the advisability of establishing a National House of Church Women, and to report to the next General Convention, would make the following recommendations as to the three propositions submitted in the communication.

First. The Committee recommends that the Convention of the Diocese of Western New York, does not approve of admitting women to the Councils of the Church to which laymen are admitted on equal terms.

Second. The Committee recommends that in place of proposition Number Two the Convention of Western New York favors a National House of Church Women to act in an advisory capacity with the existing houses of the General Convention.

Third. The Committee feels that it has disposed of the Third Proposition by its recommendation on the two previous questions.

APPENDIX I.

(A)

Bishop's Annual Address

My Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

I think that you will agree that the characteristic feature of our times, certainly as touching Americans, is their absorbing and unique interest. Never has it been easier to sink and lose ourselves in great affairs than now. A petty life is possible only to those who cultivate and rejoice in a petty mind. Perplexities of every sort are thick; suffering is more busy than ever clothing its victims with a shirt of fire; misunderstanding, vindictiveness and greed are still angrily insulting the angel of peace. But let our problems try as they may to stare us out of countenance, let the forces of evil bluster and bully ever so furiously, we have less reason than any people of the world at any time to be dismayed or beaten. If our lot has been cast in hostile conditions, it remains the fairest lot of any great nation. If we are hard pressed, the sources of vitality, moral and physical, are more widely open to us than to others. We have every right to act under the assurance that our task is not beyond our strength, and to don the will to win.

I do not think we are doing this to any large extent or in a persevering way. Querulousness, discontent, spiteful criticism and pettiness stalk the streets, and make difficulty doubly difficult. No public man escapes the mud of scurrility, and no one who ventures to blaze a new trail for our troubled world escapes suspicion. Such books as the "Mirrors of Downing Street", which is clever and mean, and its knock-kneed imitation, the "Mirrors of Washington", which is only mean, are classic examples of the ungrateful spirit of the day. Our great need today is renewed confidence in one another. It would be widely helpful if we could agree that we would tie the tongue of criticism which talks away the shadow without presenting in its place the substance. Mutual confidence can be restored only by planned effort and far-reaching self-restraint.

World Peace. It is encouraging that from all sides, federations of churches, peace and disarmament organizations, and friendly societies of every sort, come appeals to further world peace. I am convinced that agitation in America has passed its zenith. Every one except such as are fools or else invincibly ignorant agree in the desire for peace. A way to put our peace desire and purpose into effect is the thing needed now.

The Conference for the Limitation of Armaments has only driven in the thin edge of the wedge of peace. It is but the beginning of a process and the delineation of a method. By itself it can accomplish little. Its value consists largely on the fact that it is severely limited in scope. It is a starting point, not a conclusion. This required a rigidly restricted programme, whereas the Paris Peace Conference aimed to erect a completed structure at a single stroke.

The foregoing remark is not intended as a covert blow at the Peace Conference. The vision of which the League of Nations was the product represents the largest goal toward which the human race can set its hope, whether its ultimate form will be, as Tennyson thought, a world state, or some other effective mode of insuring the brotherhood of man. History will record this effort that failed as being one of its top-most peaks of idealism. Its failure did not mean that the goal was faulty but that it could not be reached at a single bound. The vision remains immaculate and will be the inspiring force of all subsequent endeavors. Now we are tempering zeal with discretion and moving with slower and steadier stride.

We have begun by confining our attention to a few specific problems. As a policy this is sound. We have committed ourselves to progressive action through the method of conference. The next step is the formal ratification of that which has been agreed upon. The whole American people should impress upon their representatives in Congress that this is their will. That being done we must proceed without haste and without rest to the next duty.

We have had a conference of selected nations on a given problem. It has begun a forward march of which the next step is a conference of all the nations, from which none will be excluded who are prepared for honest fellowship. Our economic confusion has been presented as the next important topic for consideration. Fellowship, economic, political and social, with those who have been our enemies must begin some time. If we postpone it until an ideal moment dawns, or until all concerned are behaving ideally, we shall not only waste time and vitality, but run risks which are terrifying to contemplate. Nothing breeds or magnifies misunderstanding and enmity like aloofness. Nothing destroys hostility and suspicion like fellowship. We have been gathering the nations in conference on our own terms. Now let us be at least considerate with invitations presented to us on terms submitted by others.

A continuous succession of conferences on definite and acute problems is our duty. I believe we are so committed to this programme that we cannot slacken our efforts, much less turn in our tracks. As I view it, we are hereafter going to make use of conference as the supreme method of solving difficulties. This means that whenever war clouds hang on the horizon, we will resort to conference. Patient conference, that set no time limit, saved England and Ireland, and it bids fair in the future to create amity out of enmity. So in years to come conference can make wars to cease, for conference is fellowship and deliberation and must destroy war which is the deadly foe of both fellowship and deliberation.

Parallel to the progress of international understanding and amity, runs the development of peace among the churches. We, too, have had our large projects for unity based on what is generally accepted as God's purpose—as well as on common sense. It may be that some of us have hoped against reason to bring in Christian unity swiftly and at a blow. Conferences on Faith and Order, and on Life and Work are the counterpart in the spiritual sphere of those just referred to in the realm of politics and international affairs. There are those who are skeptical and weary because results capable of tabulation have not been reached. Effective idealism is patient. We have no ground whatever for expecting speedy returns. It is enough to know that we are wedded to a right principle and are employing a sound method. After all who are we of this generation but ploughmen and sowers of seed? We ought to count ourselves favored in being called to so great a service. There are no short cuts between ploughing and reaping. Conference must succeed conference. We must be content to tackle small things first and win our right, which as yet we have not done, to tackle great things. As I have repeatedly pointed out, the churches must reach some agreement on common morals and fundamental principles, where at present there is chaos, before we can successfully consider the refinements of Christian life and thought.

Two benefits stand out clearly as a valuable heritage rescued from the wreckage of war—world consciousness for the average man, and personal contact or fellowship as a means of creating a world conscience. The plain folk are thinking more and more in world terms. Never again should we lapse into the provincialism of mere self-determinism, that is fatal to human solidarity. For the moment it may be newborn states which have reacted against cruel imperialism fail to see that their hope is not in isolation but in comradeship. Even they will quickly learn that self-determinism cannot be pressed too far without becoming more of a menace than the imperialism which they have repudiated. Imperialism at its worst is but distorted fellowship, whereas self-determinism at its worst is the loneliness of selfishness and death.

I repeat that men everywhere, often without being altogether aware of it, are contracting the habit of thinking in world terms. The public press, which is a pretty good weather vane, illustrates it. We must foster and train our world consciousness until it bears fruit in mutual understanding and friendliness from East to West and from Pole to Pole. St. Paul was the first fiery leader of world oneness. For long centuries the missionary minded were the only disinterested disciples of the apostle of catholicity. After the first flush of enthusiasm, missionary idealism was long represented by the faithful few. Today the unanswerable logic of historic fact is driving men to accept the potential unity of mankind in every department and expression of life as the only working basis for the future. The missionary principle has been justified by experience. In the political sphere this demands the recognition of Germany and Russia not less than Great Britain and France. The isolation of powerful peoples is the surest way of aiding them to a degree of economic independence and thrift which some day will come back as a club to threaten mankind. We who are plain, unofficial citizens have a clear duty. We must fearlessly exert our influence against national selfishness and timidity. The missionary principle is more solid than the earth we tread. We must redouble our efforts to support it in every sphere wherever opening is given, beginning with Christian missions which are steadily and quietly making for brotherhood and understanding in China, Japan, India and Africa.

If I have dwelt long on this topic, it is not only because it is the subject of the day, but also because it is the business of the common people everywhere. There are technical questions, of course, which are not our business and which, in every respect except ethically, must be decided by those who have expert knowledge. But it is the responsibility of every thinking man to do his utmost to keep the indisputable principle of human unity and solidarity free from the disabling selfishness of distorted patriotism, economic greed, and spiritless timidity. America has been called to such a leadership as no nation has hitherto even dreamed of. But she is still a long way from recognizing the magnificence of its proportions. The key to world peace and prosperity is in her hand. May she not fail to turn it in the lock !

Should I seem to lay myself open to the charge that I am overvaluing the importance of the great and imposing side of life in its thought and organization, I would reply that anything which is equally applicable to the life of nations and the life of the individual is never out of place and can never be too highly esteemed. Senator Root and St. Paul both agree in saying that our chief need is character formed by the exercise of "mercy, compassion, kindly consideration, brotherly affection, sympathy with fellow men, unselfish willingness to sacrifice for others". If we cultivate these virtues for our own community we are helping the world, and if we cultivate them for the world we are helping our own community.

Professor James declared: "I am against bigness and greatness in all their forms, and with the invisible molecular moral forces that work from individual to individual, stealing in through the crannies of the world like so many soft rootlets, or like the capillary oozing of water, and yet rending the hardest monuments of man's pride, if you give them time. The bigger the unit you deal with, the hollower, the more brutal, the more mendacious is the life displayed. So I am against all big organizations as such, national ones, first and foremost; against all big successes and big results; and in favor of the eternal forces of truth which always work in the individual and immediately unsuccessful way, underdogs always, till history comes, after they are long dead and puts them on top". This is a truth no thinker could afford to dispute. But bigness and greatness come in the end, do they not? It is all a matter of allying ourselves to universal principle which Christ in His person and teaching abundantly supplies.

Rural Work

It is just here that we have our inspiration for our local work in diocese and parish. Pastoral care which feeds the lamb as solicitously as it tends the flock puts the pastor at the centre of all influence. There is no substitute for it. Where it prevails, there is harmony and spiritual growth.

This is peculiarly true of country conditions. Allowing for all the influence which rightly inheres in city parishes, it does not exceed that of rural parishes. Half our nation, the most important and robust half, live in the country. It may be that we have not yet wholly solved the problem of church work in the city, but it is certain that we are farther still from a solution of the problem of church work in the country.

Four reasons are clear and need little argument. First, no systematic and sustained effort has been made to provide pastoral care for the isolated. Those who live in communities, however small, have at least some attention, but the many farmers through this diocese have little personal touch with religion except what they create for themselves. They may seek the Church but the Church seldom seeks them.

Secondly, it is too often assumed in villages and towns that the Church does not need those facilities and adjuncts which are counted a necessity in city parishes. So far from true is this assumption, that it is more rather than less necessary to have a parish house of the first order in the village or in conditions where there is a dearth of amusement and little opportunity for community or church fellowship. The city parish has its nurse or teacher or corps of professionally trained workers. Such assistants are more needed in country than city.

Thirdly, often because the country salary does not constitute a living wage for the rector, he is uneasy and worried for his family in a way that does not conduce to effective service. We are gradually remedying this defect, though much remains to be done. Every rector of a rural parish should be provided with an automobile with which to reach the isolated in his district. Though many town and village budgets are fairly good, considering the church competition that enfeebles Christianity, there are those parishes in the Diocese where it would be possible to do much more than is being done at present.

Fourthly, we have encouraged, quite wrongly, our clergy to think that the city is more important than the country, so that the country parish is viewed as a stepping stone to something bigger. This is due to that erroneous conception of bigness which Professor James is against. It has resulted in a restlessness, most damaging to clergy and people. Ambition for promotion gets astride the rector's mind and from the outset mars his usefulness. A perusal of Stowe's Clerical Directory reveals our country clergy as a whole to be unsettled and wandering. My own belief is that no man, except perhaps in exceptional circumstances, ought to undertake a parochial responsibility without thinking of it as a life work, until or unless it is revealed to be otherwise. Nor do I consider a period of less than five years normally to constitute a respectable pastorate.

I pledge myself to the clergy and people of the Diocese to a renewed effort to meet the needs of the situation in the country. This it is not hard to do for it is there that my chief interest lies. It was the latent possibilities in the rural parts of the Diocese which made the strongest appeal to me to cast in my lot here. The rural problem is in one sense a problem apart, in another it is of great concern to the cities and larger centres of population. The cities are constantly being fed by persons trained in the country. There is no reciprocal return from the cities. For this reason the cities with their larger wealth might well consider giving special aid to provide facilities for the country where the need is most acute.

Children's Year

We are calling this year, "Children's Year". My brother, Bishop Ferris, and I, are making our visitations with special reference to the children. There has grown up in our Communion, without our conscious recognition, the Cult of the Adult. It has crippled us already and unless it is abandoned it will kill us. Disproportionate attention has been given to grown-ups and the children have been granted a meagre second place. Few little ones ever even get the idea into their heads that the great services of the Church belong to them as much as to their seniors. The hasty Church School hour with its brief and often slovenly service is the crumb of religion which is all too often their portion. They should be taught that there is no separation in the mystical Body of Christ between young and old, and that however desirable it may be to have special services for the young, these are in no wise substitutes for the Liturgy of the Church but a preparation for their intelligent appreciation of it.

Sunday by Sunday as I go from parish to parish it is seldom that I can recognize a family pew, seldom that I see a little head nestling to its mother's side. If we complain that our young folk find the golf course or the automobile more congenial on a summer morning than the Church, it is in some measure due to the fact that the duty of worship has not been emphasized for the child and the meaning of its beauty and power has never been taught.

I frankly admit that the Service of Morning Prayer is a tax upon the attention and intellectual resources which even few modern adults can stand. It can be more easily a soporific than a stimulant. Of course it ought to be a useful training school for the attention, as well as a powerful aid in the development of the mystical sense. But is it so?

Doubtless there is a certain subconscious education going on by means of an honest attendance upon Morning Prayer, but also more frequently an education in habitual inattention and intellectual slovenliness. The iteration of the familiar prayers without progressive educational aid in the principles of worship has its perils. Spots in the Psalter may strike home. But when it comes to the Lessons as they are ordinarily read, they are as apt to create superstitions and misapprehensions as to impart wisdom and understanding. Would it not be possible to put new life into this service by noting before reading the Psalter what the particular Psalm means, historically and applied to our own case? A word of similar explanation before at least the Old Testament Lesson would enlist attention throughout its reading. When and why this or that hymn was written would lend new zest to the singing.

But at best the service of Morning Prayer as steady diet is heavy food for most people. For the average child it is indigestible. This is not true of the Eucharist. Its dramatic beauty, its simplicity, its progressive movement can easily be made intelligible to the child's mind and imagination. Anyhow children ought to know from the first that the Eucharist is as much their service as their parents'. I recall how dissatisfied and mystified I was as a child when I was dismissed after the "ante-Communion Service".

Then as for the sermon. Recent experience leads me to conclude that we preachers are not simple enough even for adults, let alone children. We float into high philosophies which, however clear they may be to our minds, do not strike home in the lives of our hearers. We enter into fine disputations on sacraments, church government and side issues of religion, when the majority of the congregation are struggling to reach some clear belief in a personal God, or an understanding of the Incarnation which will help them to combat temptation, or a knowledge of penitence that will rid them of the unbearable, sickening weight of their sins. A short time ago I preached to an adult congregation in the morning and to a splendid gathering of children in the afternoon. At the latter service I tried to adapt my thought to the child's mind. At the close of this service, an adult of culture and a devoted communicant said to me: "I enjoyed your sermon this afternoon very much. I got a great deal of help from it." Then after a pause, hastily, "Of course I enjoyed this morning's sermon too. I enjoyed both of them !" Verbum sap !

Last winter I preached on unity in a Presbyterian Church in New York. The service was semi-liturgical and beautifully rendered with an eye to voice, diction and manner. All the older children of the Church School were there, according to custom. Early in the service I was asked to give a sermonette to the children, which I was rejoiced to do. A short time ago one of the congregation met me and referred to my sermon to the children that day. My ambitious utterance on unity was not mentioned ! That Presbyterian Church has the Christian idea that the children are a necessary part of the solemn assembly and they put it into practice.

To dwell a moment longer on preaching. The mode is too formal. Why not sometimes be catechetical ? Why not get some expression of interest from the pews ? The open forum suggests many useful avenues of creating a living interest without abandoning the safeguards of reverence and decorum.

Even supposing the Cult of the Adult were in itself good, we have developed it badly. Let us unite in crushing it. Let us secure the co-operation of parents to restore in public worship the family group. Let the clergy work hard to make the service intelligible to the people, wings wherewith to carry worship upward to God, inspiration by which to become better followers of Christ. We cannot go on acceptably, assuming that we can go on at all, without the children, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.

Religious Education

In turning to religious education I do not consider the subject solely in connection with the children. Education is a life process which only begins in childhood. Religious education especially depends largely for its results on study continued during adult life. Indeed without living interest and growing knowledge on the part of parents, the children of the family have a poor chance of learning enough religion to carry them far. Our Department of Religious Education has this in mind and is making an endeavor to reach the adults as well as the children through what is known as the Co-ordinated Programme.

Sir Michael Sadler in an important essay on Education says: "In one of his less known and fiercer writings, John Henry Newman fell upon Sir Robert Peel for having stumbled into a false philosophy of education when he made a speech at the opening of a reading room in Tamworth. Sir Robert seems to have said that 'in becoming wiser a man will become better and that a widely diffused interest in knowledge, especially in physical knowledge, will contribute 'to the intellectual and moral improvement of the community'. Newman sharply retorts that 'to know is one thing: to do is another: the two things are altogether distinct. A man knows he should get up in the morning,—he lies abed: he knows he should not lose his temper, yet he cannot keep it. A laboring man knows that he should not go to the alehouse and his wife knows she should not filch when she goes out charring; but nevertheless, in these cases, the consciousness of a duty is not at one with the performance of it. Newman's charge against Peel, and against the facile optimism of the school of thought which Peel was echoing, is that modern education of the superficial type 'makes no pretense of subduing the giant nature in which we were born, of smiting the loins of the domestic enemies of our peace, of overthrowing passion and fortifying reason. . . . Intrinsically excellent and noble as are scientific pursuits and worthy of a place in a liberal education, and fruitful in temporal benefits to the community, still they are not and cannot be, the instruments of an ethical training. The apprehension of the unseen is the only known principle of subduing moral evil, educating the multitude and organizing society. And whereas man is born for action, action flows not from inferences, but from impressions—not from reasonings but from Faith’ ”.

Toward this conclusion public opinion is steadily flowing in America. Especially in our Universities there is a stirring of conscience that is giving religious subjects a place in the curriculum. The public schools, too, are in many instances stretching out a friendly hand to the churches. We are surprised to find co-operation where we thought to meet with hostility or, worse still, indifference. Our chief difficulty is to do what is expected of the churches and furnish real religious education to the children who in increasing numbers are turned over to us during part of their school hours.

It has been objected by those who are quite in accord with the principle that the Sunday Schools have been so notoriously slipshod and inefficient that the churches must improve their methods and qualify themselves to undertake the care of religious instruction before the public schools would be justified in surrendering the children during school hours. This blanket criticism is only partly justified. But I do agree that in making overtures to school boards we must be prepared to give instruction equal, or even superior, to that of the schools themselves. This ought not to be difficult.

We must not rest content with the very slender relationship now possible between the churches and public schools. Having had nothing, a little seems much. But we are a long way indeed from religious education when we have the children an hour a week on a week day. If we rest in this and do not work out closer and larger contacts with children under a steadily improving staff of teachers, we run the danger of supposing that the problem is solved, or else of losing the foothold we have gained. Already some of the instruction given shows incompetence and ignorance of the responsibility on our hands. Ability to repeat the books of the Bible in order, or kindred feats, are about as useful to religion as the multiplication table or “Hey Diddle Diddle”. If we are to have our children only for a short time then let us all the more earnestly fix in their minds the character of God, His work of redemption, His triumphs in human life, and such like.

This year our attention is centred in this Diocese on Hobart College. Its Centennial is being celebrated not merely by raising the Fund to which many of you have contributed but also by an honest endeavor to make the College more sincerely religious than in the past, however, religious it may have been. Hobart represents more than an individual effort. It is one of a group to which Trinity, the University of the South, Kenyon, and St. Stephen’s all belong with no real dis-tion in character or aim. The Church should stand solidly behind these Colleges, which are not rivals but friends whose strength will best be developed not by indicating differences but by glorying in kinship. Trinity is concurrently with Hobart holding its Centennial by making its purpose and needs widely known. St. Stephen's is beginning a similar campaign. Both Colleges have a claim on the people of this Diocese because of their character and traditions. I commend them both to the generosity of our people.

Various Matters

"Our Diocesan Fellowship" is such an excellent medium for keeping our clergy and laity informed on Church progress, and the Reports of Officers and Committees of the Diocese are so admirable and full, that I am released from the necessity of dwelling on details in my address. There are a few matters, however, on which I would touch for a moment.

The first is personal. The close of another year finds me more tightly than ever bound to you, my brethren of the clergy and laity. Your loyalty and considerateness have been unfaltering. It is a source of strength always making itself felt to have my brother, Bishop Ferris, as my companion in the Episcopate. His brief term of service has been sufficient to win the esteem of the whole Diocese.

To pass on to another and very different subject. With this year we conclude the period set by last General Convention for the first phase of the movement badly labelled as the Nation-Wide Campaign. In the report of the Executive Council there is an appreciation and a kindly criticism to which we have already given attention. Spiritually, educationally, financially, the Campaign has been fruitful. Experience has taught us much so that we may hope for still greater advance through the next triennium.

There is justifiable fear of increased organization. From all sides has come protest against new machinery. I agree that we are now carrying all the organization we are able. What is chiefly needed is quiet opportunity to use it to advantage. Organization should be a medium of the moral and spiritual self-expression of the body and an aid to Christian fellowship and service. I say this prefatory to commending to you a bulletin which will shortly be ready for distribution, entitled "Comrades in Service", a name which originated among soldiers in the A. E. F. and seems to fit our case. It aims to represent our Diocesan endeavors to work out in a way suited to our case the Church Service League. It is a restatement of principles already accepted everywhere and suggests how to use them advantageously. It is the fruit of much thought and labor, and deserves our thorough study.

Old ties are always hard to break. Miss Julia G. Emery slipped out of life as modestly as she lived. Of her it may be truly said "in the midst of death we are in life". She has been through her whole career in company with her two sisters one of whom survives her, in constant touch with God. It was a chronic habit with her to be busy about the things pertaining to his Kingdom. It is impossible to grieve over her going. The evening had come and she had peace at the last and safe lodging with God.

In our own Diocese a familiar and much loved figure, Mrs. P. N. Nicholas, after long years of devoted service, has withdrawn from official leadership in the Woman's Auxiliary. Mrs. Robert Matthews, with a similar faithful record in the G. F. S. has also given way to a successor. But both Mrs. Nicholas and Mrs. Matthews as Honorary Presidents will continue to give us aid as "elder statesmen".

Death has taken from our ranks three of our clergy. The Rev. George Gray Ballard was one of my early friends in Buffalo when I was here in the 'eighties. For a long time he has been living quietly with his daughter. Death took him after much suffering when he was hard on the confines of fourscore. The Rev. Robert Edmund Pendleton had been with us as Rector of Christ Church, Cuba, but a short time when without warning his call to rest came. The Rev. Addison Monroe Sherman, formerly Rector of St. James' Church, Batavia, in this Diocese for some years has been working elsewhere. He retained his canonical connection with us until his death.

My official acts for the year ending December 31st, 1921, are epitomized as follows: Confirmations, 984; Postulants received, 10; Candidates admitted for Holy Orders, 7; Changes by Letters Dimissory—11 received, 6 transferred; Consecrations to the Episcopate participated in, 2; Ordinations to the Diaconate, 2; Ordination to the Priesthood, 1; Suspension from the Ministry, 2; Institution as Rector of a Parish, 1; Baptisms, 13; Weddings, 2; Funerals, 4.

The official acts for the year ending December 31st, 1921, of the Rt. Rev. D. L. Ferris, Bishop Suffragan of the Diocese are as follows: Confirmations, 818 in the Diocese, 243 outside the Diocese (total 1061); Consecrations to the Episcopate participated in, 2; Ordination to the Diaconate, 1; Baptisms, 15; Weddings, 4; Funerals, 12; Consecration of Church, 1.

Auditor's Report

Buffalo, New York.
January 26th, 1922.

Geo. D. Wheadon, Esqr.,
Chairman Committee on Audit of Accounts,
Geneva, New York.

My Dear Sir:—

I beg to advise that the Receipts and Disbursements have been audited for twelve months ending December 31st, 1921, and cash in bank account, Diocese of Western New York on December 31st, 1921 in amount $23,686.23 as shown by the books is correct. The same having been reconciled with the Statement of the Manufacturers and Traders National Bank of Buffalo dated January 3rd, 1922, also covered by letter from said bank verifying amount on hand.

All the disbursements are covered by vouchers attested to their correctness by the Financial Secretary, and approved for payment.

Respectfully yours,

EDWARD J. GALLIEN, Jr.

EJGJR-GG.

Buffalo, N. Y.
January 26th, 1922.

Geo. D. Whedon, Esqr.,
Chairman Committee on Audit of Accounts,
Diocese Western New York,
Geneva, New York.

My Dear Sir:

In connection with the Cash Audit for the twelve months ending December 31st, 1921, beg to suggest the following:

VOUCHERS

Would suggest that all vouchers be covered by invoices, and in detail. Clearance vouchers in which parishes are credited for moneys sent direct should have letter attached stating the same has been received.

CASH DISCOUNTS

Would suggest the taking advantage of every possible discount.

BANK STATEMENT

Would suggest the importance of having the Bank Statement rendered and reconciled monthly rather than about every six months.

DEPOSITS

In the Cash Book there is provided a Bank Column, and would suggest the amount entered therein be the amount of the deposit credited by the Bank as a deposit on the Pass Book.

Would suggest deposits be made out in duplicate, the duplicate copy being kept on file in the office.

Would suggest as far as practicable that deposits be made daily—the longer you have the money in the bank, the more interest you will receive.

Respectfully yours,

EDWARD J. GALLIEN, Jr.

EJGJR-GG.

(C) The Church Pension Fund

To the Rt. Reverend, the Bishops, and the Annual Convention of the Diocese of Western New York:

The Diocesan Committee on the Church Pension Fund, in this its sixth annual report, respectfully calls the attention of the Diocese to the increasingly strong position of favor and finance to which the Fund is attaining, and to the remarkable record it is making. Its position and progress are impressive by reason of three or four outstanding facts indicated in information recently received from the headquarters office: First, that the annual grants of the Church Pension Fund alone, accumulated only since March 1, 1917, already exceed by some hundreds of dollars the total grants of the Episcopal Church accumulated over a period of fifty years, as reported to the General Convention of 1913; second, that in spite of the generally unfavorable financial conditions in the country the receipt of pension assessments from all the dioceses this year has been in excess of those of last year, having already reached the sum of $845,000 which would seem a very unusual record; third, that the Trustees of the Fund have been able to enact legislation in favor of the widows of Clergymen dying in active service—legislation that was possible only because the payments of initial subscriptions have been most satisfactory and because several friends of the Church have generously remembered the Fund by the gift of legacies; fourth, that the almost universal adhesion of the various organizations in the Church to the Fund has solidified the entire structure and placed it in an advantageous position and on a firm business basis.

The legislation in behalf of widows of Clergymen dying in active service, to which reference is made above, and of which we have a copy in an extract taken from the Minutes of the Meeting of December 20, 1921, of the Trustees of the Church Pension Fund, is as follows:

WHEREAS, the officers of the Fund have reported that the five year subscriptions to the capital of the Fund have now been substantially collected, and

WHEREAS, the officers have also reported that the actuarial experience of the Fund during the five years of its existence corresponds closely to the original calculations, and

WHEREAS, the dioceses and parishes, almost without exception, are paying the pension assessments directed by the Canons and thereby maintaining the actuarial integrity of the group pension system, and

WHEREAS, the Trustees have shown, on frequent occasions, that they will inflexibly maintain the Rules of the Fund and the sound principles upon which all pension systems are based,

RESOLVED, That it is now possible for the Trustees to consider, without sacrificing in any degree their ability to maintain all of the promises set forth in the Rules, extensions of the benefits of the pension system, and

WHEREAS, any increase of the amounts of the annuities does not at present appear feasible, because of two facts, namely, first, that annuities are of a cumulative nature and therefore a substantial addition to them would require resources beyond those at the disposal of the Trustees, and second, because the money available at present for extensions of the pension system consists of the Actuarial Surplus which by its nature must be held subject to be dispersed for unforeseen contingencies, and annuities once granted can never be reduced without great hardship and disturbance, therefore

RESOLVED, That there be appropriated such a sum as may be necessary to provide one immediate payment of one thousand dollars to the widow of any clergyman dying between the adoption of these resolutions and December 31, 1922, inclusive, who was in the active discharge of the duties of any cure or office in the Church at the time of his death, and on whose behalf all of the pension assessments provided by the Canons have been paid; said payment of one thousand dollars to be in addition to the annuities provided by the Rules and to be appropriated from the sources of revenue outside of the Initial Reserve outside of the capital of the Actuarial Surplus, and outside of the Pension Assessments, bequests and donations being also utilized therefore and further

RESOLVED, That at the Annual Meeting of the Trustees in December, 1922, and at each Annual Meeting thereafter, the officers shall present data showing if the aforesaid appropriation can safely be continued for the ensuing year, and further

RESOLVED, That, in order to prevent any discrimination, at the same time that these resolutions go into operation, the annuity of any widow which has been granted between March 1, 1917, and the date of the adoption of these resolutions and who, if these resolutions had been in operation, would have been entitled to the aforesaid grant of one thousand dollars upon the death of her husband, be increased by the sum of sixty dollars a year, or the income of six per cent. of the said one thousand dollars, said increase to continue in operation as long as these resolutions are effective, and further

RESOLVED, That, as the system of the Church Pension Fund is a group pension system, resting upon the actuarial basis of the adhesion of the entire group of organizations paying salaries to clergymen of the Episcopal Church, the foregoing appropriation of one thousand dollars to the widow of a clergyman dying in active service, or any other appropriations made in addition to the provisions of the Rules now existing, shall not, if they arise after January 1, 1923, be made in any diocese where the actuarial group basis as shown by the first annual valuation, is broken by the failure of the diocese, or any parish in union with the diocesan convention, to pay pension assessments as provided by the Canons for the preceding fiscal year, until, out of the sums of money from which said appropriations would be made, there has been transferred by the Treasurer of the Church Pension Fund the actuarial equivalent of the breach in the group pension system made by the failure to pay the pension assessments specified in the said diocese.

A. F. FREEMAN, Treasurer.

In submitting the above report the Committee asks special attention to the long list of parishes in the Diocese that were in arrears in their payments to the Fund December 31, 1921. It is longer than it should be. It is to be noted, however, that six of the parishes were in arrears for only one month, one for only two months, and three for only three months, and that but six were in arrears for more than six months and but one for more than a year. Doubtless several of these will have made their payments in full before ever this report reaches the Diocesan Convention. We feel confident it will be so. We are most desirous, nevertheless, that all shall have cleared themselves from the list of those in arrears, in the near future. We are jealous for the good name of this, one of the strongest of the dioceses of the American Church; and we are anxious that it, by a clear record, make possible all the benefits of the Fund to all our Clergy and their families. We do not wish our Diocese, for instance, to be excluded from the benefits of the special legislation for widows, as related above, because "the actuarial group basis as shown by the first annual valuation is broken by the failure of the Diocese, or any parish in union with the Diocesan Convention, to pay pension assessments as provided by the Canons for the preceding fiscal year."

Respectfully submitted,

EUGENE C. DENTON, Chairman.

G. SHERMAN BURROWS, Secretary.

Supplementary Report

Relative to the item of $900 charged off being principal of the Swift Fund, the Treasurer begs leave to report that such item was represented by a certificate of nine shares of stock of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company, the original gift of John Swift. Upon this stock an assessment was made some time ago and in as much as the Trustees of the Parochial Fund had no funds to pay such assessments, and further, as it was deemed inadvisable to pay such an assessment on account of the value of the stock, the certificate became of no value. It has been carried on the books as an asset for some period of time and in as much as it was of no value, it was decided to charge off the same.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE D. WHEDON.

(E) DeVeaux School

January 1, 1922.

Report of the Trustees of DeVeaux School,
Niagara Falls, New York

To the Bishop and to the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Western
New York:

The Trustees of DeVeaux School respectfully submit herewith their report for the year ending December 31, 1921, in compliance with the terms of the charter of the corporation.

During the year the Trustees held seven meetings, with the following record of attendance:

| | | |
|---|-----------|----------|
| Rt. Rev. Charles H. Brent, D.D., President..... | Present 2 | Absent 5 |
| Rev. Pierre Cushing, Vice President..... | Present 6 | Absent 1 |
| Mr. DeLancey Rankine, Treasurer..... | Present 3 | Absent 4 |
| Rev. Philip W. Mosher, Secretary..... | Present 7 | Absent 0 |
| Mr. John K. Walker..... | Present 7 | Absent 0 |
| Mr. William E. Morgan..... | Present 1 | Absent 6 |
| Rt. Rev. David L. Ferris..... | Present 2 | Absent 5 |
| Mr. William C. Wallace..... | Present 5 | Absent 2 |
| Mr. Russell J. H. Hutton..... | Present 5 | Absent 2 |

The main items of this report are two: 1, the school; 2, the books of account.

1. In the school boys only are taken.

During the year 1921 there were received on the foundation twenty boys. The average number maintained during the year was sixteen.
The greatest number in attendance at any one time was sixteen and the least number was sixteen. The age of the youngest boy on the foundation was 13 years; that of the oldest 19 years.

During the year the total number of pay pupils received was seventy-two, of whom seventeen were day pupils. The greatest number in attendance at any one time was fifty-five and the least number forty-eight.

The course of study is that published in the Register and is based on the Elementary and the Academic Syllabus of the New York State Education Department.

2. In the matter of accounts the annexed schedules show:

(a) The Balance sheet; (b) Interest Bearing Endowment with a list of loans paid and made during the year and the amount of special endowment funds with the investments of the same; (c) Income Cash Account, Receipts and Disbursements; (d) a list of bonds and mortgages of the General Fund; (e) Strickland Fund; (f) Guarantee Fund; (g)

Charles Kennedy Scholarship; (h) Lewis Fund; (i) list of real estate owned by the corporation; (j) statement of the Nation Wide Campaign Fund.

The income of the School for the year 1921 was $58,964.80.

DeVeaux School received on June 30th, 1921, from the Diocese of Western New York a check for $6,250.00, being one-fourth of the grant of $25,000 contained in the three year budget (1920-1923) of the Nation Wide Campaign in the Diocese of Western New York. Of this sum $5,152.21 has been expended for various important and much needed interior improvements which have greatly added to the comfort and convenience of the entire household. The balance on hand is to be expended in a similar manner. The Trustees wish to express their appreciation of what the Diocese has done in fostering the good work that has been carried on at DeVeaux for more than sixty years.

After the books were closed for the year 1921, Mr. Albert H. Lewis, one of the first DeVeaux boys and one of the first DeVeaux graduates, and a frequent benefactor of the School, sent in his check for $10,000.00. This donation, which is to be added to the Albert H. Lewis Fund, now amounting to more than $18,000.00, will appear in the report for the year 1922.

Respectfully submitted,

PHILIP WHEELER MOSHER,
Secretary.

N. B. Because of the early date of the Diocesan Convention this report is sent to the Bishop and to the Standing Committee of the Diocese before it has been audited. The Trustees will endeavor to have it audited before it is presented to the Convention, or at latest, before it is printed in the Diocesan Journal.

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLICITY

To the Executive Council of the Diocese of Western New York:
Gentlemen:

The Department of Publicity begs leave to submit as its annual report the nine numbers of OUR DIOCESAN FELLOWSHIP constituting Volume I, the preparation and publication of which have constituted the sole activity of this department since its creation.

In the preparation and publication of the same we have endeavored to obey the instructions given to us by the Executive Council at its meeting of November, 1920, when the preliminary report of this department (as to "ways and means for publicity") was presented and after full discussion approved. In form and content we have tried to carry out the expressed wishes of Bishop Brent that the diocesan magazine should be representative of the diocese whose name it bears. That the magazine has been of benefit to the diocese and proved itself a useful agent in the promotion of diocesan consciousness we have no manner of doubt. The response that has come from all parts of the diocese confirms us in this opinion. We call attention again as we did a year ago to certain features connected with its publication, which in our judgment render the magazine a valuable adjunct in our diocesan life. Among these we may mention

1. The monthly message of the Bishop and the Bishop Suffragan.

2. The publicity afforded the diocese concerning the activities of the various departments of the Executive Council.

3. The reports of the treasurer of the diocese, which for the first time in the history of Western New York are put in a form easily accessible.

4. The opportunity presented to the various institutions and agencies dependent upon the diocese for support to present their needs to the church clientage.

The department has pushed the circulation in every way possible and at the present time we have a subscription list of 3348 made up of 634 individual subscriptions and 2714 bulk subscriptions covering practically every parish and mission station in the diocese.

The receipts and disbursements are fully set forth in the following statement:

| *Total number of individual subscriptions, 1921, 634..... | $ 635.00 |
| Total number of bulk subscriptions, 1921, 2714..... | 1,357.00 |

Experience here and elsewhere has proved conclusively that a magazine of a character worthy of the diocese it represents can not be self-supporting.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF CHRISTIAN

To the Bishop and Executive Council of the Diocese of Western New York:

Education is still the most pressing need in connection with work in this pioneer field of Church activity, and most of the department's activities since the last meeting of the Council of the diocese have been along this line. The department was represented in all of the County Conferences held last fall, and in the Conference for the clergy of the Buffalo District which began the Fall Conference Campaign.

A beginning has been made in following up the interest created by the Conferences, and representatives have visited several parishes, upon their invitation, to advise in the matter of establishing Church Social Service work. This most important side of the work, however, still remains almost untouched, and the need here for a field secretary is very pressing. Without one who has more time than the average rector or busy layman to give to this work of spreading the knowledge and the principles and practice of Social Service work, not much can be done.

As an important factor in this work of education, a Social Service Lending Library has been established. It will be kept at the offices of the Church Extension Society of Rochester, and Miss Lambright, the Organizing Secretary of the Executive Council of the Diocese, will have charge of issuing the books. Any information in regard to the library will gladly be given by her.

A Standing Committee on Rural Work has been created, and one of the important questions before this Committee is that of the help which the churches can render to the recognized child placing agencies at work in the State. Through the Church many trustworthy families can undoubtedly be discovered who will be glad to receive a child.

Another matter which the Committee on Rural Life is furthering is the establishing of a live contact between the country parishes and the county representatives of the various Social Welfare agencies at work in the State. Such agencies, if known, can be of great assistance to parishes facing some social need and conscious of their inability to meet it—at least along the line of the greatest ease and efficiency.

A representative of the department was sent to the first National Conference of Social Workers of the Episcopal Church held last June in Milwaukee, and to the great National Conference of Social Work which immediately followed the Church Conference in the same city. The Department was also represented at the State Conference of Charities held last fall in Utica.

Before the meeting of the Diocesan Convention the department will have published a directory of the different public social welfare agencies in each county in the diocese. This directory should be of use to clergymen and interested laymen throughout the diocese, and the preparation of the directory involved not a little labor.

The department has also issued a program of Child Welfare work, and one dealing with the problem of Americanization, which programs are appended to this report. They can be obtained for the asking from the Secretary of this department, 237 North Street, Buffalo.

At the request of the Council of Advice of the National Social Service Department of the Church, a list is being prepared of those persons in every parish who are especially interested in Social Service work. The help of the clergy of the diocese will be required in order to secure this list.

The Department would express its appreciation of the help which the Organizing Secretary of the Executive Council, Miss Clarice Lambright, has in many ways given the department.

Respectfully submitted,
SAMUEL TYLER,
Chairman.

PROGRAM

FOR CHILD WELFARE WORK

I. Study.

- (A) Preliminary Survey of existing children's work and children's agencies in your community.
- (B) A consideration of the possibility of existing agencies enlarging their field so as to undertake the work of a "Children's Bureau." The purpose of such a "Children's Bureau" would be:
 - (1) To better correlate children's work in your community by serving as a connecting link between existing institutions and agencies and to direct individual cases into proper channels.
 - (2) To provide means for more intelligent case work in families where there is apparent neglect of children with a view to eliminating causes which make necessary court action or removal of children from the home.
 - (3) To provide more adequate supervision of families from which children have been removed with a view to the eventual possibility of returning these children to their homes.
 - (4) To provide clinics for the study of individual physical and mental defects with a view to advising the proper authorities as to the best possible disposition of such cases.
- (C) An intensive study of the causes of delinquency. (1) Heredity. (2) Environment. (3) The destitute and neglect child. (4) Moral, Mental, Physical defectives.
- (D) Child Health. What are you doing to bring health, strength, and joy to every child in your community?
 - (1) Diet for the school child.
 - (2) The lunch hour at school.
 - (3) Teaching health.
 - (4) A summer school of health and play.
- (E) A study of legislation for the protection of children born out of wedlock.
 - (1) Birth registration.
 - (2) Establishment of paternity.
 - (3) The father's responsibility for the support of the child.
 - (4) Inheritance rights.
 - (5) Care by the mother.
 - (6) Surrender of the child.
 - (7) State supervision.

At the conclusion of such preliminary study of your local needs and the establishment of a "Children's Bureau" you would then proceed to put your experience into

II. Practice.

- (A) Primary emphasis should be laid upon intensive family case work of the type calculated to remove the causes of delinquency.
 - (1) The essentials for Normal Life from infancy to old age.

- (2) Deviations from the Normal (physical, mental, social) with community facilities for meeting the problems involved.
- (3) Theory and technique of family case work in your community.
- (B) The establishment of clinics or other means of correcting defects of the nose, throat, eye, ear, mouth, etc., including the correction of orthopedic defects, discovery of latent or existing cardiac or pulmonary troubles and mental defects of all kinds.
- (C) Your community should have a "God's Providence House" in which children are received pending their (note the order)
 - (1) Return to their own home.
 - (2) Placed out in families.
 - (3) Admitted to an institution.

During their stay special attention should be given to the study of their family and social history, home environment, personal habits, physical and mental defects with a view to correction wherever possible.

Note 1. Child Welfare work in the rural communities of the Diocese must be largely fostered by the discovery and training of local leaders in the four great educational institutions, the Church (the necessity of the revitalized and modernized Church in any worthy scheme of rural welfare is perfectly apparent), the School, the Grange, and the Farm Bureau.

Note 2. The department is prepared to furnish material in detail for any part of the above Program.

AMERICANIZATION PROGRAM

Our Foreign-born Neighbors and their Children, the Church's Opportunity.

INTRODUCTION

Americanization can never be a cold, calm process of the brain. It must spring from hearts filled with love for men. There is no way by which we can make anyone feel that it is a blessed thing to be an American unless we ourselves interpret America by our kindness, our courage, our generosity, our fairness. America is a brotherhood. Men of many races have chosen to become members. We who are already initiated through the accident of birth or choice by immigration, are now to extend the hand of fellowship to the later comers. Upon the tact, skill and diligence with which we do our part will depend in no small measure the future of America. First of all, if we are to do our task properly we must possess the American Spirit ourselves.

- A. We should have some knowledge of those whom we are seeking to bring into our brotherhood. We should know the difficulties under which they are laboring in this new land. We must come to have a real respect for them as men, and for their possibilities as members of the American brotherhood. If we are to deal wisely we must get within the man and look out with his eyes not only upon this strange world in which he has just landed, but upon the land from whence he came. We must eliminate nicknames. We must stop judging whole groups by the acts of individuals.
- B. We must have tolerance.
We must give over all thoughts of trying to make our brother from other lands just the same sort of an American that we are ourselves. There is nothing dangerously un-American in spaghetti or even funerals with brass bands. The heart that could easily and quickly forget the land of its birth could never love with a deep devotion the land of its adoption. America is as broad as life itself. We ask your help in weaving into the warp and woof of the life of the community these who come to make it their home.
- I. The New Epoch.
- A. Passing away of autocracy.
1. In government.
 2. In business.
- B. Coming of Democracy—equality of rule in government and business.
- II. Different forms of Democracy.
- A. In government.
1. Constitutional monarchies—England, Italy.
 2. Bolshevism.
 3. Republic—U. S. of America, France, S. American Republics.
- B. In economics.
1. Capitalist—wage system.
 2. Socialism.
 3. I. W. W.
 4. Co-operation.
- III. Adaptability of American system to changing conditions.
1. Arising out of need for individual freedom.
 2. Designed to preserve individual freedom.
 3. a. Study briefly provisions of Constitution.
 - b. Changed conditions met from time to time by amendment and otherwise without destruction of Constitution.
 1. Slavery.
 2. Election of Senators.
 3. Government control of business, etc.
 4. Prohibition.
- IV. The Problem is worldwide.
- A. America's position of leadership.
1. Her wealth.
 2. Her ideals.
 3. Her disinterestedness in the war.
- B. America's success depends upon her progress which can be accomplished:
1. By studying and applying principles of Christianity to government and daily life.
 - a. Duty of Church and Churchmen.
 1. To live according to these principles.
 2. To vote according to these principles.
 3. To show brotherhood to immigrants and to see that immigrants have "square deal."

2. By helping to fit the foreign-born for citizenship.
 - a. Instruction in English.
 - b. Instruction in our institutions and history.

V. Nationalities or groups.

- A. Study of each group separately.
 1. History and customs.
 2. Conditions which they feel must be overcome by violence.
 - a. In their native country.
 - b. In the United States.
 3. How to meet these conditions and to convince those surrounded by them that they can be remedied by voters without violence.

PRACTICE

In working out any plan for Americanization one naturally turns to the local Board of Education as the logical agency for work among the foreign-born, because for years it has maintained night schools and is every day teaching hundreds of children of foreign-born parents. But it is not enough to have just teachers, directors, and paid workers. Every American, both native and foreign-born, must be given an opportunity to do his share. To accomplish this, it is necessary to go outside the Board of Education and form an "Americanization League" or Council in which all civic interests are brought together in a common endeavor.

I. Purpose of "Organization."

- a. To enable a Community to solve Americanization problems on a partnership basis with foreign groups by giving them direct participation and equal share in responsibility of Americanizing their own people.
- b. To serve as a clearing house for all interested in Americanization work.
- c. To co-operate with public agencies dealing with foreign-born.
- d. To provide a bureau of information.
 1. Laws and legal proceedings pertaining to naturalization, immigration, property rights and personal rights, and insurance.
 2. Express and postal regulations and methods of transmitting money.
 3. Agencies for employment, health, child welfare and charity.
 4. Educational requirements and opportunities.
 5. Recreational facilities.
- e. To provide a Legal Advisory Board.
- f. A Speakers' Bureau.

II. Form foreign groups into branches of "Organization."

- a. Value of Foreign Branches.
 1. To make foreign-born feel responsibility and share equally in Americanizing people of their own nationality.
 2. To teach them the principles of self-government.
 3. To help racial groups to co-operate with general "Organization" to form Home, Factory, Church, Club, and Citizenship Classes, and in arranging mixed social gatherings of native and foreign-born.

III. Educational Activities.

- a. Stimulating attendance at night schools.
- b. Establish factory schools.
- c. Home classes for women, first attention being given to wives of men who are to become naturalized, because the wife automatically becomes an American citizen with the right of suffrage.

IV. Social Activities.

- a. Purpose and importance.

1. Enable the best types of native and foreign-born to become acquainted with each other.
2. To overcome prejudice and misunderstanding.
- b. Social undertakings.
 1. An all-American dinner to which each foreign group will be invited to furnish its national dish as a separate course.
 2. Community singing.
 3. Homeland exhibits.
 4. Greatest possibilities being found in Dramatics.

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

The business affairs of the Diocese have received most careful attention throughout the year from the members of the Department of Finance. Every appropriation made by the Executive Council has been referred to the Department for final action. When funds were in hand appropriations have been approved, but at other times the Department has been forced to report adversely. Because of the splendid response of parishes to Nation-Wide Campaign pledges, especially during the month of December when $48,758.38 was remitted to the treasurer of the Diocese, the year has been brought to a most successful close with all bills paid and an unreserved cash balance in the bank of $518.98. It is true our cash receipts from parishes amounting to $208,972.17 carried us through our budget to the Emergency Fund item only, thus failing to meet appropriations for Emergency, DeVeaux School and Hobart College, but on the whole, considering the general business and financial depression of 1921, we have every reason to feel well pleased over the results.

The Department has in hand the matter of the incorporation of the Diocese, a thing most needful and arrangements are being made to that end.

The Department is badly handicapped by the inflexibility of the Nation-Wide Campaign three-year budget upon the figures of which all appropriations must be based and recommends the adoption of the following resolution by the Annual Council:

"Whereas a strict adherence to the Nation-Wide Campaign Budget covering diocesan activities for 1920, 1921 and 1922 fails to provide accommodations for necessary diocesan expansion, thus preventing forward movements contemplated by our Bishops, therefore be it Resolved that the Executive Council, subject to the approval of its Department of Finance, may readjust the appropriations of the Budget so as to provide proper care and expansion of needful diocesan projects."

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK B. BAIRD, Chairman,
SHEPARD KIMBERLY
WILLIAM A. MORGAN
JOHN M. PROPHET
ARTHUR F. FREEMAN, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE FINANCIAL SECRETARY

A detailed report of the business passing through the office of the Financial Secretary would be largely a repetition of the reports submitted by the Treasurer of the Diocese, the Department of Finance, the Treasurer of the Pension Fund and the Treasurer of the DeLancey Divinity School Income Fund. All accounts relating to the diocese, that is Nation-Wide Campaign so called, and the Pension Fund are kept by the Financial Secretary. The collection of funds and detail of disbursements, including those of the Department of Missions, together with the distribution of Diocesan and General Church literature, exclusive of "Our Diocesan Fellowship", with a mass of correlated correspondence are every-day duties.

The "Church at Work" and "Exchange of Methods" requires the supervision of the distribution of 18,000 copies of each edition. Forty-two thousand pieces of "Stewardship" literature alone were handled prior to the fall canvass.

The presence of the Financial Secretary is required at all meetings of the Executive Council, the Department of Missions, the Department of Religious Education, the Department of Finance, and at the sessions of many regular and special committees.

It has been the privilege and pleasure of your Secretary to visit many of the Parishes and Missions during the past year to give council regarding financial questions, especially pertaining to endowments and trust funds, parish accounting systems and the Nation-Wide Campaign, and he is on call at any time for advice on such matters either through correspondence or personal visitation.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR F. FREEMAN,

Financial Secretary.

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

To the Bishop and Executive Council:

The Department of Religious Education begs to submit a report of its activities for the last eight months of the year 1921.

The Department was recreated by the Executive Council with the following members:

Rev. C. A. Jessup, D. D., Rev. J. W. Denness Cooper, Rev. Alfred Brittain and Mr. Harper Sibley, and enlarged its membership by the addition of the following: Rev. G. S. Burrows, D. D., Rev. B. Talbot Rogers, D. D., Rev. Murray Bartlett, D. D., Rev. C. C. Bentley, Miss Lucy G. Arnold, Mrs. B. G. Talman, Mrs. Kingman N. Robins, Miss Margaret Bacon, and members ex-officio Bishop Brent, Bishop Ferris, Rev. W. A. R. Goodman, D. D., Rev. Samuel Tyler, D. D. and Mr. A. F. Freeman.

Dr. Jessup was elected chairman, Rev. J. W. Denness Cooper, secretary, Rev. Alfred Brittain treasurer and Mr. E. H. Boynton treasurer of the De Lancey Divinity School Income Fund.

In September Mr. Boynton having resigned as treasurer of the latter fund, Mr. A. F. Freeman was elected in his place.

Your Department as Trustees of the DeLancey Divinity School gratefully acknowledge the receipt of $1200.00 from the Executive Council for enlargement of the work of the school. In excess of the $5000 originally granted for improvements and repairs of the North Street Property, an additional $250. was appropriated. The number of lectures given to the students of the school have been doubled. As an honorarium to each lecturer $150. has been granted, in place of the former amount of $100. A special committee has been charged with the duty of securing to the school the funds invested for it by the Parochial Fund, in the North Street property, the Chancellor of the diocese having been asked for an opinion in the matter.

The subject of enlarging the sphere of the school's usefulness by making it a Provincial School, having been presented, the trustees have expressed themselves as being in sympathy with the project and Dr. Burrows was authorized to present the matter at the Provincial Synod.

The Rev. B. Talbot Rogers, D. D., having resigned the chair of Ecclesiastical History, the trustees nominated to the Bishop of the diocese the following Presbyters: Rev. C. D. Broughton, Rev. F. M. Marchant, Rev. W. R. Lord and Rev. Edmund Sills.

An honorarium of $50.00 was granted to Dr. Rogers for his work in the school, also $200 to the Book Fund of the School. The report of the Warden, giving the detail of his work and of school management, is appended to this report, also the reports of the treasurers.

The Department has sought to constitute its membership in such manner as will coordinate the Educational Activities of the whole diocese. Thus it has brought together those who are either directly connected with some form of Educational work within the diocese or have some special educational experience or qualification. It is also gradually building up standing committees headed by those within the department, but whose membership is largely constituted from persons active in the field. At present these committees are: Kindergarten, Teacher Training, Family Altar and Religion in the Home, Week Day Religious Instruction, Daily Vacation Bible Schools, Church School Service League, Schools and Colleges, Religious Training of Adults.

Between meetings, the Department functions through these committees and the Educational Secretary, Rev. J. W. Denness Cooper; and the School, is largely the report of the Educational Secretary's activities. He is a member of all committees and the executive officer of each.

The Kindergarten Committee has made a survey of kindergarten conditions in the Diocese, personal visits being made to the schools of Rochester and Buffalo. In the reports of this committee the following statement is made: "While the whole diocese has not been covered, enough has been done to show the condition of the Church Schools in regard to their kindergartens. These little children come to us on Sunday from the perfectly equipped kindergarten of their day school. The church can by improving its kindergartens make religion beautiful, and full of joy for them on the threshold of their religious education."

The department urges superintendents to get in touch with the Educational Secretary, or head of this committee, in order to remedy conditions that with very little care and expenditure can be decidedly improved. Through the Educational Secretary a course for kindergarten teachers was arranged at the Geneva Summer School under the direction of Mrs. E. H. Stichel, of Buffalo. A similar course will be given the coming summer, and no better way could be devised for raising the standard of instruction for beginners than to send teachers to this class. The Secretary also arranged for a course in kindergarten methods which was given at a conference of church workers in Rochester in the autumn. Individual schools have solicited his aid and been helped by him in this department and all others are urged to make use of his suggestions.

Teacher Training. Your department has no figures to submit as to the number of teacher training classes in operation in the diocese, but we do know that they are steadily on the increase. The Rochester Normal School has affiliated this year with the community training school being operated under the direction of the Federation of Churches. This, after consultation of Rochester leaders, was brought about through the efforts of the Secretary. The Buffalo Normal School which was also brought into existence by the Secretary has affiliated with the Community School of the city, and is maintaining a Christian Nurture schedule as well as taking advantage of the background courses offered. These two schools present an exceptional opportunity for training, and in our estimation school authorities are most unwise if they do not avail themselves of them. Some schools in fact insist on teachers attending the courses or they must relinquish their position as teachers. We believe that if this rule were enforced, all our city schools would soon be equipped with a properly trained staff. The Department has appropriated a sum not to exceed $300 for the maintenance of the Buffalo Normal School.

The Family Altar and the Home. Through this committee your Department has put forth a manual of Family Prayers for use in the Diocese. Two editions, totalling 5000 copies, have been printed and all but about 200 disposed of. Requests for the manual have come to the Secretary from all over the United States and many words of commendation of it have been received. While grateful for these the Department realizes that the manual is far from perfect and hopes very shortly to put forth something much more adequate. The Secretary also arranged with the Rochester Church Extension Society for a diocesan use of a series of Bible readings issued under the direction of its head. These are available for present use but will be superseded by readings of a different character within a short time. They may be had upon application to the Secretary.

Week-day Religious Instruction. It is the policy of both the General Church and Diocesan Departments to move slowly in the matter of week-day religious instruction. Therefore not very much in the way of actual progress can be reported in definite establishment of such schools. Ground, however, is being prepared and a public opinion created which we are sure will very soon crystalize in the erection of a number of such schools in the diocese in the coming year. Your department would again urge that the advice constantly given by its Secretary be borne in mind, namely: that the small town and village parish offer a most fruitful field for such experiments, and that wherever undertaken preparations be made for a three-year period and thus assure permanency.

Daily Vacation Bible Schools.—The Educational Secretary has been made head of this committee. He has collected material in the way of curricula, lesson courses and plans for the operation of such schools, which are at the disposal of the Diocese. This type of community school operated for six weeks in the summer offers a splendid opportunity for intensive daily Bible instruction for town and city children whose long vacation time is often unregulated and a menace to good citizenship. In one county the Secretary has arranged for a conference of representatives from all the churches from six towns, with the idea of erecting such schools at strategic points the coming summer as experiment stations. This conference is to be held on the 6th of February and is to be preceded by a dinner, the local townspeople to be entertainers of its visiting delegations.

Church Schools Service League.—The head of this committee was until recently the head of the diocesan organization of the Church School Service League.—Miss Lucy G. Arnold. The report of the activities of the League for the year is in process of preparation. During the year past, the league issued a report of its activities for 1920-1921 and also a pamphlet on organization and operation. The department appropriated the sum of $200 for the work of the league. The committee reports that "The number of requests coming from the clergy of the smaller parishes, immediately following one of the County Conferences, or a visit from the organizing secretary, has been especially encouraging." During the recent provincial synod a conference of Leaders of the League from the various Dioceses was held over which the Educational Secretary of this department presided. He has also been instrumental in promoting a meeting of the C. S. S. L. Leaders of the province to be held in New York City on the 16th and 17th of January.

Schools and Colleges.—This committee of which the Rev. Murray Bartlett, D. D. is head, has endeavored to collect a roster of Church Students of the Diocese in institutions of learning within and without the diocese. The idea involved is to create what is known as "The Bishop's Student Congregation", that the Bishops may not only know where their young men and young women students are, but may have, upon visitation in school or college towns, a complete list of such and may pay them special attention. Bishop Brent has also promised to write to all such students during the year. It is the intention of this committee to appoint a "Student Pastor" in every college town. The Secretary of the Department invited Miss Agnes M. Hall, one of the Secretaries of the Department of Religions Education of the Presiding Bishop and Council, to visit the college centers of the diocese. This Miss Hall did in November last, visiting such institutions particularly in the interest of women students. The Secretary has also formed a Unit of the National Student Council in one of our Diocesan Normal Schools, the only Normal School unit in the east, and one of two such in the whole United States.

Religious Education of Adults—Mrs. Kingman N. Robins as head of this Committee has had through her position as Educational Secretary of the Woman's Auxiliary, an opportunity of coordinating the educational activities of these and other departments. Through her efforts, Miss Clarice Lambright has been engaged as organizing secretary for the Executive Council. Of Miss Lambright's salary your Department has assumed responsibility for $600. It has also appropriated $60 for the purchase of a typewriter for Miss Lambright's use. During the past year, the Secretary of this department in collaboration with Mrs. Robins, formed the "Rochester Church Life Co-ordinating Committee" which, outside of the work supervised by the Rochester Church Extension Society, is responsible for all special Church educational activities in that city. This committee in October last conducted a three day Conference or Institute in the interest of the three departments of Religious Education, Missions and Social Service, and the Woman's Auxiliary. Of interest to this department in particular were classes in Kindergarten Methods, Church School Service League and an open meeting on the subject of weekday religious instruction, the latter being conducted by Mr. Edward Sargeant of the General Department.

Among other activities that have claimed your department's attention are the County Conferences. Under authority of the Department, the Secretary prepared a program, the preamble of which was adopted as the statement of aims of all the departments taking part. He also presented this program at every conference save one. That the conferences from the religious education point of view are worth while is evidenced by the number of inquiries and follow up work which they bring. It is expected that Institutes will be carried on in some of the centers where the conferences have been held.

The Secretary also by letter and visitations promoted the observance of the Centennial of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society in the schools of the Diocese. He cooperated with the Near East Relief Authorities in their campaign for Christmas Offerings for that fund. Also stimulated interest in the China Famine Fund. Some of our schools have not yet made their contributions for Near East Relief, but we hope that all will respond before the end of the Epiphany season.

One of the subjects pressing upon your department is that of work among young people of high school age and older. Conscious of the need of direction in this matter, our Secretary has collected much of the data that exists in this country and Canada along these lines. He has been in correspondence with Young Peoples Societies and Leaders of Young People and is ready to supply information and visit parishes to aid in banding this young life together. The Department has put itself on record as urging the formation of Young Peoples Societies or Fellowships and expects to see a marked increase of such during this year. A conference of young people has been planned for the early spring to take place at St. John's Church, Buffalo.

At the request of the Department of Religious Education of the Presiding Bishop and Council, the Secretary gathered data relating to the Home Department Work being carried on here and in Canada, visiting Canada and conferring with the Canadian Board of Religious Education on the subject. His findings were presented at a meeting of Diocesan leaders held in Pittsburgh at which he represented this department. He also represented the diocese at the annual meeting of the New York State Sunday School Association held at Jamestown, as a member of the Executive committee, and lead a conference on "Community Training Schools".

From the Secretary's office have gone out 1143 pieces of mail and he has attended 65 meetings in the interests of religious education. To him come inquiries concerning almost every phase of religious educational activity, which involves correspondence, visitation or conference.

In viewing the situation, in the Diocese, your department feels that the great need is for trained leaders and teachers, in the Church School decidedly, but also in all the departments that touch the young life of our Church. For us of Western New York there is presented annually a great opportunity for training in the Geneva Summer School. Many rectors do not yet appreciate what that school offers. Students are sent from other dioceses all over the United States and they come because the school is a real training ground for leadership. The number of registrants this year has been limited to 250. We urge rectors to see that representatives are registered from their parishes and registered early.

Mr. Harper Sibley and the secretary have been charged with the responsibility of creating a new interest and a wider activity in regard to the Lenten Offering of the Church Schools, and as far as possible to develop a program of education and stimulation in that direction. We ask those in charge of our schools to cooperate to this end.

Your department would express its keen appreciation of the statement of Bishop Brent that this year is to be "Children's Year" in the Diocese. With this as an aim we feel that much will be accomplished towards building them into The Body of Christ, and in making them loyal, loving and intelligent children of The Father.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES A. JESSUP, Chairman.

DeLANCEY DIVINITY SCHOOL REPORT OF THE WARDEN

To the Board of Trustees:

This mid-year of the School course finds lecturers and students manifesting marked interest and achieving good success. The work is being carried on in two departments—the Preparatory and the Divinity.

The Preparatory Department, which, so far as can be ascertained, was never put into operation until within the last three years, is proving of untold value to several men who, without it, would not be able to see their way to the Sacred Ministry. The instructions given are all by the Warden, and include some eight or nine subjects of High School and College grade. Five students are enrolled, three of whom are also enrolled in the regular Divinity course. They are: G. W. Luer, S. W. Sundin, B. Rutledge, A. E. Baker and F. W. Windhorst. Two or three more hope to enter the department in the near future; Mr. Eyre

Vernon, who worked with us in the studies of this department through the summer months with the expectation of qualifying for the regular theological course in the fall, has been obliged, on account of business engagements, to give them up, at least for the present.

The Divinity Department provides courses such as are to be found in any fully organized seminary of the Church. Six lecturers, besides the Warden, constitute the faculty. All the lectureships have been filled until recently when that in Ecclesiastical History was made vacant by the removal from the Diocese of the Rev. Dr. Rogers. They, with the names of the lecturers are as follows: Literature and Interpretation of the Old Testament, Rev. G. F. Sherwood, B. D.; Literature and Interpretation of the New Testament, Rev. P. W. Mosher, B. D.; Christian Evidences and Ethics, Rev. J. B. Hubbs, D. D., D. C. L.; Dogmatic Theology, Rev. A. S. Ashley; Church Polity and Law, Rev. G. M. Irish, B. D.; Christian Missions, Liturgics, Homiletics and Pastoral Theology, Rev. G. S. Burrows, D. D.; Ecclesiastical History. The Warden has continued the class work in History, pending the appointment of Dr. Roger's successor. Six students are pursuing the full schedule prescribed for different classes of Candidates under the canons of the general Church. Three of them, as stated above, are also enrolled in the Preparatory Department. The names and Classification of the students are as follows:

Junior Class: Gerhard W. Luer, Sigfrid W. Sundin, Beecher Rutledge, Charles J. Burton and the Rev. H. E. Rodwell.

Middle Class: The Rev. Arthur L. Gaylord.

One new course—that in Christian Missions—, now required by the canons, has been added to the curriculum and is in charge of the Warden.

The Bishop of the Diocese has contributed most helpfully to the lecture work of the School by giving a course in Bible Study. The first of the series was a general treatment of the Bible and its literature; the second was on the prophecy of Isaiah. Other subjects are to be announced later.

The total number of lectures being given is double that of last, or any preceding year. The result is manifest in increased attention to School work and in more than doubled efficiency and achievement. The multiplying the number of lectures has, of course, added considerably to the expense of operation; and has been made financially possible only by the grant from the Diocesan Department of Finance of $1250 to be used toward meeting the larger bills incurred. We sincerely hope this grant may be continued another year; and until such time as the School, by funds of its own, can maintain its enlarged course without such assistance.

The Warden has received and expended moneys as follows, from May 1, 1921 to January 1, 1922:

|-------------------------------|--|--|-----------|
| Balance January 1, 1922 | | | $ 102.00 |

Since January 1, 1922, the sum of $44.85 has been expended for lecturers and labor, leaving in the general fund, at this date, $57.15.

The library of the School has received by purchase, some dozen volumes; and by gift, from the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of St. Paul's Church, Buffalo, one hundred sixty-four volumes (formerly a part of the library of the Rev. Dr. Shelton); from the Rev. J. K. Tibbits, ninety-six volumes; and from Bishop Brent nearly six hundred volumes; making a total addition to the books on the library shelves of about eight hundred seventy-five volumes. The School is also indebted to the Rev's. B. S. Sanderson and F. W. Abbott for theological magazines, placed, for reading purposes, upon the library table.

Since the conclusion of our last report the repairs and improvements to the School building have been completed and certain furnishings purchased and put in place. The total amount expended upon repairs, improvements and furnishings, since taking possession a little over one year ago, is $5245.95; which sum has been paid out of a grant of $5,250.00 made by the Trustees of the Parochial Fund from the funds of the School. The building is now in excellent condition and well adapted to School work; affording comfortable apartments for the Warden and his family, and suitable and convenient rooms for lectures.

At the recent meeting of the Synod of this Province of New York and New Jersey, the Committee (of which Bishop Brent was chairman), appointed by the Synod one year ago to consider and report as to the feasibility of making De Lancey Divinity School a Provincial institution, recommended that steps be taken to that end. The recommendation, following a prescribed procedure, was referred to the Provincial Commission on Religious Education, to be presented by that body to the Synod for final action next year.

The Warden, speaking for himself and the students, feels personally grateful to the Bishop and the Bishop Suffragan of the Diocese, to the Trustees of the School, to the lecturers, and to the friends of the institution for helpful counsel and hearty support. The associations and the work as also the prospects are encouraging and pleasant.

Respectfully submitted,

Buffalo, January 9, 1922.

G. S. BURROWS, Warden.

MISSIONS AND CHURCH EXTENSION

To the Rt. Rev. Charles Henry Brent, D.D., Bishop of Western New York, the Rt. Rev. David Lincoln Ferris, D.D., Bishop Suffragan of Western New York, and the Members of the Annual Convention of the Diocese:

Gentlemen:—

The Department of Missions of your Executive Council submits to you the following annual report for the work done under its direction in Church Extension, Missions and concerning the Nation Wide Campaign in the year past since the last Annual Diocesan Convention.

The Department perfected its organization with the election of the Rev. Wm. A. R. Goodwin as its permanent chairman, and the Rev. F. C. Lee as Executive Secretary. The personnel of the Department was selected as follows: From the cities of Buffalo and Rochester as representing the large city ideas—The Rev. W. A. R. Goodwin, the Rev. Cameron J. Davis, The Rev. F. C. Lee, Mr. George T. Ballachey and Mr. Eugene C. Denton. From Town and Country Parishes as representing the rural problem, The Rev. B. S. Sanderson, The Rev. Henry F. Zwicker, The Rev. Henry deWolf deMauriac, The Rev. Geo. B. Kinhead and Mr. J. M. Prophet. From Official positions in the Diocese and as needed by the Department for their special knowledge, The Rev. C. R. Allison, and The Rev. A. S. Priddis, from the two Church Extension Societies, Mr. A. F. Freeman as Financial Secretary of the Diocese, and Mrs. Kingman Nott Robins, as representing the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions, and the Church Service League. Both Bishops are of course, representatives in the meetings of the executive work of the Diocese.

It was found necessary to tide over the reorganization of the work of the Diocese from the old Archdeaconry system to the newer plans of Centralized Missions by the employment of a Field Worker who could cover those points where as yet the work was not fully reorganized, and so the Rev. Nathan W. Stanton was elected to the office of Field Secretary until December 31, 1921, a position which he has filled in a manner most satisfactory to all concerned. Mr. Stanton's work has taken him all over the Diocese, and has included every type of Pastoral work. It is, perhaps, sufficient comment on the manner in which he has done this difficult task, to quote the remarks of both of our beloved Bishops concerning the attitude of all the towns and villages where Mr. Stanton has been, "We find Mr. Stanton well-beloved by the people everywhere and his work well done." The Department regrets that the cost of such work as Mr. Stanton has done, together with the development of the plans of the Department, has made the further use of Mr. Stanton in this capacity an unwise expenditure.

The Department has had the oversight of the spending of a large sum in Diocesan Mission Work, which work has been carried on in three ways, and under three separate organizations, the regular Diocesan Missionary appropriation which has been applied on the work in the general field, and the two incorporated Church Extension Societies of Buffalo and Rochester. The total appropriated to this whole work has amounted to $45,061.91 of which $13,333.33 has been paid the Rochester Society, $10,000 the Buffalo Society, while $21,728.58 has been used by the Department to run the rest of the work. In addition to these sums, The Rochester Society has had some private income, so that the total expended falls just short of $50,000.00. For the twenty-one thousand used by the Department direct, the overhead has been very small, being less than $500.00, the amount set aside each year for this account. This overhead is divided into two parts, the expenses of the Executive Secretary, and the expenses of Department Members on department business. The low overhead, however, it is fair to add, is largely due to the fact that the Diocese employs such capable assistance as Mr. Freeman provides and it is the time which he gives to the Department which makes the work accomplished show such low expenses. No salaries are paid in this Department to Officers.

An analysis of the charges for the year 1921 show that $10,460.43 was paid for salaries of Missionaries, of which there are 22 in the field, besides which 4 men gave their whole time to the work of the two Church Extension Societies. There are also three Rectors giving time to Mission work who are not receiving aid directly from the Board. The coming year will find other men added to this list, notably an Italian Missionary, and two or three Missionaries in the Associate Missions of Allegheny and Wayne Counties. The item of expense which was centered in the work of the Field Secretary will be eliminated this year and this will enable the placing of more men in the field as soon as they can be procured.

It will be noted, also, that the Department has tried hard this last year to eliminate any "less than minimum" salaries which may still be paid in the Diocese. There is a Diocesan Policy which affects the Department which must not be forgotten in reckoning with this matter. It is not allowed to increase Diocesan gifts where Parishes or Missions refuse to make the effort to make a corresponding increase. This must of necessity be so, or the Diocese would soon be loaded with a burden which would stagger. While the Department has tried to bring salaries up to the mark, therefore, it has met failure in one or two cases because the offer of the Diocese to increase if the Parish or Mission would do its share has been met with a refusal. With these exceptions, the Department has no worker in the field on less than minimum salary, and no new men will be placed in the field without the effort to have the minimum salary paid being fully guaranteed. To accomplish this the Department has adopted the idea of the central treasury in paying salaries and has set aside a guarantee fund of $2000.00 to make the payments of monthly stipends an assured thing. This will be carried from year to year until this plan becomes fully established.

The sum of $4,731.45 was expended in 1921 in care of the property and developing new work. Part of this sum has put old buildings into shape for holding services and part has gone into the purchase and equipment of automobiles to make the centralization of the work possible. It must be borne in mind that the advent of the automobile has completely changed the rural problem. In the first place it has made cross country work and farm visiting possible as never before. It has also become a necessity to own an automobile if the Missionary would cover the territory because of the very existence of these machines, and by this is meant that the travel by automobile has completely disrupted short distance train service, causing most roads to cut their schedule from many to one or two trains a day and making travel by rail from town to town a most inconvenient thing. A missionary cannot wait on time tables of this nature if he would hold services or visit at distant points. The Diocese must learn to use the modern modes of travel and keep the work flexible. Allowances for automobiles are based by the Department on three things—the distance covered, the ownership of the machine, and the salary of the Missionary. They range from $100 to $300 per machine and this amount could not begin to cover the travel expense if it were spent in any other way. The Department contemplates the purchase of several more inexpensive machines this coming year.

With the exception of the two Church Extension Societies which have many lay workers of both sexes, the Department has employed only ordained clergy and lay-readers this past year. It is contemplated to put others in the field for special work as soon as they can be procured. This employment of special workers for special fields of work is nothing new but rather owes its novelty to the fact that Western New York has not tried it before. The plans are not yet complete, but as soon as they mature the Diocese will be informed through the Diocesan Fellowship.

It will be well, however, for all to remember the general policy adopted by the Bishop in Missionary work if each would understand the necessity of lay-workers. The Diocese is being divided into areas where the Mission work can be centralized. Thus Monroe County and Erie County are assigned to the Two Church Extension Societies, Allegheny and Wayne County are being put under Associate Missions, while Holley, Brockport and Spencerport are worked as a Mission group. This is only a beginning. There are natural centers in other fields. Nunda, Hunts and Canaseraga are being united as a Mission cure. Corning, Warsaw and Bath may well become just such centers. The principle to be used is that the general weakness of the Church in the Mission field is greatly strengthened by the working of the field in common by a group of men having a common interest in the work and a common policy in doing the work. The head of such a group must be a man in Holy Orders. Perhaps his assistant needs also to be the same type of man. But there are many things which need expert lay help. Teachers, District nurses, Social Workers, all of these are the back-bone of city Parish work, of Church Extension Work, and they need to be at least part of the frame work of the Associate Mission Work. The Department desires to have it clearly understood that it is the policy which it desires to make a fact as soon as possible that lay workers for the domestic mission field will be sought and welcomed as well in Western New York as in any other portion of the field of the Mission work of our Church.

But in addition to the regular Associate Missions certain special Missionary Work is being done in the Diocese. A general Missionary for the Deaf and Dumb is at work in every part of the Diocese where the Church can find these people to shepherd. As all should know the Diocese of Western New York has one third of the time of a Missionary in orders who gives the rest of his time to similar work in Central New York and in the Albany Diocese. We commend the reading of his special report to everyone. There is also looming up the inevitable racial problem in our Diocese. We have done some work for the Indian for many years and a very earnest effort has been made to reach the Negro. To this racial problem must be added the Foreign Born problem. The Department plans to place an Italian Missionary in the field this year. He will work between Buffalo and Rochester, and become, we hope, shortly the head of a special group for this kind of work over the whole Diocese. And we are also drawing closer to other foreign born races, notably those of the Greek Orthodox Communions and the National Old Catholic Churches. It seems certain that before many months we shall be called upon to undertake closer relations of actual Pastoral work with many of these people. In the mean while it is our duty to plant to help when the day dawns. At present, however, the Department has centralized its efforts on the Deaf-Mute, the Indian, the Negro and the Italian work, hoping to enlarge them rapidly.

Three points of policy should be mentioned here before the problems facing the Department are reported. The first of these is the Central Treasury. During the past year the Executive Secretary has written much about this plan in the Diocesan Fellowship, yet it may be worth while to venture a few remarks here upon the same subject. One of the constant sources of difficulty which faces any Mission Board is the insecure position of the Missionary financially. Not only are salaries low and often in arrears but also the Mission finds itself in difficulties which it cannot solve without a frank "show-down" which out of consideration for the feelings of a hard-working Missionary, it hesitates to bring to pass. The central treasury plan opens a way out of both of these difficulties. The Missionary is paid promptly by the Diocese at the end of each month. The Mission sends its quota directly to the Diocesan Treasurer each month, and any failure on his part to receive the amount due is equivalent to a notice of difficulties in the Missionary work which the Bishop has opportunity to investigate at once while it is as yet fresh and before it has become so open a sore as to need special surgery. It is the policy of the Department to get every Mission in the Diocese to adopt this plan. To make it a surety the sum of $2000 has been set aside as a capital fund to meet any deficits which temporary difficulties might bring to pass in the failure of Missions to meet their quotas. Every Missionary who enters into this method of salary payment can rest assured that he will receive a monthly check in full by the last day of each month and that every effort will be made by the Department to keep his work running as smoothly as it is in the power of the Bishop and his advisers to accomplish.

And the second point of policy which needs special mention is the Regional Conference. These have been planned in conjunction with all the Departments, but the Department of Missions is specially interested because it is our desire to bring the inspiration of outside leadership and successful plans in other places directly to the laymen and lay women at work in the Missions of the Diocese. The Clergy and their staffs usually can keep in touch with outside things, but the rank and file of a country Parish find it hard to get the vision at a long distance. The Department wants to carry to them all the inspiration which it can secure from the outside. Nor is the fact that Religious Education and Social Service are handled as separate Departments in our Diocesan economy any reason for our having an idea that they are not the real heart of our Missionary problem. The coming year will see definite plans for the work of all three Departments united in one ideal put into action with the strength of the Diocesan Missionary Budget behind them. The co-ordinated program of the Three Departments is the real missionary program of the Diocese.

And the third matter of policy is the Quarterly Report. These are not simply what they appear to be, checks on the work of the Missionary. They are and must become a record of facts pertinent to the records and information of the Diocese. It is true that an ideal blank has not as yet been produced. This is largely due to the fact that the new plans and problems are not as yet fully studied but as soon as they are, the Diocese will be given through new Report Blanks an information bureau of no mean character. It is the plan of the Department to set up a Directory of each town where we are at work of such a general nature as to put the Department in possession first hand of every fact that we ought to know. When this is done the work can be directed intelligently and the Bishop and his advisors will have facts to use and not impressions.

And this leads us to the problems which need solving, foremost among which is the Problem of the Isolated. There are two groups of such with whom we are concerned. First of all the Communicants and families of our own Church who are on farms or in villages where we have no organized work. We need them and they need us. The Organized Church owes a big debt to the children who are so placed by their domicile that they are cut off from regular services of the Church, especially the Sacraments. Our first duty is to locate them and get in touch with them. Once this is done we must give them pastoral care. Plans are under consideration to do this. And the Second Group to whom we owe a duty is the open country side which has no pastoral care. This is a general Church problem. We must go to these people not to proselyte but to shepherd. Bishop Ferris has recently outlined a procedure as follows—Let the Missionary go to the house and call. Let him see what can be done to give that home a family Altar. If the children cannot get to a neighboring Sunday School let the Church supply Home Lesson material—Give the people on the isolated farm a chance to have religion in their home by carrying to them the simplest of their needs, for if we supply these in the name of our Master, the isolated dweller on the farm will soon be seeking to end his or her spiritual isolation and learn to express it in organized religious effort. When the Missionary goes to a house and learns that the family has been members of this or that body but are now isolated, it is not his duty to think, "They are not Episcopalians, I can do nothing." Rather it is his duty to help them back to religious life, and the one way he can do this is to start with what they can and should use and to make it a personal business to see that they have it and use it. The pastor who supplies food spiritual to starving people will have a hold upon the community for better things when the time comes for these things to materialize. Where we can find neglected corners and farms, especially children growing up without God in their lives, there we have a Mission. And may we add right here that it is this work which makes the automobile a necessity. And also that it is this kind of work which can be best done from Associate Mission Centers. We firmly believe that well equipped Mission centers from which work can radiate out through our towns and villages of Western New York will change the whole complexion of the Country-side problem.

The Department has further taken up a plan to enlarge our work when the time comes by arranging for special gifts to special objects. The Children's Advent offering is one of these ways. Other gifts are sought from individuals. A list of needs in the Domestic Field has been prepared for the Church Service League in the Diocese. Special gifts to a $3000.00 extension fund will be shortly asked, that the Department may put into operation certain ventures like social workers in rural districts. The necessity of all this is that no matter how carefully a budget may be prepared, emergencies and new opportunities will and constantly do arise for which we have no support, while we are also curtailed by the limitations of the three year old budget of the Nation Wide Campaign.

Attention is called to the Budget prepared and presented for the Department at this Convention. It represents a minimum and not a maximum of needed expenditure. The method of its preparation may be its best defense. It was first of all prepared by the officers of the Department from the records in their hands, especially the expenditures of the past year and the minutes of the meetings. It was then submitted to a finance committee of the Department who made some important suggestions and changes. Thence it passed to review before the whole Department which spent the best part of a day picking it to pieces. Thence it was reported to the Bishop and Council who first reported it to the Department of Finance and then discussed and ratified their suggestions at a later meeting. Now it comes before the Convention as a part of the whole budget of the Diocese. We ask that it be passed as a Budget which has been thoroughly prepared.

Finally, the Department would remind the Convention of the facts of the Nation Wide Campaign. We are now in the third and last year of the program adopted by the General Convention of 1919. The Diocese has been faithful to a promise of sharing dollar for dollar with the general Church. There have been many faults in the regime but on the whole it has worked a revolution to say the least. This last year we gave the general Church over three times what we gave before the coming of the Campaign. And yet this is not enough because of a great fact which success always brings—progress. We must learn to support a progressive program. Can we do it? The Department of Missions is vitally interested in this because its own program is of this nature. We of the Department, who have been intrusted not only with the problem of running Diocesan Missions, but also with the workings of the Nation Wide Campaign, believe that the Church can and will. There will be presented the plans to carry-on at this Convention and valuable space and time must not be taken to print them here. Yet at the risk of repetition the Department desires to emphasize certain points.

- 1.—Enlarged Missionary work involves greater expense, and for the present, at least, and until some of the weaker work becomes more able to care for itself, we must expect steady increase in Missionary expenditures.

- 2.—To enlarge the work means more workers. The Next Nation Wide Campaign Must Devise Means To Enlarge The Stream Of Volunteers To Every Kind Of Church Work.

- 3.—We must face replacements and this will come as a heavy burden just so soon as we begin to speed up half worn out equipment. And we must also face the replacement of retired or retiring workers. To Get The Kind Of Equipment And Men We Want Will Take Money.

- 4.—We must face the task of informing the Church of what is being done. This is the real problem, of course, if we want more support. The Diocesan Publicity Department Exists For This Purpose.

- 5.—We must have co-operation of all with all. At a recent Parish Council in a Rochester Parish it was discovered that ideas of great value had been locked up in the brain of one of the representatives, who never had done other than be a knocker before, because he was too timid to express them and also, no doubt, because there was no outlet for them to be expressed. This is also true in our Diocese. The Department of Missions desires to know every constructive thing it can know. If there are such ideas in the minds of any they should be brought out. So far from resenting criticism or suggestion we welcome it with eagerness. The one thing we do not desire to be met with is the silence of contempt.

6.—And last of all comes the important point that the plans must be anticipated which the General Convention of 1922 will demand every Diocese put into operation. We lost three months in 1920 getting under way. Let us perfect such organization in 1922 that we shall be able to seize the adopted program of this year's General Convention as soon as it is issued and have it in full operation on January 1st, 1923.

Respectfully submitted for the Department of Missions and Church Extension, FREDERICK CROSBY LEE, Executive Secretary.

January, 1922.

MISSIONARY TO DEAF MUTES

To the Bishop and Executive Council, Diocese of Western New York:
Gentlemen:

The following report of my work as Missionary to the Deaf during the year 1921 is respectfully submitted:

In the Diocese of Western New York forty-six services were held, including eleven celebrations of the Holy Communion, these services being held in Batavia, Buffalo, Canandaigua, Jamestown, Lockport, and Rochester, and including a baptismal service in Westfield, Corning, Geneva, Attica, Cohocton, Hornell, Dunkirk and some other places were also visited for the purpose of making calls. The Missionary baptized three infants and three adults, and solemnized one marriage. Four deaf-mutes were confirmed by Bishop Ferris, three in St. Luke's Church, Rochester, presented by the Missionary, and one in Grace Church, Lockport, presented by the rector, the Rev. H. F. Zwicker. There were no burial services. These baptisms, etc., have been recorded in the various parish registers. Services were held in the Diocese on Easter Day and Christmas Day. Social meetings of the deaf are regularly held in St. Luke's Church, Rochester, and the Missionary was able to be present at several of these gatherings, and also at some elsewhere and at several secular gatherings.

During the year services were inaugurated in Canandaigua (St. John's Church, the Rev. R. L. Gaylord, rector), it having been found advisable to have services there instead of Geneva, and in Batavia (St. James's Church, the Rev. A. Brittain, rector). The Missionary hopes to be able to present a couple of candidates for confirmation the next time the Bishop visits Canandaigua.

In January the Missionary took part in the funeral service in St. Ann's Church for the Deaf, New York City, of the Rev. John Chamberlain, D. D., vicar of that Church and for forty-nine years a minister to the deaf; in August he officiated at celebrations of the Holy Communion at St. Ann's Church, New York City, and in the Chapel of the Gallaudet Home for the Deaf at Wappinger's Falls N. Y., to which institution residents of New York State are eligible for admission; in June he was the preacher at the ordination of Mr. Henry J. Pulver (a deaf man) to the diaconate, in All Souls' Church for the Deaf, Philadelphia, Pa.,—in which Church he also officiated at two other services (Holy Communion) during the year, to assist in keeping up the work in Philadelphia during the illness of the priest-in-charge; in September he attended a convention of the deaf of Pennsylvania at Edgewood Park, Pa., taking part in services in Edgewood Park and Pittsburgh; and in November he had the pleasure of preaching and celebrating the Holy Communion in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Washington, D. C., the headquarters of his former charge.

In the Diocese of Albany the Missionary officiated at 56 services during the year, and in the Diocese of Central New York, 94.

In all, the Missionary officiated at a total of 206 services, and traveled approximately 19,600 miles during the year.

Although the number of services in the Diocese of Western New York during the year was only slightly in excess of the number the preceding year, the Missionary was able to spend more time in the Diocese, visiting the people and becoming acquainted, and he feels that results are showing in increased attendance at the services and interest by the people in the work the Church is doing for them.

REPORT OF THE ARCHDEACON OF BUFFALO AND FIELD SECRETARY FOR THE DIOCESE OF WESTERN NEW YORK

For the Year Ending December 31, 1921

To the Rt. Rev. Charles H. Brent, D. D., S. T. D., LL. D., Bishop of the Diocese of Western New York and Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

This is the fourth and final report to be made by me.

The following parishes and missions had the ministrations of the Archdeacon of Buffalo to May 1st, 1921, after that until the close of the year he ministered to them under the title of Field Secretary of the Diocese: Angelica, Belfast, Friendship, Belvidere, Springville, Chautauqua, Forestville, Sinclairville, Depew, Williamsville, Brocton, Indian Reservation, Irving, Corfu, Akron, LaSalle, Church of the Redeemer Niagara Falls, Hunts, Nunda, Dundee, Himrods, Dresden and Lawtons. (23 places). During Lent he also held services at Canaseraga, Hornell, Medina, Middleport, Mt. Morris, Silver Creek and Angola; also in Buffalo at Holy Communion, St. James, Epiphany and St. Judes; in the summer at North Tonawanda, Darien Center, Warsaw, Attica and Weathersfield Springs and in the fall at All Saints' Church, Portsmouth, Va. and at Fredonia, N. Y.

Missionaries under the Department of Missions have during the year ministered to the places now mentioned: Rev. E. R. Bennett at Lackawanna, Rev. J. G. Wilson, Jr., at Ripley, Westfield and Mayville, Rev. J. H. Sheppard at Youngstown and Lewiston, Rev. Percy Isherwood at Perry, Rev. T. H. Delbridge at Randolph, East Randolph and Little Valley, Rev. Frank Marchant at Orchard Park and Hamburg, Rev. W. E. Nixon at Gowanda and Newtown, Rev. Frederick W. Burge at Warsaw, Attica, Darien Center and Weathersfield Springs. Rev. H. C. Merrill has had charge of the Deaf Mute work of the Diocese.

Since May 1921 the Laymens' League has functioned under the Church Extension Society of Buffalo and continue to do most effective work.

Mr. T. H. Clough, now in the twenty-ninth year of service at Irving and among the Indians, is still most active and happy in his work. The seed he has sown is now bearing fruit. The Suffragan Bishop was initiated into the Seneca Tribe of Indians and given an Indian name at the time of the annual Indian picnic July 7th, 1921.

At Chautauqua two services were held each Sunday during July and August at the Chapel of the Good Shepherd and also one week-night service each week under the direction of the Field Secretary. The Church Cottage this year was under the able management of Mrs. Mary A. Trott who acted as Matron. She has consented to serve during the season of 1922. The debt on the Church Cottage has now been reduced from $4,200 to $2,600. This is a splendid showing for the three seasons since the cottage was purchased.

The Associate Mission Plan adopted by the Diocese to take care of the Missionary Work made it necessary to discontinue the Office of the Field Secretary for the year 1922.

It is with extreme regret that the Field Secretary retires from the work which for four years has been so much a part of his life.

NWS-D

CHURCH EXTENSION OF BUFFALO

Right Reverend President and Members of the Corporation:

Since our last meeting in May, we are able to report an intensive and extensive development of the work of the Church Extension Society. The coming of the Rev. Raymond H. Fuller, a graduate of the class of 1921 of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, and of Mrs. Kate Sibley Shaw of the Philadelphia Deaconess School, who have lately been added to our staff, has made it possible for us to undertake new work and to strengthen greatly the old. Mr. Fuller is giving particular attention to the Church Home, although serving most helpfully in other fields, while Mrs. Shaw is heading our Department of Religious Education and has already shown herself an invaluable worker in our Church Schools. Miss Prophet continues in her important position as Director of Social Service, having charge of our volunteer forces, and has made her Department a most helpful auxiliary to the work of the Society.

Our formal report covers the fields outlined in the last report, and shows gratifying progress on all the fronts of activity. To begin with the work of Church Extension:

ST. PETER'S, EAST BUFFALO

This was the first field to occupy our attention last February and we have been active there ever since. You will recall how unpromising the outlook was when we began our work here. Congregations numbered less than a dozen and the Church School had all but disappeared. Today we are able to report a most happy condition of affairs in this parish. The Every Member canvass just held, shows nearly sixty families actively interested and subscribing to the support of the parish, with the N. W. C. apportionment oversubscribed, and a generous parish budget provided. The Church School numbers over fifty and the children have promised to increase the enrollment to one hundred before June. The young men have recently repainted and redecorated the parish hall and choir room and plans are under way for a series of social gatherings, among them a Men's Night for the men of the community. Scarcely a week goes by but some new members are added to the parish and school, and we look forward to the future of St. Peter's.

EPIPHANY, BUFFALO

Our work here is so new that we have not much to report. Epiphany has problems similar to those we found at St. Peter's. Although in the midst of a population predominately Polish, there are many native American families in the section and when one considers that we are one of two Protestant churches serving this vast district our responsibility is apparent.

We began our work here in September with a fine Harvest Home Rally Day similar to that at St. Peter's and rather more successful. The Church School here shows great promise, numbering nearly forty now, with several new members every Sunday. Already there are a number of fine young Polish boys and girls in the school and we look forward to increasing this number and possibly developing a Polish work in this parish. The present members of the congregation are heartily in sympathy with our plans and are responding enthusiastically to the leadership we are able to give them.

ST. PAUL'S, SPRINGVILLE

This mission has shown great progress since our last meeting. Regular services are held every Sunday by lay readers from the Laymen's League, and the Holy Communion is celebrated on the fourth Sunday. The mission has suffered a great loss in the death of Mr. Frederick A. Learman, who for nearly a year served here as lay-reader, and who did splendid pastoral work, bringing several adults to baptism and stimulating a general interest in the work of the mission. Plans are under way to develop a Church School at St. Paul's and a confirmation class will soon be started. In the event of the new U. S. Public Health hospital coming to Cascade Park this mission will assume new importance in Springville.

CALVARY, WILLIAMSVILLE

During the summer we surveyed the field at Williamsville with the view to instituting a progressive program for our mission there. Williamsville is a growing community which will be more important as the new University is developed. We have about two dozen families on our roll and about as many more who have become interested in the Amherst Community Church by reason of the aggressive policy of that institution. Our mission is meeting in a hall which meets the temporary needs, but which is inadequate for any forward work. We have called the parish together and presented to them a plan for utilizing the property given them some years ago, the deed of which is now being traced, which is in the heart of a fast developing residential section, by putting up as soon as possible a temporary or permanent parish hall for use until such time as a church can be built. We have started a Church School here and congregations grow larger each Sunday. A progressive work here demands new quarters and certain material evidences of progress. Mr. William Tutton of the Laymen's League is our regular lay-reader here and Mr. Fuller and I each have one service a month, while the entire staff visits the parishioners regularly.

HOSPITALS AND INSTITUTIONS

With the coming of Mr. Fuller we have been able to give more time to the important task of our ministry to the sick and shut-ins of our city institutions. The request of the Federation of Churches that we act as the official representative of the Protestant Churches of Buffalo in our institutional work adds somewhat to our responsibility and yet it is somewhat lightened by the appointment of key pastors in each denomination to whom we can refer cases of particular need. We are now visiting regularly all of the larger hospitals, including the State, County, General, Municipal, Homeopathic, Deaconess and have offered our services to the smaller and private hospitals. Our own Church Home is getting careful attention from Mr. Fuller, who visits there regularly and holds regular services on Sundays and other days. The Church School is now meeting on Tuesday afternoon and the experiment in week-day religious education is proving a great success. Mr. Fuller has recently brought one of the men of the home to baptism and has assisted at several funerals. We minister to the Home for the Friendless, Protestant Home for Unprotected Children, and Ingleside Home. Where our clergy are doing work in any institution we simply seek to supplement their efforts. At Ingleside Home we are now responsible for six services a month, three of which are taken by me and three by lay-readers and other clergy. Mr. Millard Burns and Dr. Hopkins continue to serve here most faithfully.

At the County Hospital we are doing systematic visiting with the staff and volunteer workers. Until lately the Protestant babies in the maternity ward have been missing baptism and occasionally receiving Roman baptism. This condition is now changed and we are instructed to take care of all cases having no definite church connection. We have also been asked to officiate at the burial of those who die without relatives or friends. Several groups of young women still give "sandwich parties" for the patients, going through the entire institution and giving a tasty sandwich or piece of cake to every patient.

At the Municipal Hospital in Ferry Street we have begun Ward services on Sunday afternoons, which are meeting a great need. Many children and "up" patients attend these services and the singing is enjoyed by those in nearby wards who are too sick to attend. The choirs of St. Luke's, St. Mary's and the Holy Communion have helped us with these services and we have asked other choirs to do so in the future.

We continue to visit the three hundred, or more, church people at the State Hospital, bringing them the ministrations of the church in prayer and the Holy Communion. A great number of these patients look for our coming and miss us if we forget them for a time.

In the other hospitals we are doing bedside visiting regularly, passing through all the public wards and speaking to every patient. We have gained the confidence of practically all of the authorities and they are coming to welcome us and to look for our coming. We are anxious to publish from time to time a leaflet for hospital distribution, with prayers, Bible readings, and other selections, if money can be found to bear the expense of printing.

We are endeavoring to get in touch with the nurses in our hospitals who are new to the city, that we may make their first impression pleasant and thus prevent homesickness. A valuable agency to help in this and all our work for nurses, will be the Guild of St. Barnabas, now in process of organization. A recent meeting called together seventy-five nurses and as many women of our churches interested in nurses, to plan the formation of this Guild. We are inviting all the training schools in the city as well as graduate nurses' associations to be represented and the movement promises to be very successful.

We have held occasional services at the Jail, where Dr. G. G. Pritchard has charge of the Sunday work; at the Penitentiary, where Mr. W. E. Townsend looks after our services; and at the County Farm.

AMERICANIZATION

Our Department of Americanization at the last meeting had made a study of the Italian problem and submitted certain recommendations to the Board of Missions concerning this work. As a result the Board has voted $1,000 for this work, asking the Church Extension Societies of Rochester and Buffalo to furnish the balance sufficient to pay the minimum salary of an Italian priest for diocesan work. It is to be hoped that this plan will be carried out.

During the summer we discovered a number of Mohammedans in Seneca Street in want because of continued unemployment. We had asked the Department of Americanization to have their representative stop in Buffalo to study the problem of these people, and in July Mr. George Lamsa, an Assyrian graduate of the Virginia Theological School, came to Buffalo to study the situation. Speaking their language he soon gained their confidence and through his efforts a number of persons became interested in these unfortunates and gave them temporary relief. These men still constitute a problem and deserve our continued interest.

We have been in close touch with the work of the International Institute, particularly among the Polish young people and have given active support to the work of the Hebrew Christian work here in Buffalo.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The outstanding feature of this Department is the Daily Vacation Bible School held in the Polish Section in Clinton Street. In response to a request from the National Department of Religious Education we called together our committee on Religious Education, including representatives from all the local parishes, and told the whole story of the Daily Vacation Bible School movement. While many of them had to be enlightened, none needed conversion.

A study of the local situation revealed a number of communities in Buffalo untouched by public school summer sessions or Vacation Bible

Schools of other churches. (The Baptists, Lutherans, Presbyterians and others carried on over twenty schools). Accordingly we selected five of our parishes which we felt ought to undertake the Daily Vacation Bible School Program and sent committees to wait upon the rectors of these churches. Here we struck snags. Rectors are busy men and not always able to give their time and energy to movements which may theoretically appeal to them greatly. Accordingly, with assurances of interest and sympathy in the movement, they all expressed regret that they could not undertake a Vacation School in their community.

We chose the most unpromising section of the city we could find—a district predominately Polish, Hungarian, and Roman Catholic. We approached the pastor of the Congregational Church, which has a comparatively good parish house, and asked his co-operation. He responded enthusiastically. We called together all the likely teachers we could think of and told them our aims. Eight volunteered to help us carry out our program—without compensation—we simply paying their carfare daily. We posted our program on the church—Bible Study, Hand Work, Patriotic Talks, Story Telling, Singing, Weekly Outing. We waited in mingled hope and doubt on the opening day.

They came—American, English, Hungarians, Poles—over eighty strong. There were Episcopalians, Congregationalists, Disciples, Lutherans, Roman Catholic—thirty of the last. They sang hymns, a delightfully new experience for many of them. They had the Bible opened to them; many of them had not known of its existence! The boys learned to use their hands in making toys, bird houses and baskets. The girls developed latent talents in painting and embroidering. The entire school came together every day to worship their common loving Father in prayer and song, while the great stories of the Old and New Testament were told them by one who knew how. And, with these stories, the children took away with them whole passages of Scripture language which they had memorized during the four weeks of the school—words of beauty that will forever be a part of their religious nature. And when the sessions closed, there was not a child in the eighty who was not much the better, physically, morally, spiritually, for his Daily Vacation Bible School experience. Their enthusiasm for the school is typified by the plaint of one fair-haired Polish boy: "Gee! Ain't we goin' to have no more school this summer?" Another year we hope that several such schools may be started in Buffalo.

Our Department of Religious Education was actively interested in the plan to amalgamate our Christian Nurture Normal School with the Community Normal School conducted by the Erie County Sunday School Association. Over seventy of our local Church School teachers are enrolled and all speak most enthusiastically of it. Mrs. Shaw is actively engaged in the work of the school and six of the teachers in the missions under our care are receiving training at its sessions.

SOCIAL WORK

Your Society has been in active co-operation with the local service agencies, including the Social Welfare Conference, which has lately undertaken among other things a recreational survey of the city, asking us to be responsible for the church survey. Your chaplain is also chairman of the important committee on Negro Welfare. We arranged a number of recreational features during the summer months for the folks in some of our local institutions.

We are continuing in a quiet way, our theatrical visiting—going behind the scenes now and then to meet some of the players and to make them feel that the Church is interested in them. The story of some of our meetings would be interesting to hear. One is impressed by the high idealism of many of these folk, and the gratitude they show for a word of friendly interest is touching. There is a feeling on the part of many that a common meeting place, or green-room, centrally located, would serve a real need in the life of the theatrical people who come to Buffalo. It may be that we can make this possible somehow. In the meantime, we shall continue to make our personal contacts.

FRIENDLY VISITORS

Our volunteer workers under Miss Prophet continue to do splendid work. We are getting enthusiastic co-operation from the local Church School Service League branches and honorable mention should here be made of the many deeds of kindness done by leaders and pupils in several of our parishes. We are constantly adding new volunteer workers to our staff and now and then someone from another church offers to help us in our work. Miss Prophet's report tells more graphically the story of this important side of our work.

Mr. Fuller has entered enthusiastically into our program of work and is serving most acceptably at the Church Home, St. Peter's, Williamsville, Epiphany and in the hospital work. Mrs. Shaw has special charge of the work of Religious Education and is already making that side of our work more significant.

We have presented the cause of Church Extension Society in many places, among them Plymouth Congregational Church, St. Luke's Evangelical, All Saints', Holy Communion, and the Church of the Good Shepherd.

REPORT OF SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT FROM MAY 20TH TO DECEMBER 1ST

The activities of the Social Service Department did not cease during the summer months, as we have a splendid volunteer corps of workers, very few of whom took vacations.

Mr. Priddis has spoken of the faithfulness of these women and of the words of blessing which follow their ministrations. We think it would be interesting to all of our friends to know this volunteer visiting corps, so we are going to introduce them personally to you, connecting them with their respective parishes:

Mrs. Ella F. Hughson of the Evangelical Church and Mrs. Martin Cabana of St. John's are musical volunteers, assisting at the services held at Epiphany Mission and the Municipal Hospital.

This group constitutes our "regulars" so to speak—those who are serving each week. There are many others who always stand ready to respond to any call made upon them.

The C. S. S. L. of St. John's Church and the women of the Church of the Holy Communion have contributed ten Thanksgiving baskets for our distribution. A group of girls at the Y. W. C. A. Home have also contributed one basket. This same group has helped considerably one of our families in East Buffalo. One of our church members donated $5.00 towards Thanksgiving supplies.

Other contributions since our last report are:

Picturecards, postcards, scrap-books, and paper dolls from the C. S. S. L. of St. Simon's and Grace and from the Clarke twins of the Church of the Good Shepherd; from St. Mary's Guild, St. Mary-on-the-Hill, and the Church Periodical Club.

Hallowe'en favors from the C. S. S. L. of St. Mary's and the Church of the Good Shepherd.

Clothing from several of our church members; 1 large Bible; six months of the Saturday Evening Post from a member of St. Luke's; $5.00 from a Sunday School Class, St. Michael's, Geneseo, which was used to give the boys at the Municipal Hospital a summer outing; $3.15 from Miss Ogden's Sunday School Class of Grace Church, which was used for Church School supplies at St. Peter's.

It is very difficult to make our visitors tell of the many actual needs which they supply and of the many good things distributed by them. Following is a report of one for one month and this is just a sample of what they all are doing: "Distributed six pounds of candy; six packages of tobacco; one air cushion; ten magazines; 25 papers."

We can always find a use for layettes, any number of scrap-books, magazines, and money.

May we take this opportunity of thanking all who have, in service and gifts, made the ministrations of our Church Extension Society so joyful and beneficial.

Respectfully submitted,
ANN E. PROPHET.

PROPOSED ADVANCE WORK AND NEEDS

Italian clergyman (to be shared with the diocese) to help us minister to the thousands of unchurched Italians in Buffalo. Our share of expenses, $1,000.00.

Director of Music. We feel that the missions and hospitals under our care are entitled to the best church music obtainable and to that end we urge the engagement of a director of music at an estimated cost of $1,000.00.

A moving-picture machine and a fund for films would add greatly to our recreational work—$500.00.

We are constantly distributing Bibles and Prayer Books and other religious publications. We could expand this service and add a leaflet, including Bible readings, prayers and other material for hospital distribution for $300.00.

Our present budget does not permit us to do any of those things nor others we should like to do.

CHURCH EXTENSION—ROCHESTER

Right Reverend President and Members of the Corporation of the Church Extension Society of Rochester:

Brethren:

Our third annual report covers three phases of missionary activity outlined in the beginning of our work, to which we add some comment on many other activities which are but the natural outgrowth of your desire that we should serve the community.

I. Church Extension Among the Parishes.

1. Each year in October, November and December we bring together various units of the parishes, namely, Vestries, Choirs, and Schools. Last November at the Church of the Epiphany, the Choirs rendered a service of singular beauty. Experience has taught us that Advent is a better time for a rally of the Church Schools than in the middle of winter when oftentimes it is difficult to get about. The children, therefore, met for their annual Missionary Service, Sunday afternoon in St. Luke's. Rev. S. Harrington Littell, of China, was the speaker. This year our plans for wardens and Vestrymen include three round table conferences upon topics of living interest to those holding office in the Church, together with some ideas of making this a permanent organization. The fact remains that we were lost in the larger conference for the Training of Church Workers. We shall make another attempt very soon, to help meet what we have long felt to be a great need in the Church life of our city, a group of churchmen meeting regularly to discuss questions pertaining to the advancement and well-being not of a parish, but of the Church in Rochester. We have come to learn that these three annual events do much to strengthen the co-operate life of the Church.

Each year in Whitsuntide, we call together not selected units, but the Church as a whole, to listen to some acknowledged leader in the Life of the Spirit. Last June we brought the Rev. Prof. Blodgett of the General Theological Seminary of New York who addressed our staff of Volunteer Workers on a Saturday evening in preparation for their Corporate Communion. The familiar words "And here we offer and present unto Thee, O Lord, ourselves, our souls and bodies, to be a reasonable, holy and living sacrifice unto Thee" took on new meaning under Dr. Blodgett's searching application. Sunday evening, June 5, Dr. Blodgett addressed our representatives from all the parishes upon the "Source of Power".

To supplement our monthly Corporate Communion and the Quiet Hour on certain Great Days, it is our intention to call upon our helpers each year to listen to one and another leader who will draw us away from the "Mechanics" of our work to a consideration of the Source of Power.

We think the outline of our plan to extend the Church among the parishes is worth repeating; annually in June a Spiritual Conference upon the Source of Power; October, a Conference for Wardens and Vestrymen; November, Missionary Rally of the Church Schools; and December, Choir Festival.

II. Missions and Church Extension in the newer parts of the city.

1. For two months this fall, at the request of Bishop Brent, we cared for St. Matthias' Mission, East Rochester. This work has just been given over to the Rector at Palmyra.
2. With the permission of Bishop Brent, granted on April 22, we are caring every Sunday at 9:45 for a large number of children in old St. Mark's Parish House. Forty of these children are 7 years of age and younger. The majority of the parents are not Church people.
3. At the request of Bishop Ferris and with the consent of the Rev. Mr. Whedon, we have taken over the parochial mission of old St. Mark's known as St. Andrews by the Lake. The Trustees of the mission have given our Society a deed to the Chapel and the land, together with a deed from the original donor—of a parcel of land adjacent to the Chapel. In addition to certain communicants who occupy their homes the year round, and our many friends from the State Hospital Farm, there is a large summer colony looking to us for services, which we maintain every Sunday morning as long as the weather permits.
4. We have called upon more than thirty church families in the vicinity of Brooks Avenue and beyond, many of them with children too young to go to the nearest Church School (St. Stephens). With the permission of Bishop Brent, granted April 22nd, and at the request of the rector of St. Stephens, we have opened a Kindergarten at No. 79 Chandler Street, with an enrollment of about fifty.

As soon as a location can be secured we will establish another Kindergarten in Lincoln Park. The greatest difficulty we have experienced here as elsewhere, is to find a place in which to meet. What our Society most needs is a portable building.

5. Our Church Schools at the Dorsey Home and at the Sanatorium under the direction of Miss Mason and Miss Kinne continued without interruption throughout the year.
It is interesting to note that first the Roman Catholics and recently the Jews, witnessing our success at the Sanatorium, have taken their children out of our school and are teaching them the Catechism and the Life of Moses, respectively.
6. Browncroft has grown far beyond kindergarten stage. This fall we changed the hour to 10 o'clock for Church School followed by Morning Service and Sermon at 11.
We are in the midst of a rapidly developing community. A big public school is to be built just a block from our property. With the Church School numbering 75, a Communicant list of more than 30 and another class to be presented in the Spring, a Woman's Auxiliary, Junior Chapter of the Brotherhood and a Young People's Fellowship, we feel that our next move is to ask our friends and neighbors in Browncroft to erect a Church School building to care for their needs and ours.
7. Since beginning our work at the Dorsey Home, we have frequently been reminded by Mother Dorsey of the number of communicants of our Church scattered throughout the city. During the recent Conference for Church Workers, we invited the Rt. Rev. Edward Thomas Demby, Bishop Suffragan for colored people in the province of the south-west, to address the colored people of the city at the Church of the Epiphany. As the result of that service, we had presented a petition for regular services, signed by about 35 families. This petition was favorably considered at our Annual Meeting. Through the courtesy of the Rector and Vestry of the Church of the Epiphany the colored people have had the use of the Church on Sunday nights. Recently they have given themselves a name, "The Congregation of St. Simon of Cyrene"; have elected a Board of Trustees, Treasurer, and Organist; and are now on a fair way to become self-supporting. The Rev. Mr. Jennings is assisting the City Mission staff in maintaining services.
8. For about two years we have been conducting supervised recreation for more than 100 Italian boys in Trinity Parish House. We feel that we have gone as far as we can without assistance in this work, which if it is worth doing, is worth doing right. We expect the time is near when in co-operation with the Buffalo Society, and the Board of Missions, an Italian priest will be added to our staff. The foundation for a fruitful work is already laid. Following the action of the Buffalo Society and the Board of Missions, we have included in our budget for next year a thousand dollars for this purpose.
9. Nearly 1000 people are employed at night within a block of the Four Corners. Beginning in Lent, we propose to have service for them at a conveniently early hour on Sunday morning.

A glance backward over the items under Missions and Church Extension shows that we have established for the Church, ten (10) important points of contact.

III. Church Extension in the Institutions.

1. All the work among the parishes and in our Church Schools and Missions has been merely pastime compared with the regular work in hospitals and institutions for which thing alone we are set to do. And just here no statistics of baptism and Communion, no record of services, no report of entertainments of friendly visitors can begin to tell the story of what it means to 4000 persons shut up within four walls, for the Church to show her concern by sending to them daily, Chaplains to whom they can feel free to speak, who always take time to listen to them, who come between them and the Institution. The Chaplain's value in the hospital is an unquestioned reality which the Church should unqualifiedly recognize and support. His message should be a living one to living souls, that are to live, and his chief function should be one of life-giving and not life-queenching. Tact, devotion, cheer, self-forgetfulness—all these in such measure as may be, but his chief asset should be his power to let in the light of God. We are convinced that a great deal of improvement is necessary both in the attitude and the message of the average institutional Chaplain. We are thinking of our Lord's idea of the More Abundant Life. If the average physician were asked when a Chaplain should be called in, he would probably answer that the time for the Chaplain was due when all hope of recovery was abandoned. That is, the average conception of the Chaplain's function is not the life-giving function which it ought to be. It is a sort of preliminary funeral service, whereas the proper preparation for death is not a last despairing, hopeless prayer; the only preparation for death that amounts to anything is to learn to live. So we have come to feel that our chief care should be for the patient who is going to get well and do some more living. If he is going to die, there are probably Chaplains waiting for him on the other side. If he is going to live, then it is our business. With these principles in mind, your Chaplains have ministered in sixteen institutions to an average daily enrollment of 4000 patients.

The Departments of Friendly Visiting, Child Welfare, Recreation, and Special Needs are making separate reports of their work, all of which is seen to be the perfectly natural development of our presence in the institutions, and without which the work of the Chaplains would not be complete.

On the first of last January, the Rev. Alfred Scott Priddis, who had been our associate for only a few months, was called as Superintendent of the Church Extension Society in Buffalo, which we had assisted in organizing some time previous. During his short stay with us, Mr. Priddis rendered invaluable aid in our hospital work and in representing our Society in the larger social interests of Rochester. After considerable search, the Rev. Walter Earl Cook, rector of St. John's Church, Marcellus, and Secretary of the Diocese of Central New York, was called as Priest Associate, and began his duties April 1st.

At the last annual meeting, we acted favorably upon a request from the Federation of Churches, that we represent them in our hospital visitations. We are gradually elaborating upon such a plan of co-operation.

Thus far our "Hospital Committee" consists of one representative each from the various denominations to whom we communicate in case we discover someone who asks for a pastor of his own religious belief, otherwise we minister to "Jew and Gentile, bond and free."

The Department of Friendly Visiting and the Department of Recreation are receiving considerable help from our Association with this larger group. We are working now upon a system of reports and checking up, so that we will know each month that the work assigned has been done.

Our offices in the Ely Building were opened in due and ancient form on June 3rd. Through the kindness of our friends, they are gradually being properly fitted up. We expect them to be freely used by the various Diocesan and Parish organizations. We are now sharing them with Miss Clarice Lambright, Organizing Secretary for the Executive Council.

Through the generosity of Mrs. L. S. Ward, and with the consent of Bishop Brent, Deaconess Ethel E. Spencer, graduate of King's College, Toronto, and St. Faith's School, New York, was asked to become head of our Department of Child Welfare. Just before assuming her duties, Deaconess Spencer suffered a re-occurrence of Asiatic fever contracted in China, and was obliged to resign her position with us.

Miss Edith Tucker of Mobile, Alabama, who took the place of Deaconess Spencer and the care of the office, resigned January 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lunt gave us on June 1st, $500.00 towards the salary of an office helper; this gift makes it possible for us to keep the office open daily.

We spent a large part of our summer in visiting the various institutions in this part of the Diocese, with the result that we are reporting names of communicants hitherto lost to the Diocese. The results of this phase of Church Extension are as follows:

|--------------------------|----------|--------------|---------------------|
| Monroe County Sanatorium |5 | Communicants | (4 by Confirmation) |
| State Hospital |30 | " | (3 by Confirmation) |
| County Hospital |16 | " | |
| Alms House |6 | " | |
| Dorsey Home |1 | " | |
| Friendly Home |7 | " | |
| Albion House of Refuge |12 | " | |
| State Soldier's Home |7 | " | |
| Newark State School |200 | " | |

We recently inserted an ad in all the papers of the County, asking that communicants of this Church not connected with any Parish, send their names in to our office. We have received several. Personally we fail to see how any communicant with a Ford and a conscience can be classified as "isolated" in Monroe County. However, we shall continue the search. The names of these lost communicants are now recorded on our books and will be included in our annual report to the Bishop and Council.

Next vacation time we expect to visit all the County Homes and that great Hospital at Sonyea, where the Church is not officially represented.

At the request of Bishop Brent, we renovated the Clergy Rest House at Sodus Point at the cost of about $1500.00, and saw that it was occupied by the Clergy and their families until the opening of school in September. Next year, with everything in readiness, there is no reason why it should not be used from May to October.

As a member of the Department of Christian Social Service we spoke on behalf of our work at the County Conferences in Bath, Warsaw and Newark. In the same connection we spoke in Christ Church, Corning, and attended the State Conference of Charities and Correction in Utica. Early in the spring we spent two weeks with the Superintendent of City Missions in New York.

Our friends, the Firemen and Policemen, have not been forgotten. In October, thru the Federation of Churches, we asked that every pastor call at the precinct station and fire-house in his Parish. This in addition to what Mr. Cook and myself are able to do in the way of friendly, visiting.

We have placed in every dressing-room in each Theater, and in the hotels frequented by the Profession, the following notice—

At Your Service
 Rochester Chapter, No. 1353
 The Actors' Church Alliance
 Rev. Charles Roger Allison
 Chaplain

Office, 4 Ely Building

Residence, No. 65 Augustine St. Phone, Glenwood 214.

Through frequent reminders, the Hotels, Undertakers, Public Nursing Association, know that we are at their call.

It is an interesting commentary on the work of our Society to note that the Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, have within the year appointed Executive Secretaries for work in Rochester and Monroe County.

Each year, in addition to daily routine, we try to do some one thing of use to the Church as a whole. Last year, you will remember, some studies in Americanization and Child Welfare. This year it is a series of daily Bible Readings.

Special Report of the Department of Finance

THEIR ACTION REGARDING THE THANK OFFERING UNDER PERMISSION OBTAINED FROM THE ANNUAL CONVENTION IN MAY, 1921.

At the time of the last Annual Convention the Nation-Wide Campaign returns of the preceding year had resulted so favorably regarding the Immediate Budget, that there was good cause for general gratification. A few items, however, that had not been provided for in the Budget, made it look as though we might not have, by the end of the year as clear a balance sheet as was desired. The Annual Convention passed a resolution endorsing the scheme proposed by the Department of Finance for a Thank Offering to replenish the Emergency Fund. It was decided by the Committee to postpone action until somewhat later in the year, so the matter was not pressed vigorously until the last of November.

To the gratification of all connected with the finances of the Diocese, the receipts for December, owing to the activity of the Financial Secretary, the Treasurer and the treasurers of many parishes, amounted to almost $50,000 and an unexpected gift from one of the parishes independent of the Nation-Wide Campaign, placed in the Emergency Fund sufficient amounts to care for expenditures amounting to over $2,500.00 which should have been paid from an Emergency Fund which had already faded away. Under the circumstances, as the action of the convention in this matter was permissible and not obligatory, the Department called the movement off, notifying those who had not yet made their contributions not to do so, and in a number of cases where cheques had already been sent to the Treasurer the amounts were returned to the generous donors with an appropriate letter of appreciation.

The Department of Finance takes this occasion to express to this Convention its great appreciation of the high quality of the services rendered to the Diocese by the Financial Secretary. His aid has been invaluable to the Department of Finance.

Respectfully submitted,

(H) Report of the Council of Comrades in Service

BEING THE FORM OF THE CHURCH SERVICE LEAGUE IN WESTERN NEW YORK,

TO THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF WESTERN NEW YORK

The Council of "Comrades in Service" was reorganized by the Bishops in the fall of 1921, and began to determine the real function and place of the Church Service League in Western New York at its meeting on December 13th.

After careful thought and discussion guided by the Bishops, this Council, composed of men and women within and without Church organizations, discovered three fundamental principles upon which could be built something valuable. This discovery was revealed by Bishop Brent in the January issue of "Our Diocesan Fellowship." These principles are printed in a bulletin called "Comrades in Service", now off the press. It contains: a foreword on the Meaning of Service, by the Bishops; the meaning of "Comrades in Service"; suggestions for Christian living and service, under Prayer, Education, and Service, in the home, parish, community, diocese and province, nation and world; and, finally, directions to parish councils wherever they are the natural outgrowth of these suggestions.

It is hoped that every one will become a "Comrade in Service", and, therefore, that this bulletin will be generally used.

The report of the Field Secretary is already in the hands of Bishop Brent, and can be attached. She interviewed, or got in touch with, nearly every parish during the year, and over forty are already co-operating in the principles of service and fellowship. Many more are waiting for the Bulletin before beginning.

The Council stands ready to follow any suggestions of the Bishops and Executive Council, and welcomes further opportunities for service in the Diocese of Western New York and individual parishes and persons.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed)

ELIZABETH SIBLEY ROBINS,
President.

(I) Report of the Western New York Branch of The Woman's Auxiliary to the Presiding
Bishop and Council

TO THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF THE DIOCESE OF WESTERN NEW YORK

The year 1921 marked the Fiftieth Anniversary of the beginning of the Woman's Auxiliary in this country, and the Forty-First in this diocese. It also marked for us the closing of Mrs. Nicholas' twenty-one years of service as President, and of a long period of service on the part of Mrs. Nathaniel Rochester and Mrs. Julius Potter.

During these forty-one years the Auxiliary in Western New York has grown until there are about one hundred branches, varying in size from the group where "two or three are gathered together", to where nearly every member of the parish is enrolled. The Auxiliary has tried to stand during these years, for United Prayer, United Study, United Giving for Missions; and, since the Triennial in 1919, to include Religious Education and Christian Social Service.

The detailed report of our Educational Work; our Service of Supplies; our United Thank Offering and gifts of money to Missions; and of the Church Periodical Club, is contained in the Manual, or Handbook as it is now called.

We have tried to co-operate in the co-ordinated educational program; and our Educational Secretary has been in close touch with diocesan educational plans. We have assisted in the beginnings of the Church Service League in Western New York.

We would welcome the opportunity to make our Service of Supplies of use to the diocesan departments of Missions and Christian Social Service. Clothing, hospital supplies, etc., are being furnished Missions all over the country; and a diocesan and community field might be arranged or co-ordinated by the three departments, as is done in some other dioceses.

We would also welcome suggestions for United Prayer. We would be glad to add to our prayers for the gift of life for the Mission Field, the Christian Ministry if requested to do so; or other specific problems and needs; hereby constituting ourselves a prayer group.

The Annual Meeting held in November in Christ Church, Rochester, was a real Jubilee, both in spirit and accomplishments. The Jubilee Fund in memory of Miss Julia Emery was over-subscribed; and six hundred dollars was raised that day for Dr. Reifsnider in Japan. The Auxiliary pledged itself to renewed consecration and to the upholding of those spiritual qualities which are the foundation of our devotional life, education, and giving; endeavoring to allow the Spirit of Prayer and Fellowship, the Spirit of learning, of service and of adventure, to pervade our Auxiliary life.

The Auxiliary is Auxiliary to the Presiding Bishop and Council, and wishes that it might be considered and used as an Auxiliary to the Executive Council of the Diocese, either directly or through its departments, in prayer, education and service.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed)

ELIZABETH SIBLEY ROBINS,

President.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

To the Eighty-Sixth Annual Convention of the Diocese of Western New York:

Gentlemen:—

The Standing Committee on Finance to which have been referred the Annual Reports of (1) the Treasurer of the Diocese, (2) the Treasurer of the Church Pension Fund, (3) the Financial Report of the Trustees of the Parochial Fund, and (4) the Report of the Treasurer of the Episcopate Fund would respectfully report:—that we have examined the said reports as printed for the use of this Convention.

(1) The Report of the Treasurer of the Diocese appears to be in due form and correct; it is to be audited by a certified accountant whose certificate will be appended to the report when it is published in the Journal of the Convention.

(2) The Report of the Treasurer of the Pension Fund, while it has not been audited is full and complete. The special attention of the Convention is called to the supplemental note at the close of the report which note shows that the number of parishes which have not paid their pension premiums is less than last year. The whole question of parishes which fail to pay the premiums must be dealt with by the Convention.

(3) The Report of the Trustees of the Parochial Fund is in due form and correct and has been audited by a certified public accountant.

(4) The Report of the Trustees of the Episcopate Fund is in complete form and has been audited by a certified public accountant.

Again your committee would suggest that these reports should be in the hands of the Committee in sufficient time before the Convention to enable the Committee to give them the careful consideration they deserve.

Respectfully submitted,

PHILIP W. MOSHER,
BENJ. S. SANDERSON,
JOHN W. CRAFTS.

Committee on Finance.

The Rev. Mr. Zwicker, for the Standing Committee on the State of the Church, presented the following which, on motion, was adopted with its recommendation:

REPORT

of the Committee on the State of the Church

To the 86th Annual Convention of the Diocese of Western New York The Committee on the State of the Church offers the following Report:

The duty of this Committee appears to be clearly defined in the Rules of order directing its appointment;—"To whom shall be referred the Report of the Executive Council with a Report of its Treasurer, who shall formulate and submit to the Diocesan Convention such recommendations as shall be suggested by the Executive Council."

Your Committee craves your indulgence on the score of the shortness of time which it has had for the due consideration of such important matters as are thus committed to it, and its first criticism will be upon that point.

The Report of the Executive Council should be in the hands of the Committee in time for its members to deliberate thoughtfully upon it in order that such suggestions may be made as will be of real value to the Diocese and with that object in view that when the Report of the Executive Council is presented to the Secretary of the Diocese for printing, a duplicate copy of this Report be made and presented to the chairman of the Committee on the State of the Church. The Committee feels that the splendid report made by the Ex. Council shows the church in this Diocese to be in a healthy condition, with an increased enthusiasm for the work of the church. Your Committee finds that splendid progress has been made in all three departments of the Executive Council and especially commend the forward program of the Department of Missions.

Respectfully submitted,

COMMITTEE ON STATE OF CHURCH.

APPENDIX I.

Bishop's Annual Address

My Fellow-workers of the Clergy and Laity :

The following is a summary of my official acts during the past year :

Confirmations, 1035 ; Postulants admitted, 4 ; Changes by Letters Dimissory : 9 received, 4 transferred ; Ordinations : 2 to the Priesthood, 2 to the Diaconate ; Baptisms, 9 ; Weddings, 2 ; Funerals 2 ; Deacons licensed to preach, 2 ; Deaconess set apart, 1.

The detailed record which I shall not read will be found in the Convention Journal.

During the Kalendar year 1922 there have been the inevitable changes in the personnel of our clergy through death and removal. The Rev. Nathan W. Stanton, honest of soul, faithful in service, left us after a few hours of acute illness. For years he had known that he could not hope for a long life. Instead of saving himself he continued his course of unsparing diligence, and died as he had deliberately planned to die, in the full swing of his activities. We are the richer for the example of his pastoral character. He made a home for himself in the hearts of the people whether as Rector of St. Mark's, Buffalo, or as Archdeacon of the western half of the Diocese.

The Rev. James L. Roy, LL.D., who formerly served in several parishes of the Diocese, retired from active work in 1908 when he resigned Epiphany, Niagara Falls. He was a scholar and a writer. His death occurred during the year at a ripe age in Montreal.

The Rev. Frederick E. Easterbrook, Deacon, for a long time a sufferer had his release a short time since.

Among our laity there have been a number of deaths, many of them old and faithful servants of the Church whose honorable Christian lives leave their influence behind them. St. Paul's, Buffalo, has lost a Christian gentleman and a loyal parishioner in Mr. William Y. Warren.

The Diocese at large and Christ Church, Rochester, in particular mourn the passing of Mr. Willard E. Moore. His quiet effective service of the Church as Diocesan Treasurer for many years we recall with pleasure and gratitude.

These and all the company of hidden servants of Christ, who in town and country have finished their course on earth, we commend to God's safe keeping and pray for them "safe lodging and a holy rest".

There is one impending change in our clerical personnel which touches the life of the entire Diocese. The Rev. Doctor W. A. R. Goodwin has lived something more than a parochial life during his fourteen years as rector of St. Paul's Church, Rochester. He has secured for his Parish a missionary outlook and character which is perhaps the largest single gift a pastor can bestow upon his people. In everything pertaining to the life of the General Church and to the Diocese he has been a leader with an eye not to his own advantage but that of the Church. Most of all has his ardent and intelligent labor for missions been a boon which has enriched the Diocese beyond its own realization and which will continue to bear fruit for many years to come. We relinquish him reluctantly as he returns to the State of his birth. We prophesy that he will not be content to live a mere academic life at William and Mary but will continue to do in the Diocese of Southern Virginia the sort of missionary evangelism which has put the Diocese of Western New York under unpayable obligation to him. May God continue to bless him and his work.

There are three matters of major importance in which I need counsel and action from the Convention:—

1. We have no general funds in this Diocese for use in meeting needs constantly arising, especially in connection with the expansion of the Church in hopeful missions, and in building projects of immediate importance. A "revolving fund" has been a matter of discussion ever since I came to the Diocese. Action should no longer be deferred. As the administrator of a business corporation, such as the Church is on one side of its character, it is my duty to call your attention to the fact that I cannot play the part to which you appointed me without the adoption of measures to secure some such fund.

If I thought that the resources of the Diocese were heavily taxed I would keep silence. But they are not. The idea of a quota, whatever its virtues has its vices. I realize the necessity, for the sake of the self-respect of parish life, of all communicants regulating their contributions to the budget by the quota principle. But the quota is a minimum. The payment of a quota does not exhaust the giving powers of a large number of our membership. I shall be glad to be the first contributor, over and above the quota idea, to a "revolving fund", with the hope that there will be a general response to leadership in this matter. There is every reason why we should ask and expect to receive a number of large gifts. But I would like to make such a fund open to the gifts of small contributors. If we could get each Church member to give $1 a year over and above the quota, allowing for those who were really unable to add a penny to their present gifts, we would have at any rate $20,000 from this one source in a year's time.

I believe you will agree with me as to the possibility of raising this fund without impoverishing any one, and I ask you to formulate a plan to that end.

2. The Pension Fund has ruled that the $1,000 granted to the widow of a deceased clergyman immediately after his death can be voted only when every premium of the Diocese has been paid up to the end of the year preceding. March 1st has been set as the date for the current year. The carelessness or indifference of a single parish jeopardizes the interest not only of its own rector and family but also of every rector and his family in the Diocese. Pains are taken by the office of the Treasurer to keep you posted from month to month where you stand, so that we may run no risk of premiums being forgotten and left unpaid. There are parishes that are chronically behind in payments and who are placing in jeopardy not only themselves but the entire Diocese.

3. By action of the Synod of New York and New Jersey the principle of providing a decent place of worship for all inmates of state institutions was unanimously approved. A concrete instance was presented us for action and favorably received. The Craig Colony at Sonyea is sadly in need of a chapel. The Roman Catholics have erected a building for their own exclusive use. A general committee has been at work for some time planning for a place of worship for the other Christians in this large and pathetic Colony. We need about $82,000 of which $25,000 has been adjudged as the share for our Church. I would recommend that we agree to raise $5,000 of this amount, leaving the balance for proportionate allotment among the remaining four Dioceses of New York State, and that a committee be appointed to take the matter in hand.

By example and teaching Christ has revealed life to be an ordered process and social in character. We are not left to flounder through the world with no guide but our own fancies and no strength but that which we ourselves generate. It makes for inner tranquility and power to contemplate long and deeply the fact that we are a fountain never separated from its source, that we constitute for God the body through which He works out His half hidden and half evident purpose. Our chief incentive to live as Christians is the same as Christ's was—"My Father worketh even until now, and I work". We are called to do much more than cast ourselves into the tide of God's purpose. Slavish obedience to a compelling law would utterly destroy the human in us. Our royal task is to work for and with God, as all the while He works in and through us. We get to know God's will by doing it. So with Ignatius Loyola we pray:

"Teach us, good Lord, to serve Thee as Thou deservest; to give and not to count the cost; to fight and not to heed the wounds; to toil and not to seek for rest; to labor and not to ask for any reward, save that of knowing that we do Thy will."

Again it is a happy thing that the creative unit of life is the family and not the individual. We know of no moment in history when this was otherwise. Life is primarily social. If there ever was a time when the individual preceded the family at what stage in the evolutionary process do we find it? Certainly not in the human stage. The individual emerges by the will of society as represented by his parents. A few hours of carelessness or neglect on the part of society and the infant individual ceases to be. By the will of society the individual lives. He becomes a person through the opportunities provided by society. It is a distinguishing feature of man that he of all animals is longest in the incubator of society, and longest, in emerging as a self-determining individual. That means that man is more dependent on the society of his kind, than any other social animal is. The moment he is a person, he in turn is an active factor in willing other individuals into being and giving them proper social setting. In short the individual's relation to society is the same, mutatis mutandis, as his relation to God. Hence it is of the essence of salvation to love God and to love our neighbor as our very self. God and human society are the two towering facts of life as we know it.

Illumined society is the depository of God's truth and purpose. Spiritual life and sustenance come to the individual, first as in the case of his animal life, through the will and operation of society in its spiritual embodiment. God's society, the Church, is ideally coterminous with mankind. The ideal is yet far from being realized in the actual. But in the Church of God as a whole is sufficiently enshrined for our guidance and support His presence and His purpose. They will become steadily more evident and more potent to bring about order and peace as the Church advances toward unity of belief, thought and work. This is ordinary common sense as well as the solemn declaration of Christ.

There can be no possible doubt that the next hundred years will be a struggle to gain world coherence. From the beginning it has been recognized by the seers that some day this must be. Now it has ceased to be a disputed theory and is accepted pretty generally as a necessary fact. Unity or destruction are the alternatives from which to choose, one being God's purpose, the other giving the lie to His purpose. There are two stages in the history of all ideals, the preparatory and the immediate. The former is educative, the latter active. In the matter of world unity the preparatory period is past and the immediate has begun. Bold experimentation must be the order of the day. Let no discouragement daunt us to the paralyzing of our hands. Let no arguments obscure or extinguish our ideal. We hold it in trust for our children and our children's children just as surely as the founders of our Republic held in trust the ideal which finds its embodiment in the American nation of today. Discussion as to whether or not peace and unity are to be world-wide is out of date. There is only one question before us and that is the best means to bring it about. No difficulty will excuse inaction. The task is every man's business.

The test of a great vision is in the universality of its character. It must apply with equal facility to society as a whole and to society in its local aspect everywhere. This is true of unity, of which the foundation stone and the key stone alike is fellowship. The attempt to unite Christians into a world family, and to continue attempting it until it is done, is as much the business of this Diocesan Convention as of the numerous Commissions of the World Conference on Faith and Order. The moment has come when unless the universal vision finds local expression the Church will be false to a trust and negligent of an opportunity. It is a satisfaction to feel that so prodigious an undertaking is not the fruit of local or spasmodic emotion. Our General Convention has unanimously bidden every diocese and parish to move definitely in the direction of unity. The Lambeth Appeal, the World Conference on Faith and Order, the Universal Christian Conference on Life and Work, and the Alliance of the Churches for the Promotion of International Friendship, are the organized agents whose work has progressed to a point where their business becomes the obligation of all Christian people. They are begging for right of way in every Christian community. In all these movements our Communion has been active. The Lambeth Appeal and the World Conference on Faith and Order originated through our initiative. Neither can go forward any further unless the clergy and their people unite in making the ideals which they embody part of their thought and life. We need at the moment not academic knowledge of one another in the various denominational groups but personal contact. It has been made difficult by the establishment of religious caste. There are many mutually exclusive churches each considering itself either the sole or else the chief depository of God's presence and operation. Granting the undoubted sincerity of such groups, it is obvious that all of them cannot be right. Moreover the Christian use of privilege is not found in drawing contrasts with the less favored—"Lord we thank Thee that we are not as other men are"—but by exhibiting its treasures quietly in superior consecration to God, refinement of character and ability to serve others. It is told of a convert to a certain Christian cult that she withdrew from all fellowship with her old associates lest their error taint her truth! If God gives us the truth for any purpose it surely must be that we may go to those less favored and open up to them our treasures. This is what Christ did. "Other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear My voice; and there shall be one flock, and one shepherd."

Let us consider in turn each of the outstanding endeavors to promote Christian unity as applicable to and dependent upon local conditions, beginning with the Lambeth Appeal.

1. The Lambeth Appeal takes its stand on the undeniable and all embracing fact that "God wills fellowship". It admits that no one group of Christians monopolizes either in theory or practice the whole truth, but that each group, out of its own sincerity and loyalty, has garnered treasures which should be placed at the disposal of all the Christian fellowship. It encourages a diligent search for unities.

My own conviction, formed by experience, is that such unities can be discovered by devotion rather than discussion. In every community why could there not be such a day of retreat as the pastors of Buffalo recently held? Those of us who shared in it are still under its spell. The day was spent, under selected leadership, considering fundamentals and weaving them into worship. As a result we have a body of pastors resolved to build up mystical fellowship with God in Jesus Christ by prayer and meditation. We are endeavoring to do this in the spirit of the great Christians of history in order that the knowledge of God may be the controlling passion of our lives. Each day at a given time, to be observed as far as possible by all, as we move into Communion with God, we retain the sense of fellowship with one another.

Such fellowship is the starting point for all other fellowship. We cannot reach the fellowship of worship as a conclusion unless we accept it as a beginning. It will grow by use and only by use.

The Lambeth Appeal has been misunderstood. Its first aim is to secure unity of faith and only when all else has been settled to proceed to order. Faith and order are not on the same plane. Faith precedes order in time and importance. Order is a means by which faith is protected and propagated. The making of the Ministerial office available for the whole Christian fellowship is a great and desirable goal but it cannot be reached as a preliminary step or per saltum.

I would recommend a careful study of the Lambeth Appeal in every community, believing that the local ministers would welcome the proposal.

2. The World Conference on Faith and Order has reached a stage where it must be localized or else lost. Its object is through frank and friendly fellowship to discover just what is the Church position of each Communion believing in our Lord Jesus Christ as Incarnate God, and to seek for reconciliation of differences. It would be farcical to attempt a world conference of representatives until the Christian world in local groups had already met in fellowship and with single-minded purpose and thorough consideration covered the ground. The two preliminary subjects for conference are the nature of the Church and the place of a Creed in the Church. These having been dealt with, we are prepared to go on to the consideration of the sacraments and the ministry.

The Bishop of Rhode Island has accepted the position of Chairman of the Executive Committee of our Commission with the special duty of promoting local conferences. He has as his able assistant the Rev. Floyd Tomkins, Jr. We are beginning the work in our Diocese by making this subject the chief one at our Annual Convention this year. It will find place on the programme of our County Conferences and we trust that the clergy will further the project by arranging and putting through conferences in their respective communities. We cannot look for immediate results but the dissemination of information and the fact of fellowship are adequate results in themselves.

3. The third great endeavor toward unity is the Universal Christian Conference on Life and Work, of which the originator and promoter was the Archbishop of Upsala. It aims to manifest Christian unity by works—"the application of the principles of Christianity to social, industrial and international affairs”.

Here again the universal is dependent upon the local. There is less room for divergent opinions. It is a chief business of every pastor to study, to know, and to grapple with the social and industrial problems of his own town. The combined and intelligent Christian influence in the past has been and in the future must be the chief conserving and reforming force in society.

Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York City, is the Secretary and literature can be secured through him.

I shall say nothing further on this subject but conclude by reminding you that there is no greater service you can render your age than to make continuous, intelligent efforts to foster mutual understanding and goodwill among Christians, beginning in your own community.

I am not fearful of expecting too much of our clergy and people. The great danger is in looking for and asking too little. A parish church with a local outlook is a fungus and not a church at all. Its only salvation rests in its acceptance of an outlook as wide as the world. Then and only then will Christ find room in it to dwell. Then and only then will its members know the meaning of His power and presence in their personal lives and their community.

“It fortifies my soul to know
That, though I perish, Truth is so:
That, howsoe’er I stray and range,
Whate’er I do Thou dost not change.
I steadier step when I recall
That, if I slip, Thou dost not fall.”

When I approach the matter of the Church Service League again I find myself in the sphere of fellowship—this time fellowship within our own Church. The League has come into being of itself, out of the inherent need of the Church’s life. It is still struggling for expression and not certain of its final embodiment. Its aim is that desired by every pastor and every Christian—that the whole task of the Church shall be accepted and met by the whole body of the people in a fellowship of life and effort. We have to admit that as things are, it is only a fraction of our members who render the moral and spiritual responsibility of the Church a maximum of service, and who finance the Church’s business by proportionate giving. I am convinced that in both respects this is largely due to ignorance of the need and not to niggardliness and indifference. Just as it is not the financial resources of the people that are taxed but their imperfect conception of gifts worthy of the treasury of God, so it is not their time and strength that are strained by the call to service but the disproportionate distribution of their time and strength which in many cases needs reallotment.

Every member of this Church by virtue of the fact is a member of its missionary body. This is so by canon but antecedent to that by the eternal laws of the Church's life. In the same way every member of this Church by virtue of the fact is a member of its service body. The League is an attempt to realize this just as the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society and the Woman's Auxiliary have been and are organized endeavors to realize the missionary character of the Church.

Every member of the Church, whether he admits it or not, is as bound to bring his Christian principles to bear on the problems of the Church in one or another of its departments of service, as the citizen is to bring his gifts to bear on the problems of the community or the nation. I would say parenthetically this holds good in the matter of giving. The Church member is as much bound by common loyalty to give proportionately of his income to the Church, as in his role as citizen he is bound to give to the state. The difference consists in the fact that the Church member gives in terms of privilege, the citizen in terms of legal duty. One is left free to do his part as a free will contributor, the other must do so under the threat of penalties.

The progress of the Church Service League is being presented to you in the Bulletins published under the leadership of the Church Service League Council for this Diocese. If the Council has moved slowly it is because we do not desire to superimpose the project. We need the counsel and the results of the experimentation of all the clergy and laity who are viewing the matter of service seriously. I beg of you the help you can give during the coming year. Certain it is that we all agree in desiring to develop the latent possibilities of service throughout the Church. We your Bishops depend on the help you alone can give us. It is not inquiry and added work that I fear. No, nor well reasoned criticism that aims to help. It is the silence of indifference, and the idleness of laissez faire.

We have been considering the Church as a family, with common interests and tasks. As such its first requisites must be unity of life and purpose and diligence throughout its whole membership in understanding service. We rejoice in the fact that the temper of unity can become the inner wealth of the individual Christian and of the various segments of Christendom at this very hour. Possession by anticipation is the soul of idealism and the high privilege of Christianity. Such a temper studies how to promote understanding through fellowship without trifling with conviction, how to share with others the best that it has, and how to find the place and work in the Church's life of the least and the most obscure.

Perhaps our most difficult duty today is to preserve unimpaired the completeness and beauty of God's promises and of the supernatural order. The common temptation is to lower standards to suit the findings of the times. Already Naturalism has besieged the Church, and, as I view it, Fundamentalism, fantastic as it is in some of its aspects, is an alarmed and extreme protest against the capitulation of the Church to the hostile attacks of naturalism and the misapplication of science and bald reasoning. Without arguing the subject, I wish to put myself on record as believing the Church to be supernatural in its origin and in its operation. The mystical is the supernatural. I agree "with many another recent or still living thinker belonging to the most various religious groups, races, avocations and temperaments,—that a certain monotony, dullness, oppression, besets much of the spiritual practise and principles of many religious persons; that these qualities are fatal to the charm, freshness and freedom essential to religion at its best; and that, not the contrast between sin and virtue, but the difference between Nature and Supernature can furnish a solid starting point for the recovery, the resuscitation of religion, as by far the richest, the most romantic, the most entrancing and emancipating fact and life extant or possible anywhere for man."

The mystery of God's being and His nature beyond all explanation, are the source of true freedom. A God capable of explanation is a lesser man. He is not a God at all but the creature of the human mind. I speak as I do because I believe the crying need of the day in every hamlet and city of the globe is a fuller knowledge of God as known and revealed by and in Jesus Christ, and in consequence a deepened belief in the visible Church as the lowly cattle shed made divinely glorious by the Presence of the Incarnate One who chooses therein to dwell, and to use as His throne room on earth.

I have long got unspeakable comfort and help from three considerations concerning the Church. In the first place, our loyalty to the whole Catholic Church can be so firm and sincere that our Christian life, though set in sectarian surroundings, may live and love and move in the entire mystical body of Christ. This is no fancy of an imaginative mind, it is just the full acceptance of the freedom belonging to every child of God. Secondly, I cannot think of the Ministerial Commission as being sectarian and partial. As I interpret it, it is from the one Source whence such a Commission can come, Jesus Christ. Therefore it is for universal use. No judgment by an exclusive Communion that it is invalid even disturbs me. Nor does it need any other test than that to which it has been put in its exercise to determine its authenticity. Thirdly, it is the smallest portion of the Church that is broken and imperfect and marred. Lying just beyond the confines of our few days on earth, stands the Church of the growing majority, our own Church, of which we here and now are part, the "glorious Church not having spot or wrinkle or any such thing," but "holy and without blemish." There—and 'there' is part of 'here'—is our perfect Church, the immaculate bride of Christ, ours now by anticipation, ours in the near tomorrow by virtue of the swift movement of time.

Bishop Suffragan's Address

In presenting this, my first address to the Diocesan Convention, I want to express to my Brethren my grateful appreciation of their uniform kindness and loyal support. It has been a blessed privilege to co-operate with you in the larger field of service, to share the intimacy of your homes, to see on every side the quickening life and progress in good work being done, and to note the manifest desire on your part to keep step with the broader plans and vision of the Diocese and the general Church. I want also to say for you that which I know you would have me say that we are united in our purpose to follow with loving and loyal hearts the inspiring leadership of him whom we honor as our Diocesan Leader.

I am to confine myself to one phase of our work namely, the Rural Problem of the Diocese with its urgent appeal and its great opportunity. By the "Rural Problem" we mean not only the home on the farm, but also the small communities of which there are so many in this Diocese.

Within a single generation the life of these communities has been radically changed. Increased facilities of transportation, new standards of living, and the lure of the city especially during and since the war, have brought us face to face with a new frontier. To deal adequately with this we must meet the situation with a larger vision and a more serious attempt to learn where evil lurks and good may be brought in. The Grange and the Farm Bureau have taught the farmer the folly of feeding good grain to scrub cattle. In like manner we are beginning to realize that increased prosperity is a blessing only as it is employed to support human life on a higher plane of existence. It is now recognized by many of the profound students of American civilization that unless something is done to strengthen the religious education of the young of the country, and a deeper moral consciousness, our country is in danger of becoming materialistic with the history of those nations which developed a one-sided civilization to warn us of that danger. This can better be appreciated when we consider that nearly one-half of the population of our country is a rural one; and that 25% of the annual increase of our larger centers is composed of those who have left the farm and the smaller communities for the lure of the city. Many men now holding positions of great responsibility and trust in the city began life as farmer boys. We need a more thoroughgoing and vital appreciation of the value of religious education, coupled with the inadequacy of the Church School to promote it, while in that regard the home has broken down. In this connection some general statistics of our Church Schools are illuminating. A survey was recently made by the Diocese of New Jersey of all available data regarding Church Schools. The report covers sixty-six dioceses.

| Under 200 enrolled— | 3,400 |
| 200—500— | 304 |
| Over 500 (9%) | 27 |

New Jersey has 160 schools, 99 under 100.

Diocese of New York, 60% under 75.

|------------|----|
| Under 100— | 64 |
| 200— | 82 |
| 200—400— | 21 |
| Over 400— | 2 |

Total pupils enrolled—11,465.

Gain 1921—1922—1,249.

We believe that the next few years will see a widespread advance in co-operation with the public schools in week-day religious education. Gradually we must become equipped to meet the changing conditions.

Another problem which confronts us is the duplication of competing Protestant bodies resulting in over-churched communities. If the World Conference on Faith and Order is to have any influence in the future of religious life in our rural communities, the day is not far distant when we must have our part in framing an adequate answer. When we consider that in many communities of five hundred or less we have three Protestant churches, none of which is able to support a resident minister on a living wage; and communities of one thousand or more have as many as seven Protestant bodies with church buildings, we can perceive the only solution to this part of the problem which is bound to come. Again the over-churching of some communities finds the opposite extreme of neglect in others, where many families never receive the personal attention of any minister. To solve this problem a thorough survey of communities must be made.

Another problem which we must face is the maladjustment of church equipment in our rural communities. The old type of village church, with its one room for worship, and only incidental provision, if any at all, for religious education, belongs to an era that is gone forever. We can have adequate equipment to meet our Rural Problem only as we plan our buildings for a threefold program of worship, religious education and community service. The time is coming when this Diocese must include in its Forward Movement program the construction of such buildings in many places of our rural work. Today our clergy working in rural communities are grievously handicapped by this deficiency. They have the vision of service to be rendered, but are baffled by the maladjustment of their equipment or its total lack.

Another factor in the rural problem which imposes a serious burden on the Bishops is the inadequate financial support and the narrowness of vision the Church can render the community. This has heretofore resulted in offering the clergy such meager salaries that they were unable to live on an equality with those whom they serve, and to establish and maintain a minimum salary in the Diocese places upon us more and more the necessity of supplementing the salaries of the rural clergy from our Missionary Budget. We believe this to be a good business principle. Not every priest of the Church is fitted by sympathetic insight or experience for this type of work. Where one is found so qualified and willing so to serve he certainly deserves a worthy consideration at our hands. All honor to the clergy of our Diocese who spend their lives in serving the more difficult and to some the less attractive rural field. An itinerant system is bad, and occasional services of small value. The more modern concept of serving the rural community is inconsistent with frequent change. Theoretically, at least, the longer a Priest remains in the community he is to serve, the better he understands his people, and their special problems he can help to solve. But if he is to remain there with a contented mind it is our responsibility to see that his compensation and equipment are such as to minimize the lure of the city parish with its larger salaries, and its city conveniences.

This Diocese is doing pioneer work in solving the rural problem by establishing county units in Wayne and Allegany counties and placing at their heads men of outstanding ability and consecration and with training for their tasks. They are assisted by workers who have helped to establish the work in these counties on a firm basis, and serving the organized work under their care in these counties in a manner of which we may justly feel proud. We feel the plan has already passed the experimental stage with its demonstration of the ability to meet the needs so far as inadequate equipment permits, and with proper support encourages us to plan for the establishment of at least one more such unit in Genesee county during the coming year.

Christianity must have a new meaning for the rural community interpreted by the lives of those who, like the Master, go about doing good. The outlook is hopeful, but much remains to be done. Insofar as you help to provide the support and encourage the workmen we shall count it all joy to carry on.

In closing I would submit the following statistical report concerning my year's happy work:

Reports of Officers and Committees

(A) Report of the Standing Committee

To the 86th Annual Convention of the Diocese of Western New York:

The Standing Committee herewith reports its official acts for the year commencing January 1, 1922.

January 31, 1922. The meeting of the Standing Committee was held at Christ Church, Rochester, N. Y.

Present: Rev. C. Morton Sills, D. D., Rev. Charles A. Jessup, D. D., Rev. Charles H. Smith, D. D., Rev. Pierre Cushing, S. T. D. and Messrs. Albert C. Walker and Myron M. Ludlow, Jr.

The following presbyters: Rev. Charles D. Broughton, Rev. F. C. Lee, Rev. James Cosbey, Rev. John B. Hubbs, D. D., D. C. L., Rev. William Guy Raines, Rev. William R. McKim, Rev. Herbert L. Gaylord, Ph. D., Rev. George H. Ottoway and the Rev. John R. Harding, D. D. were nominated to the Diocesan Convention, in compliance with Canon 20, Paragraph 3 of the Canons of the Diocese to fill the vacancies in the Ecclesiastical Court of the Diocese caused by the resignations of the Rev. Drs. C. Morton Sills and Charles A. Jessup and by the removal from the diocese of the Rev. B. Talbot Rogers, D. D.

Present: The Rev. Dr. Charles A. Jessup, the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Smith, the Rev. Dr. Lewis G. Morris and the Hon. Selden S. Brown, George F. Plimpton, Eugene C. Denton and Myron M. Ludlow, Jr.

The Committee organized by the election of the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Jessup as President and Myron M. Ludlow, Jr., as Secretary, then adopted the following resolution:

RESOLVED: That the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Western New York desires to place on record their cause of deep appreciation of the long and valued services of the Rev. C. Morton Sills, D.D., as a member of this Committee and for many years the President. Dr. Sills' ability as a canonist, his sound judgment and his fairness and unfailing courtesy as a presiding officer are qualities which have made him, at all times, a marked example of what a Christian priest, occupying a position of such importance and responsibility, should be. His voluntary withdrawal from membership on this Committee creates a vacancy which it will not be easy to fill. He has earned the sincere esteem and affectionate regard of all his fellow members of the Standing Committee.

The following resolution was also adopted:

RESOLVED: That the President of the Standing Committee be requested to convey to Mr. Albert C. Walker the assurance of their regret that he has felt it necessary to retire after many years of faithful service from membership on this Committee. Mr. Walker's unflinching and constant attendance to his duties as a member of the Standing Committee has been beyond praise. His fellow members will long cherish the remembrance of their association with him in the discharge of those duties which the Church lays upon the Standing Committee of the Diocese.

February 13, 1922. The meeting of the Standing Committee was held at 388 Delaware Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

Present: Rev. Charles A. Jessup, D. D., Rev. Pierre Cushing, S. T. D., Rev. Charles H. Smith, D. D., Rev. Lewis G. Morris, D. D., Hon. Selden S. Brown, and Messrs. George F. Plimpton, Eugene C. Denton and Myron M. Ludlow, Jr. The Bishop of the Diocese and the Bishop Suffragan were also present.

Canonical consent was given to the election of a Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese of Alabama on the ground of "the extent of diocesan work."

A petition was received from the Church of St. James the Greater, in the City of Rochester, N. Y., for leave to sell a certain portion of their real property. On motion the petition was granted.

An informal conference was held between the Bishop of the Diocese, the Bishop Suffragan and the Standing Committee relative to the request of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ of America requesting Bishop Brent to undertake a Mission to Russia.

March 2, 1922. The meeting of the Standing Committee was held at the Genesee Valley Club, Rochester, N. Y.

Present: Rev. Charles H. Smith, D. D., Rev. Pierre Cushing, S. T. D., Rev. Lewis G. Morris, D. D., Hon. Selden S. Brown, Eugene C. Denton and Myron M. Ludlow, Jr.

The meeting was called on the requisition of the Bishop of the Diocese in conformity to Canon 54 of the General Canons of the Church and the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas the Bishop of the Diocese has asked the Standing Committee as his Council of Advice for its judgment on the proposed Mission to Russia as representative of the Federal Council of the Churches, and whether or not he would be justified in taking the time from the responsibilities of his office to head such a Mission; and whereas the Bishop has presented extended correspondence concerning the matter from a number of sources including the Rev. C. S. MacFarland, D. D., Secretary of the Federal Council of the Churches, the Hon. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, the Presiding Bishop, Bishop Gailor, Senator George W. Pepper and others, and related conversations with responsible persons recently out of Russia and conversant with the situation in the A. R. A., after prolonged deliberation the Standing Committee as such Council of Advice find unanimously as follows:

That we endorse the Mission as outlined and set forth by the Bishop and advise him to accept the request to act as its head, provided:

First: That it receives satisfactory assurance that, after the Russian authorities are fully apprised that the first errand of this Mission is one of sympathy and good will from the Christian Churches of America to the famine stricken Russians, they will permit its members to get into touch with Church institutions and deliver the message throughout the area in which the A. R. A. operates:

Second: That the spiritual aspect of the Mission be foremost, and that, incidental to it, there should be a survey of the work of the A. R. A. to aid the Churches in efforts to secure funds for future relief, and in the distribution of supplies:

Third: That the Mission be composed of at least three persons, and that Dr. John H. Finley in his capacity as Chairman of the International Committee of the Federal Council of the Churches be a member of the same; or, in the event that Dr. Finley is unable to serve, that someone of equal character and standing be elected in his place.

This advice is reluctantly given. Large interests are at stake which will be interfered with by the absence of the Bishop. It is given because the Standing Committee feel that this is a venture of faith and love and should be undertaken, but only if the character and interests of the Church are duly safeguarded.

May 10, 1922. The meeting of the Standing Committee was held at the Diocesan House, No. 237 North Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Herbert E. Rodwell as Deacon, and the canonical certificate was executed recommending the Rev. Herbert E. Rodwell for ordination to the priesthood.

It adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, an application was made to the Executive Council by Zion Church, Avon, that all of the assessments made by the Diocese against the church be remitted as the parish is unable to pay the same, and

Whereas, the Executive Council has remitted to Zion Church, Avon, all of the apportionments made in the Nation Wide Campaign against Zion Church, Avon, and has referred to the Standing Committee the matter of the unpaid Diocesan assessments, and

Whereas, this Committee has not the power, under the Canons, to remit any assessments, the matter being wholly within the jurisdiction of the Diocesan Convention, therefore be it

RESOLVED: That this Committee having considered the application, recommends that all arrears of Diocesan assessments or other unpaid Diocesan obligations of Zion Church, of Avon, to January 1, 1922, be remitted by the Diocesan Convention of 1923.

FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

Owing to the incomplete returns on a large number of the Parishes, the Department is only able to make an estimate of our income for this year. Exactly one hundred Parishes have reported to date. They had an apportionment of $272,000 and reported $163,000 (60%). The remaining Parishes represent an apportionment of $40,000 and we feel justified in estimating them at the same figure, 60%. This would make a total of $187,200. From past experience we can estimate 9% as a factor of safety representing uncollected accounts. This will leave a net amount of $170,000. The budget of the Diocese calls for an expenditure of $120,000. This Diocese, therefore, will be able to pay to the General Church approximately $50,000 which is just one-half of the amount required not counting any priorities. St. Paul's, Rochester, Dr. Goodwin, rector, has exceeded its quota by quite a percentage. St. Paul's, Buffalo, Dr. Jessup, rector, has also gone over the top by a small margin. These are the only ones of the larger Parishes that have succeeded. None of the others having reached three-quarters of their allotment. Of the next largest Parishes, only one, viz.: Church of the Ascension, Rochester, Rev. W. C. Compton, rector, with an apportionment of $1775, exceeded its amount by $200. Two or three of the very small Parishes with very small allotments, may yet reach their quota, but the Department is convinced that the total collections for the year on the present pledges will not materially exceed $170,000 in cash.

Regarding the business of 1922, we can say that all of our current bills for the year have been paid and we have some unexpired cash balances for appropriations heretofore made which have not yet required the money.

In the settlement of the matter of the Girls' Friendly Lodge we were able to provide for Bishop Ferris's salary and a few small matters which were left out of the former budget. We have also in our present emergency fund a sufficient amount to pay 10% on the principal of our present mortgages which are as follows:

|-----------------------------------|----------|
| On St. Phillip's Church..... | $10,000 |
| On See House..... | 9,000 |
| On the Church House property..... | 25,000 |

The Department urges an apportionment of $4,400 for that purpose as anything that strengthens the financial credit of the Diocese will have an inspiring effect upon the business men of the Church. The Department approves the advance in Bishop Ferris's salary from $6,000 to $8,000 per year and regrets that several other salaries cannot be increased.

In this connection we wish to express our appreciation of the untiring efforts of the Financial Secretary and it is through his efforts and business methods that we are able to present so good a report for 1922.

When the Nation-Wide Campaign Budget was prepared, it was realized that for the future support of the General Church the work of the Diocese must not be curtailed or hampered, therefore, a provision was made for payment to the General Church of the first $33,333.33, the payment of Diocesan obligations next, and then a payment to the General Church of an amount, which added to the first payment of $33,333.33 would equal the amount spent in the Diocese. All sums realized beyond these figures to be divided equally between the Diocese and the General Church. The same conditions obtain today. The healthy condition of the Diocese must be preserved and the Department of Finance, therefore, offers this resolution:

RESOLVED, That the Diocese of Western New York during 1923 continue the policy of payments to the General Church observed throughout the triennium of the Nation-Wide Campaign with the exception that its first obligation to the General Church be placed at $35,000.00 and be it further

RESOLVED, That the order of disbursements of 1923 receipts be as follows:

|---------------------------------|--------------|
| General Church | $ 35,000.00 |
| Diocesan Budget Items | 120,000.00 |
| General Church | 65,000.00 |
| General Church Priorities | 20,000.00 |

and that all further receipts be equally divided between the Diocese and the General Church.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK B. BAIRD,

Chairman, Department of Finance.

Report of the Financial Secretary

To the Rt. Revs., the Bishops and the Members of the Diocesan Convention:

The activities of the office of the Financial Secretary have not been lessened during the year ending December 31, 1922. The keeping of all accounts relating to the Diocese and the Church Pension Fund, the collection of funds and detail of disbursements, the preparation of financial statements, the distribution of Diocesan and General Church literature, other than "Our Diocesan Fellowship," attendance at meetings of the Executive Council, Department of Missions, Department of Religious Education, Department of Finance, Budget and other special committees, and attention to a mass of correlated correspondence, continue to be everyday duties. In addition to the regular issues of the Church at Work and Exchange of Methods, the office distributed some 200,000 pieces of Diocesan and General Church literature, including pledge cards, in preparation for the recent Every-Member Canvass.

My reports as treasurer of the Church Pension Fund and treasurer of the DeLancey Divinity School Income Fund are appended to the reports of the Church Pension Fund and the Warden of the DeLancey Divinity School, respectively.

During the past two years it has been my privilege and pleasure to visit many of the Parishes and Missions in order to give counsel regarding financial questions and accounting systems, and my services are always available for advice on such matters either through correspondence or personal visitation.

Respectfully submitted,

A. F. FREEMAN,

AFF:HCH

Financial Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLICITY

To the Executive Council of the Diocese of Western New York:

Gentlemen:

Your Department of Publicity herewith submits its Annual Report for the Convention year of 1922.

The personnel of the Department is as follows: Rev. Benjamin S. Sanderson, Chairman; Rev. George F. Williams, Messrs Myron M. Ludlow, Jr., Roy C. Kates and George D. Emerson. The addition of these two latter gentlemen has greatly added to the heretofore activities of the Department. They have acted as the diocesan representatives of the National News Bureau established by the National Council of our Church for the purpose of circulating information concerning the activities of our Communion through the medium of the public press. As the result of their efforts during the past year the newspapers of Buffalo and Rochester have contained information concerning our Church greatly in excess of previous years. Both of these gentlemen, having ready access to the newspapers stand ready and willing to help the clergy of their respective districts to a wider circulation of Church news and it would amply repay the clergy to get in touch with them.

The main work of the Department this past year has been confined to the task for which it was created, the preparation, publication and distribution of the official magazine of the diocese, OUR DIOCESAN FELLOWSHIP, the nine numbers (constituting Volume II) of which, are placed in the official archives of the diocese as our Exhibit.

The generous support of our Bishops and the numerous commendations from clergyman and laity evince the interest taken in our work and seem to indicate that the magazine has become a real asset to the diocese which none would wish to see discontinued. In fact as the medium of publicity in the diocese, to discontinue its publication would appear to be the height of folly. In previous Reports we have specified the various fields of usefulness covered in whole or in part by the magazine as an agent of publicity and it is needless to repeat them. To the Editor the convincing evidence of this is to be found in the fact that from month to month one and another of the established agencies of the diocese are making application to him for definite space to inform the diocese of their activities; to say nothing of the fact that from the initial number up to now he never has run out of 'Copy.'

The Department has used every endeavor to push the circulation as widely as possible. Investigation (by comparison with other dioceses) shows that in this respect we are far ahead of the average. Experience covering many years and a variety of methods has demonstrated that a publication such as ours can never expect to be self-supporting and we appreciate the fact that the needs of the Department are represented in the Diocesan Budget for 1923.

At the present time we have a subscription list of 3457, made up of 581 individual and 2876 Club subscriptions. Satisfactory as this may seem it is far short of what ought to be, or might be if the clergy of the diocese and more particularly members of Vestries would take a little more personal interest in helping us to attain the goal set by Bishop Brent "OUR DIOCESAN FELLOWSHIP each month entering every home in the diocese." In the average parish or mission the easiest way to reach this end would be for the Vestry to underwrite (at the Club rate of 50 cents per copy) an amount sufficient to supply each family with a copy each month. A few are so doing, may their tribe increase.

|---|-------------------|
| Received from individual subscriptions for year 1922..... | $ 275.00 |
| Received from Bulk (Club) subscriptions for year 1922..... | 1,138.75 |
| From sale of single copies, 1922..... | 20.80 |
| Total Receipts | $1,434.55 |

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL SERVICE

To the Bishop and Council of the Diocese of Western New York:

The Department of Christian Social Service desires to present to the Bishop and Council a resume of the Department's activities during the year 1922.

An attempt has been made to assist the parishes' social service committees to proceed more intelligently in solving their local problems by preparing a Diocesan Social Service Directory which has been placed in the hands of all the clergy and social service committees where such are had. This Directory lists all of the agencies in city, town and county throughout the Diocese and should be of considerable help in the solution of social service problems.

A syllabus of child welfare and one of Americanization has been drawn up and adopted by the Department and likewise placed in the hands of the clergy and workers.

The Department has sent representatives to all of the County Conferences to present the cause of social service and to stimulate interest in this field of the church's endeavor.

We have given courses in summer camps and schools and sent delegates to the National Conference of Social Work, to the Conference of Church Social Workers, and to the Provincial Synod.

Resolutions have been adopted with relation to the Disarmament Conference and in the interests of better moving pictures, commending one Buffalo manager who has placed himself on record as desiring to show only the best type of film.

The Department has assumed the responsibility for the budget of the Church Mission of Help, at present financed by the Church Extension Society, and will take over this work in January, 1923. We look for the spread of this Society's work in Rochester and throughout the Diocese.

A Committee has been appointed to confer with the Bishop concerning the better co-ordination of work in the hospitals and institutions throughout the Diocese.

The Department has suffered seriously by the illness of its chairman, the Rev. Dr. Tyler, whose return to the Diocese is eagerly awaited.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES ROGER ALLISON,
Chairman.

ALFRED SCOTT PRIDDIS,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The Department of Religious Education begs to submit to the Executive Council a report of its activities for the past year.

Five meetings of the Department have been held with an average attendance of 8 members. At the beginning of the year the Executive Council having reorganized the Department with the following membership: Rev. Dr. Jessup, Rev. Alfred Brittain, Rev. J. W. Denness Cooper and Mr. Harper Sibley, there were added to its number Rev. G. S. Burrows, D.D., Rev. Murray Bartlett, D.D., Rev. W. C. Compton, Rev. C. C. Bentley, Mr. A. F. Freeman, Mrs. Kingman Robins, Miss Lucy G. Arnold, Mrs. B. G. Tallman, Miss M. Bacon. Ex-officio members were: The Right Rev. C. H. Brent, D.D., The Right Rev. D. L. Ferris, D.D., Rev. W. A. R. Goodwin, D.D., and Rev. Samuel Tyler, D.D.

At the November meeting Miss Bacon tendered her resignation from the Department which was regretfully accepted.

The Rev. Dr. Jessup was elected Chairman, Mr. Harper Sibley, Vice-chairman, Rev. Alfred Brittain, Treasurer; Rev. J. W. Denness Cooper, Secretary. Mr. A. F. Freeman was elected Treasurer of the DeLancey Divinity School Income Fund.

As Trustees of the DeLancey Divinity School, your Department has given its approval to the movement having for its object the recognition of the DeLancey Divinity School as an authorized educational institution of the Province of New York and New Jersey. Formal action has been taken by the Provincial Commission on Religious Education and the Synod of the Province, whereby the DeLancey Divinity School has been recognized as an authorized Educational Institution of the Province of New York and New Jersey on condition that Chapter 288 of the Laws of 1899 be amended so as to include on its Board of Trustees, in addition to the Board of Religious Education of the Diocese of Western New York, a person to be elected annually by the Synod of the Province of New York and New Jersey.

The Rev. Cameron J. Davis has been elected by the Synod as a trustee of the DeLancey Divinity School under the terms of authorization of Educational Institutions of the Province.

On nomination of the trustees, the Rev. H. C. Whedon has been appointed by the Bishop of the Diocese to succeed the Rev. G. M. Irish, resigned, as a lecturer in the school.

Steps are being continued through a special committee to secure from the Trustees of the Parochial Fund of the Diocese a declaration that in view of the investment of school funds in the property known as 237-B North St., Buffalo, the school is to have the use of said property rent and tax free for residence and school purposes, and a statement that in case of the sale of said property a sum equal to the investment of school funds in the property shall be returned to the funds of the school.

Two new departments have been created in the school, one in Pedagogy and Missions, and the other in Music.

On nomination of the trustees, the bishop of the diocese has appointed the Rev. John L. Peckham to the chair of Pedagogy and Missions, and the Rev. Frank Damrosch to the Chair of Music.

The warden has been authorized to issue a new edition of the school catalogue.

The personnel of the Department being practically the same as last year, the heads of Standing Committees were retained, the Department between meetings, functioning through these committees and the Educational Secretary, he being also an ex-officio member of the Committees, and the executive officer of each.

The outstanding features of the Department's activities have been as follows:

Teacher Training: The Buffalo Normal School has continued its Christian Nurture Courses in affiliation with the Community School. The Department appropriated $300 towards the activities of the school. About 60 pupils are enrolled, which is by no means commensurate with the advantages to be derived from it. The Department would urge the clergy to consider the necessity for trained leaders in our Church Schools and the benefits to be derived from enrolling the teachers in this School.

In Rochester the Secretary has brought about a like affiliation with the Community School of that city and most of our schools are represented in the Christian Nurture and Background Courses. By resolution of the Rochester Clerical Association the Secretary is made entirely responsible for the conduct of the School. He has gathered together a faculty of the best leaders the city has to offer and the Department looks for the development of a most successful school.

Institutes have been held by the Secretary for the teachers and workers of Wayne and Steuben Counties, at Sodus Point and Corning respectively. Courses were given in Pedagogy, Christian Nurture, Principles and Application, Church School Service League Principles together with hand work demonstration and work with Young Peoples Organizations.

Many of our Church School workers attended the Geneva Summer School. Many more should do so. The School offers unusual advantages, and the parish that fails to send its leaders to Geneva is missing one of the best opportunities for training offered by the Church. A second summer school is being conducted by the Province at Princeton and the Secretary is on a committee which is considering the establishment of a third this coming summer.

The Secretary was elected by the Synod as a member of the Summer Schools Committee of the Province and together with Bishop Ferris, Dr. Goodwin and Mrs. Robins is a member of the Governing Board.

Undoubtedly the teacher today is better equipped for his office than ever before, and the Parish is backward indeed that does not avail itself of one or more of the many opportunities for training which are offered by the church in this diocese and province.

The manual of family prayer put forth by the Department has again been revised and reprinted. It has had a wide circulation, not only in this diocese but all over the United States. Through the Secretary, the Provincial Commission on Religious Education has approached the Department looking to a possible combining of its book of "Prayers for Everyone in the Home" with our own manual.

The Church School Service League is steadily winning its way into the parishes of the diocese, and more and more of our boys and girls are being trained in and given an opportunity for service through this medium.

For the benefit of parishes which desire information, instruction or help of any kind in the principles and methods of the league, the department is ready to send representatives to furnish these. The C. S. S. L. has on hand an exhibit of handwork and is prepared to demonstrate it in any parish. The League has begun the publication of a bulletin, in connection with each "Block" copies of which may be had upon application. At the time of the Portland Convention, the Educational Secretary was in attendance upon a series of conferences of League leaders from all over the country and acted in the capacity of Secretary. He is also the head of the Provincial committee of the League. Full information may be obtained from his office.

The Birthday Thank Offering gathered under the auspices of the League from the boys and girls of church schools, was presented at Portland, Western New York having the fourth largest contribution of the dioceses of the whole Church. The Department would recommend that the offering be taken on the Sunday nearest the birthday of the offerer. The offering made in this manner is to be sent to the diocesan C. S. S. L. Treasurer annually at Whitsuntide, and will be presented at the triennial convention. Literature bearing on the thank offering may be obtained from the Secretary.

Week-day religious instruction in cooperation with the public schools naturally does not advance very fast, and yet we believe we are correct in saying that there are more points where it is given in this diocese than in any other in the church. At present the parishes so cooperating are: St. Paul's and Ascension, Rochester, Phelps, Hamburg, Dansville, Geneseo, Avon, Trinity and St. Peter's, Geneva, and possibly others, Batavia and the parishes of Lockport are about to begin.

Your Department would again urge parishes to consider the possibilities of this movement, to plan it for a term of years and not to neglect any community effort in this direction.

Daily Vacation Bible Schools are steadily increasing in number and here too our parishes should forward and combine with every community movement, and where there are no such schools a survey of the ground should be made and the community awakened to possibilities. The Secretary is head of the Committee having this in charge and will visit parishes and arrange cooperative meetings looking to the establishment of such schools.

The Committee on Student Work again circularized the diocese asking for the names of students away from home in institutions of learning within or without the diocese, these to be sent to the bishop and to pastors in college towns. It also requested the clergy to preach on the "Call to the Ministry" on the third Sunday in Advent, and to have a corporate celebration of the Holy Communion for all students at home for the Christmas vacation. The Unit of the National Student Council of the Geneseo Normal School has completed the second year of its existence. Among other interesting activities of the Unit is its monthly Corporate Communion with breakfast following.

The Secretary collaborated with the Educational Department of the Diocese of Newark in the Production of Lenten Story Material for the Church Schools. The field covered was Alaska; with the stories was furnished a map of Alaska with its missions, a picture of Bishop Rowe and a "cut" of his launch "the Pelican". There is no doubt that the Educational effect of these stories eventuated in a large increase of the Lenten offering from the church schools. The Department through the Secretary was also responsible for the promotion of the Advent offering which was designated for the purchase of Ford cars for our Diocesan missionaries. Here, too, although the offerings have not all been sent in, a large increase is seen. The boys and girls were intelligently interested and worked and gave with enthusiasm.

For the coming Lent, the Secretary is again working with the Diocese of Newark in the production of story material which will be based on our work in the Philippine Islands.

During the year four church school rallies have been promoted, two in Rochester and two in Buffalo.

The Department also had its part in the County Conferences, the Chairman, the Secretary, the Rev. W. C. Compton and Mrs. B. G. Tallman having charge of the Educational Work in the various centers.

Conferences of representatives from Young Peoples Fellowships and kindred organizations have been held by the Secretary in Buffalo and Rochester and a joint meeting of the two cities held at Trinity Church, Buffalo, resulted in a plan for a conference of representatives from all Fellowships of the Diocese to be held at St. John's Church, Buffalo, on February 24th and 25th. A rally of members of Rochester Fellowships was held in December at Christ Church at which the speaker was Miss Cornwall-Legh of Kasatsu, Japan. 275 young men and women were present. On the suggestion of the department secretary a provincial conference of representatives of young peoples organizations was held in New York on January 17th. Miss Lambright and Mr. H. C. Kelleran were appointed by this department to represent Western New York.

Letters and bulletins relative to this form of activity have been sent to the clergy during the year.

As a result of several conferences between representatives of the leading religious bodies in Monroe County and the Rochester Federation of Churches a Council of Religious Education has been formed. Of this Council the Education Secretary, with the consent of your Council, has been made a member. This body has assumed responsibility for all cooperative work in Monroe County outside of that which is already being done by the Rochester Federation of Churches.

With the authority of your department the Secretary has prepared and sent a questionnaire to all the clergy of the diocese. Replies have come in so slowly that the Department, at this time, is unable to present the statistics it had hoped to lay before you. The Department needs the information for which it asks. It would therefore request those who have not made their returns to do so.

During the year the Department has been represented by its members at various meetings held outside the diocese. The chairman and the secretary were present at a meeting of Leaders in Religious Education held in New York under the auspices of the Provincial Commission. Mrs. Rossiter Seward and the Secretary were the Departments representatives at the C. S. S. L. Provincial Conference in New York. The Secretary on behalf of the Department was present at a conference of leaders at Chicago called by the General Department of Religious Education of the National Council. He is also a member of the executive committee of the New York State Sunday School Association, President of the Livingston County Association and Secretary of the Provincial Commission. During the year he has attended 53 meetings in the interests of Religious Education. As an evidence of the activity of his office there have been sent out 2966 pieces of mail.

The Department would express to the Executive Council its appreciation of the spirit of Cooperation which it has found on the part of the clergy and leaders of the Diocese. Without this, of course, we can do nothing, but if the clergy will respond to the leadership of the department and at the same time give us the benefit of their experience in the field we are sure that Almighty God will make us an ever increasing power for the Education of his People in love and service, for the upbuilding of His Church, and the extension of His Kingdom.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES A. JESSUP,
Chairman.

J. W. DENNESS COOPER,
Secretary.

De Lancey Divinity School

REPORT OF THE WARDEN

To the Board of Trustees:

The School is doing well. Lecturers and students are happy in the work and the interest is encouraging. Courses are carried on, as during the last four years, in the two Departments,—The Preparatory and The Theological. In the former most of the instruction is given by the Warden, in the latter by the lecturers appointed to their respective subjects and by the Warden.

In the Theological Department there are students in each of the three classes, as follows:

Middle Class: Rev. Arthur L. Gaylord, Charles J. Burton, Sigfrid W. Sundin, Beecher Rutledge, John Dennis, Levi W. Lunn, Leslie F. Chard.

Senior Class: Rev. Edward S. Tabor.

Of the above named students, Beecher Rutledge, John Dennis, Leslie F. Chard, Norman Godfrey and Earl Wentz are pursuing studies also in the Preparatory Department.

Three students are pursuing studies privately, under the direction of the Warden. They are Rev. H. E. Rodwell, Rev. C. F. Binns, Mr. G. W. Luer.

The Rev. Mr. Tabor, of the Senior Class, returned to the School this fall, after a few years' absence. He had completed two years of the course and is back for the third. He and Mr. Lunn are from the Diocese of Central New York.

Two men, whom we reported last year as students in the Preparatory Department, have ceased to attend. They are A. E. Baker who came but once or twice and F. W. Windhorst. One who was hoping to begin the course this year finds it impossible to be present at the lectures on account of a change in his business relationships. He hopes to be able to take up the work later.

The chair of Ecclesiastical History was made vacant by the resignation of the Rev. Dr. Rogers and his removal from the Diocese. It has been filled by the appointment of the Rev. F. M. Marchant to the post. He began work in February. Similarly, the chair of Church Polity and Canon Law was made vacant by the resignation of the Rev. G. M. Irish, at the time he resigned his parish at Lancaster. The Rev. H. C. Whedon has been appointed to this lectureship and assumed the chair at the beginning of the School year, in October. Each of the new lecturers is filling his place most acceptably.

The Bishop of the Diocese has arranged with the Rev. Frank Damrosch, Jr., to give a course of lectures in Church Music, to which not only the students but the clergy generally and their choir directors and organists are cordially invited. Mr. Damrosch begins his work January second, in the School Library, and will continue it each Tuesday evening of the School sessions. The Bishop has also arranged with the Rev. John L. Peckham to give a course of lectures in Religious Pedagogy and Christian Missions. He, likewise, will begin his work in January.

The Warden has received and expended, during the year, moneys as follows:

The School is indebted to the Misses Rochester, granddaughters of its founder, for a bust of Bishop DeLancey (which has been set in place against the west wall of the library), a set of the American Cyclopaedia, and about twenty-five other books; to the Rev. G. H. Gaviller for a set of Romaines Works; to Mr. L. F. Chard for four volumes on The System of Nature, by Mr. Mirabaud and one volume on Church Unity by C. A.

Briggs; to the Rev. F. W. Burge for a set of Studies in Church Decorations, by F. Arnold-Foster; to the Rev. G. M. Irish for a volume on Ministerial Priesthood, by R. C. Moberly and a volume of Notes on the Papal Claims, by A. Brinkman; to Mr. John Provost for a set of bound volumes of Harpers Magazines and three other books; also to the Rev.'s P. W. Mosher, B. S. Sanderson and F. W. Abbott for magazines placed on our reading shelves.

The proposition presented at the three last annual meetings of the Provincial Synod to make the School a Provincial institution has been finally adopted by the Synod of the Province of New York and New Jersey and now awaits consummation by securing from the State Legislature required changes in the charter. The Annual Synod of 1921 referred the matter of recognizing the DeLancey Divinity School to the Provincial Commission on Religious Education. The report of that Commission, made to the Synod last October, including the resolution presented and adopted, is as follows:

The DeLancey Divinity School, which has had a long and honorable career in the training of men for the Ministry seeks recognition at this session. Its headquarters are now in Buffalo, to which the students come for semi-monthly lectures. There is a Warden in residence and its Faculty is composed of parish clergy of recognized ability. The curriculum provides for a three-year course which covers the same ground as the usual full-time Seminary with remarkably good results. It has a distinguished list of Bishops and clergy among its alumni.

The School was founded in 1850 by Bishop DeLancey especially for men of mature years coming from business life and other ministries and its sphere of service was greatly increased by the merging of St. Andrew's, a similar institution in the Diocese of Central New York.

The Board of Trustees is the Department of Education of the Bishop and Council of the Diocese of Western New York, and it has an endowment of $75,000.00 for general funds and scholarships.

The documents accompanying the application are complete with the exception of the necessary change in the charter, which a committee has been appointed to secure. However, in order that immediate benefit may result from this Provincial relation, the commission has taken legal counsel and therefore, recommends that the School be tentatively received and a trustee elected according to a resolution appended to this report.

*Resolutions

RESOLVED, That, in accordance with a resolution passed by the Provincial Commission on Religious Education, at a meeting held November 3, 1922, viz.: 'That the application of the DeLancey Divinity School be recognized as an Authorized Educational Institution of the Province of New York and New Jersey be approved on condition that Chapter 288 of the Laws of 1899 be amended so as to include in its Board of Trustees, in addition to the Board of Religious Education of the Diocese of Western New York, a person to be elected annually by the Synod of the Province of New York and New Jersey', and having in all other respects complied with the requirements for recognition as an authorized Educational Institution of the Province, the same be and hereby is tentatively recognized as an Authorized Educational Institution of the Province of New York and New Jersey, and that the recognition be complete when official notice shall be given to the Chairman of the Commission on Religious Education that the prescribed change in the charter has been made.

RESOLVED, That the Reverend Cameron J. Davis be tentatively chosen as Trustee of the DeLancey Divinity School to assume full status as legal trustee when the prescribed change in the charter of the School shall have been made.

It remains to make the most of the new position into which the DeLancey Divinity School is entering. Two plans have been considered: one to organize branch schools in the eastern part of the Province, the other to build a hall at 237 North St., Buffalo, which shall provide small apartments for the use of students and their families, coming from a distance. Nothing definite has been determined upon.

To the Bishops for their lively interest and wise direction, to the Trustees and Faculty for constant, consistent counsel and support, to the students for loyal attention and co-operation, to the Department of Finance of the Executive Council and to the Diocese for providing necessary funds to supplement our income, we are most grateful.

DeLancey, as we have said, is doing well. She is ready to do better as means and opportunity disclose themselves.

Respectfully submitted,

G. SHERMAN BURROWS,

Warden.

DEPARTMENT OF MISSIONS

To the Rt. Rev. C. H. Brent, D.D., the Rt. Rev. D. L. Ferris, D.D., and the members of the Executive Council of the Diocese of Western New York:

Gentlemen:—

Another year of solid things for the Missionary work of the Diocese having come to an end your Department of Missions and Church Extension reports as follows:

The work of the Diocese has been done under four classes. First, the work of the two Church Extension Societies in Buffalo and Rochester: Second, the work of the Associate Missions in Allegany and Wayne Counties; Third, the work done in distinctly Missionary groups, of weak Parishes and Missions: and Fourth, the work done by Rectors in carrying on the Mission or Missions near their Parish Churches.

The relation of the Department to the Extension Societies is not always rightly understood. These two Societies came into existence as incorporations resulting from the necessities of City Mission Problems, and they were financed at first by the Parishes in their respective cities. The rest of the Diocesan Mission field was left to the two Archdeacons. When the Executive Council came into existence, the Department of Missions displaced the Archdeaconries and united all Missionary work in one. The two Extension Societies, however, had a certain Corporate Existence of their own and owed their reports to their own Corporation officers. Nevertheless, since they looked to the Diocese along with every other organization for their financial support, just as soon as the Nation-Wide Campaign became a fact, their status was that of a branch of the Department of Missions, Free States, owing allegiance, but managing their own affairs. As such, the Department of Missions made them responsible for all work which was not otherwise cared for in their respective Counties and asked their Chiefs to take seats in the Department Meetings in Consultative capacity. This arrangement has worked well for the Missions, but not so well for the Church Extension Societies, since so thoroughly have these Societies done the Mission work in their respective spheres and so much has been found to be done, that they are loaded with Parish Work, and the Institutional work they were organized to accomplish shoved to the wall. The Department of Missions has tried to solve this difficulty both by granting automobile compensation for all journeys beyond the City limits, and by plannings to give extra salary help for a new worker in each of the two fields, whose duty shall be that of Parochial Missionary. The actual detailed work done by the Extension Societies will be found reported by them separately.

The work of the two Associate Missions in Allegany and Wayne Counties can be best judged by the following facts. In Allegany County the work has required the addition of two workers, a second Priest and a Deaconess. In Wayne County it has grown so as to require two new workers, also, a Priest and a Deacon. The results have been increased Confirmation Classes and renewed life in Parishes and Missions. It is too soon, however, to see more than the beginning of this new inflow of vigor. A close Survey of the Country-side in both of these Missions with the coming of Spring is to be made and we prophesy amazing results. Already the growth of the list of Church families discovered by the Isolated Survey recently started has been large, and this Survey has only touched the surface. We will find a large field just outside our doors which we never knew existed, through the intensive Survey to be made.

In the third group, the scattered Missionary ventures, there are many bright spots and many dark ones. The bright ones are the marvelous recovery of old Parishes and Missions like Nunda and Holley, under the careful work of energetic and consecrated men. The dark spots are found where we need men and money probably to start more Associate ventures. The Department has selected the field of Wyoming County and Genesee County for the next Associate venture. This must be done at the earliest possible date. Warsaw, Perry and Wethersfield Springs form one natural group, while Darien Center, Attica and Corfu form another. Provision has been made in the Priorities for this work. Another change in the line up of the Diocese in this class of work has been made by attaching Spencerport to Brockport and turning Mr. Rodwell loose with Holley as a center to work the Countryside around his Cure. Of all ventures of Faith we are undertaking this year, this one is based on the greatest of "Futurities". But we believe that Mr. Rodwell is equal to the task.

The work of the fourth class, that of Missions linked with Parishes presents the largest part of the Mission work and often the least conspicuous. In this class much of the work is a routine of faithful service under discouraging and often little-realized self-sacrifice. From East to West, the Diocese is dotted with Missions which receive care from the nearest Parish Church. Some of these Missions are old Parishes, Organizations which have run down to a point where independence is no longer possible. Some of them are places where the Church never grew beyond the first handful of people. Some are new ventures which offer us hope of independence when they are strong enough. It will not be possible to report on these places individually, but it may be well to list them here. Addison is reached from Corning, Wayne and Bradford from Hammondsport, Avoca and Savona from Bath, Canisteo from Hornell, Dresden, Himrods and Dundee from Penn Yan, Holcomb from Honeoye Falls, Forestville from Silver Creek, Little Valley and East Randolph from Randolph, Lewiston from Youngstown, Middleport from Medina, Brocton, Ripley and Mayville from Westfield, Friendship from Cuba, Fairport from St. Stephen's, Rochester, East Rochester from Palmyra, Caledonia from Scottsville, Franklinville and Boliver from Olean, Shortsville and South Phelps from Phelps, Sinclairville from Jamestown, Spencerport from Brockport, Bushnell's Basin from Pittsford, Hunts and Nunda from Canaseraga, Catherine from Montour Falls, Perry from Mt. Morris, Lackawanna from St. Jude's, Buffalo, Piffard from Genesee, Stafford from LeRoy, Brookside and Olcott from Grace Church, Lockport, Darien Center, Attica and Wethersfield Springs from Warsaw.

Not all of these stations, Missions and Aided Parishes are at present receiving help directly from the Diocese, but in most cases automobile compensation, or salary help, or building repair help or all three come through Diocesan channels. It is, perhaps, harder to gauge this kind of work than any other. In many cases the real need is something which cannot be supplied under the present grouping.—more morning services, resident clergy and intensive work. What the Diocese must have is men, and money to put them at work in the opportunities presented. This is no criticism of those now struggling with the problem. In most cases they are spread out so thinly as to be able to do little more than touch the surface. In some cases distance is an almost insurmountable difficulty.

In all cases the work presents grave hardships nobly met, and the one solvent seems to be the help of more workers.

During the past year the travel policy of the Department has been enlarged to include more men and places. Briefly this policy is to supply aid for travel in such places and to such men as are in need of help to be anywhere near efficient, and where the work cannot supply such help. The Diocese now owns a large number of automobiles. It also aids privately-owned cars. In addition to this it maintains a fleet insurance which it offers to all Parishes or Clergy owning cars whereby cheaper rates of insurance are made available to all who care to accept this offer. Mr. J. M. Prophet is acting as Chairman of this Committee and will welcome all applications. Address him at the Wisner Building, State Street, Rochester, New York.

The past year has been marked with gifts and loans to the Parishes and Missions in our care to aid them to make proper repairs. A loan has been granted Holley to help install a new heating plant in the rectory. A similar loan has been made Christ Church, Pittsford towards a new heating plant at Bushnell's Basin Mission. Gifts have been made Dresden and Avoca for repairs, and to the Parish at Catherine towards a new roof. A sum of $2500.00 has been set aside as a nucleus for a new Community House for the Cattaraugus Indians, besides a small grant to help paint and repair the two Churches on the Reservation.

Two Churches have been destroyed by fire, Sodus Center and Wetherfield Springs and the Diocese must aid their restoration.

The outlook for 1923 is one of great hope and grave responsibility. The impulse which has come to the work the past few years demands more funds or it will begin to wane. If this is not supplied now it must be within a five year period, or the Diocese will find its present expenditures partially if not wholly wasted. In that length of time, however, granted that the work is kept supported, there will be a great change in the financial status of many of our present aided Parishes and Missions. The work is beginning to return money to the Department. This means that we are reaching the people, and they are showing their appreciation of the faithful work done by the Priests of the Diocese.

Let this report conclude with a brief reference to the Department work as charged with the carry on of the Canvass for the Budget of the Diocese and the General Church. A regional organization was planned and perfected, which it is proposed to make permanent. Literature was prepared and sent out and speakers arranged for and provided at Mass Meetings. The Department placed all this part of its duties in the very able hands of its Chairman, Dr. Goodwin, whose removal means a loss to the Diocese which it will be extremely hard to replace. Whatever has been accomplished in the recent campaign by this Department comes back as a laurel for his wise leadership and judgment.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED'K CROSBY LEE,

Executive Secretary.

THE FORWARD PROGRAM
REPORT ON THE FORWARD PROGRAM RESPONSIBILITY OF THE DEPARTMENT OF MISSIONS

The Department of Missions in the Diocese of Western New York has considered itself corporately and individually responsible, under the Executive Council, for promoting within the Diocese the Forward Program of the General Church and of the Diocese of Western New York.

To this end, in consultation with and at the call of the Bishop, a conference of the Diocesan Clergy was held in Rochester shortly after General Convention, when the call of the Forward Program was presented by the Bishop and by those appointed by him to speak on the various aspects of the Program. At this meeting, acting upon previous resolutions of the Executive Council relative to a Regional Division of the Diocese, a plan of Regional Division worked out in conference with the Bishop-Suffragan and approved by the Bishop of the Diocese, was presented, and, for the purpose of the Campaign, was adopted. Under this plan the following Regional Divisions were made, with the persons named as chairmen and sub-chairmen for the various Regional Divisions:

DIVISION OF THE DIOCESE OF WESTERN NEW YORK

DISTRICT I.

Erie County.....Rev. Walter Lord, Buffalo, Mr. John Walker, Buffalo

DISTRICT II.

Monroe County.....
Rev. W. C. Compton, Rochester, Mr. F. Harper Sibley, Rochester

DISTRICT III.

Niagara County.....Rev. H. F. Zwicker, Lockport
Orleans County.....Mr. DeLancey Rankin, Niagara Falls

DISTRICT IV.

Wayne County.....Rev. John S. Carrie, Palmyra
Ontario County.....Rev. S. H. Edsall, Geneva
Yates County.....Mr. P. C. Staley, Geneva

DISTRICT V.

Schuyler County.....Rev. G. B. Kinkead, Corning
Steuben County.....Rev. M. G. Smith, Hornell

DISTRICT VI.

Livingston County.....Rev. Pierre Cushing, LeRoy
Wyoming County.....Mr. Julian Buckley, Geneseo
Genesee County.....Rev. Squire Schofield, Canaseraga

DISTRICT VII.

Cattaraugus County.....Rev. C. C. Bentley, Olean
Chautauqua County.....Col. W. F. Endress, Jamestown
Allegany County.....Mr. Clarence Willis, Bath

The plan worked admirably. It resulted in enlisting the wholehearted interest and co-operation of all those appointed as Regional Chairmen, who, in turn, secured the cordial co-operation of others within their districts.

By these Regional Chairmen, District Conferences were called, and the plan of the Campaign presented, resulting in the acceptance of the responsibility by the Rectors and lay-people of the various parishes concerned.

A Speaker's Bureau was organized in Buffalo and Rochester through which carefully selected laymen were instructed as to the purpose and nature of the Program, and as to the responsibility of the parishes in view of the Program. These Speakers were sent out to practically all centers of Church life in the Diocese, to speak at Mass Meetings and to help in other ways. In many instances they met with the Rector and Vestry; had conferences after the Mass Meeting with the Parish "Every Member Canvass Committee" and rendered invaluable service in helping to educate the Diocese as to its privileges and responsibility in the matter.

The Literature from headquarters was distributed and we believe, in many instances, if not in most instances, used to good advantage.

Within the Diocese our own Diocesan Committee of Publicity of which the Rev. Benjamin S. Sanderson was chairman in co-operation with the Diocesan Treasurer, Mr. A. F. Freeman, had printed and distributed, the "Budget of the Diocese Explained", "Answers to Questions on the New Church Program" and also a little pamphlet on the accomplishments of the Diocese in the Nation Wide Campaign, entitled "What the Nation Wide Campaign Did for us".

The Department believes that as a result of the endeavor there has been created a deeper consciousness of fellowship in the life and work of the Diocese, and that the Church in the Diocese is more fully educated as to the task of the whole Church.

Our conviction is that in view of the continued responsibility in connection with the Program of the Church, the thing most essential is to continuously and persistently seek to educate the membership of the Church in the Diocese. In our opinion this education should start in the kindergarten department of the Church School and should be planned to reach the entire membership of the Church.

We would again recommend Parish Group Instruction Classes as one of the most valuable means for the accomplishment of this purpose. We would urge that the Church, as soon as possible, get away from the unsatisfactory plan of concentrating its Educational endeavor to within a few weeks preceding the Every Member Canvass. It looks too much like a cramming for an examination to be held on the date of the Every Member Canvass. It is bad education and therefore bad Christianity. The periods of Lent and Advent should be used, in our opinion, throughout the whole Diocese as a period for the intensive educational development of the Church as to her mission and responsibility. It is further believed that the teaching and preaching of the clergy might well be related all through the year to the privilege and responsibility of the Church membership as revealed in the Church's program. This need not be, and should not be, primarily an appeal for money, but for consecration—consecration resulting from the appeal constantly made in light of the fact that the Church is indeed and in truth the Body of Christ which was the appeal made by St. Paul in the 12th Chapter of Romans.

In conclusion, we would earnestly urge that the principle of Christian Stewardship in its broadest applications should be insistently and continuously taught, until it is accepted as a Christian principle in the life of the Church.

We are not, at this time, prepared to make a report as to the financial results of the Campaign. We do feel, however, that the results obtained through comradeship in service, have contributed vitally to the enrichment of the life of fellowship in the Diocese and to the deepening in the consciousness of the Church of the sense of responsibility with reference to the Mission committed by Christ to His Church.

Faithfully submitted,

W. A. R. GOODWIN,

Chairman of the Department of Missions in the Diocese of Western New York.

DEAF MUTE MISSIONARY

To the Bishops and Executive Council, Diocese of Western New York:

Gentlemen:

The undersigned has the honor to submit the following report of work done as Missionary to the deaf during the year 1922:

In the Diocese of Western New York: Services were held as follows: At Batavia (St. James' Church), 1. At Buffalo (in the Chapel of the Diocesan House, except that the January service was in Trinity Church): Holy Communion, 5; other services, 6; total, 11. At Canandaigua (St. John's), 4. At Jamestown (St. Luke's), 7. At Lockport (St. Luke's), 3. At Rochester (St. Luke's), Holy Communion, 6, including one private celebration; other services, 10; total, 16. The missionary was able to attend several of the social gatherings of the deaf of Rochester, including the annual reunion of the graduates of the state school for the deaf and the annual picnic of the Mission, giving a lecture on one occasion. Westfield: One infant baptism, besides two other visits to make calls. Corning: One baptism (child), and one candidate presented to Bishop Brent for confirmation when he made his annual visitation to Christ Church, besides one other visit. Another deaf person was confirmed in St. Luke's Church, Rochester, by Bishop Ferris in June at a special service. Brockport, Dunkirk, Geneva, LaSalle, Niagara Falls, and some other places were visited for the purpose of making calls. Total number of services in the Diocese, 46; Baptisms, two, one infant and one adult (child); Confirmation candidates, two; marriages, none; Burials, none.

In his visits to the various places the missionary endeavors to call on, and talk with, as many of the deaf people as possible. These people are so scattered that it is impossible to reach many of them, and, in fact, it is difficult to make more than a rough estimate of the number of such people. As time passes and his experience in the field becomes longer, the missionary gets to know more and more of the deaf people and to know them better.

In the Dioceses of Albany and Central New York, the Missionary held 56 and 86 services, respectively.

In June the Missionary visited the Gallaudet Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf-Mutes (which is largely a Church institution), at Wappinger's Falls, N. Y., to attend the exercises on "Founder's Day"; he was there again in October to celebrate the Holy Communion, and again in November to accompany an aged deaf lady from near Batavia to the Home, taking advantage of the opportunity to celebrate the Holy Communion. On Saint Andrew's Day he took part in the advancement of a deaf man to the priesthood in Philadelphia. He also held or took part in services in Toronto, Ont.; Chicago, Ill., (twice); St. Paul, Minn.; Columbus, Ohio. (Reunion of the Ohio deaf); Doylestown, Pa., (Home for aged and infirm deaf); Washington, D. C., and Richmond, Va. Total services outside of his regular field, 11.

Grand total of services, 199. Miles traveled, 18,840.

HERBERT C. MERRILL,

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHURCH EXTENSION SOCIETY OF BUFFALO.

November 22, 1922.

Bishop Brent and Members of the Corporation:

The past year has been a busy one for your agents in the three-fold field of service assigned to us—the work in the missions of Erie County; the visitation of hospitals, homes and institutions; and the planting of the Church in new fields. We have covered a territory of nearly forty miles, ministering to nearly three hundred families in their homes and to several thousand patients in institutions. Invaluable help has been rendered by Miss Ann E. Prophet and the Rev. Raymond H. Fuller in the prosecution of our work; and it is with sincere regret that we announce the passing of these workers to other fields, Miss Prophet to organize the Church Mission of Help and Mr. Fuller to become curate at St. John's Buffalo. Deaconess Shaw continues to administer in splendid manner the Department of Religious Education and we hope very shortly to find new workers to fill our staff.

Since we last met in November some water has passed under the bridge and as your agent I feel called upon to sketch the activities of the Church Extension Society in the city of Buffalo and the County of Erie—the territory you have set as the field of our endeavor. We begin with an account of

THE MINISTRY TO THE MISSIONS OF THE COUNTY.

We believe that the story of our missionary work in Erie County merits the approval of all missionary-minded people. We have reported to you before our faith in the possibilities of St. Peter's Parish, Buffalo, less than two years ago in a very bad way, without an organized Church School and with only a few supporters. Today in this parish we have a school of nearly 160, using the Christian Nurture Series in every class, with 9 teachers, nearly all of whom are trained or in training at the Community Normal School, a newly organized Brotherhood of St. Andrew Chapter, a Church School Service League branch, a Junior "Gray-Cape" Choir, a Woman's Alliance, and nearly seventy families supporting the parish. The Church and parish house have been completely redecorated and the parish lately celebrated, in March, the fiftieth anniversary of the beginning of old St. Peter's Free Church—started in what is now Elmwood Music Hall in 1822—of which the present parish is a successor. We have sought to serve the community by constant use of the parish house and have had successful social gatherings almost every month. The annual picnic is a splendid community affair and this year about 150 friends and neighbors spent the day on Niagara River. The parish has been remembered by a gift of $500 in the will of the late Miss Emma Lovejoy whose interest in it was keen even during her last illness. On Easter-even we baptized 13 babies in this Church and a total of 16 during the year. The confirmation class numbered thirteen and included three married couples, all of the men being railroad workers and several of whom were baptised just before confirmation. St. Peter's has made a splendid effort to meet its N. W. C. obligations and, despite the fact that nothing was paid on its apportionment for over a year much of this obligation will have been met before January 1, 1923. The parish has given generously to the Near East Relief, China Famine Fund and other relief purposes, and the gifts to Hobart College were characterized by the chairman of that campaign fund, Mr. John K. Walker as "the most valuable" received by his committee. We feel that our faith in this parish's possibilities have been justified. A community with a public school of 1500 boys and girls surely needs the Church and its ministrations. We have done the extensive work here. Now we need the intensive cultivation which will require pretty much of one man's time and energy. But we cannot let this parish, so troubled by past unhappy experiences, fall into careless hands again. It needs the labors of a patient, consecrated, and ambitious pastor, one who can take folks as he finds them in a great railroading community and teach them to love the Church and the Christ she represents.

Epiphany Mission, Buffalo, presents at once an interesting problem and a rather unusual opportunity. Situated in the heart of a great Polish section it is one of two Protestant Churches among perhaps ten thousand people. We have a small company of devoted people and a good Church School. Our annual Harvest Home Rally here, as at St. Peter's, was a great success. A significant fact is that most of the fruits of the field used to decorate the chancel were actually grown by members of the congregation. These fruits and vegetables were later taken to the Church Home. That there is life here is evidenced by the fact that we baptized seven infants on one Sunday in the Mission and five more during the year. The congregation is quite willing, and anxious, to company with and serve their Polish neighbors and this is our opportunity to do a bit of Christian Americanization. We already have a number of these folks in the Church and Sunday School, and in our parish parties we are making friends of many more. The outstanding feature of the year's work in this mission, and indeed in all the work of the Society, is the Vacation Church School which we conducted daily during July. Here for three hours every day we had an average attendance of 106 boys and girls, with 150 on the roll, who came to study the Bible, to sing hymns, to hear patriotic talks, and to learn all sorts of handwork. We are continuing this work during the winter, holding classes on Saturday afternoons. Great credit is due the volunteer workers who made this school such a success—at a cost of about $.33 per pupil, including the outing on the last day. This is the second year for this School and our experience here, as well as at St. Peter's where we began a similar School this summer, convinces us that there is no more real way for a parish to serve the childhood of its neighborhood than through the daily, continuous contact over an entire month offered by such a school. The Episcopal Church is lagging far behind the other communions of Buffalo in this great field of endeavor and another year we ought to have at least a dozen such schools in as many parishes.

St. Paul's, Springville, continues to progress. This Church was closed for a year until 1920, when we began services and with the valuable assistance of the Laymen's League continue to hold them every Sunday, with a monthly celebration of the Holy Communion. We have baptized seven persons, presented four for confirmation and visited every family in the parish. Plans for remodeling the basement of the church for a parish room have been begun, and the building has been repaired by a new roof and exterior improvements and a new furnace has been installed. A good spirit pervades the parish and the Business Men's Club of the town has shown their good will by inviting me to address them at their September meeting.

St. Paul's, Angola, has come under our care during the last six months and we have given this important parish—strategically located for a splendid work among the summer colonists of that part of Lake Erie—what attention we could. We have had regular celebration of the Holy Communion and in September the parishioners burned a mortgage on this property of long standing.

The Indian Missions at Irving and Newtown have had our attention. With the Rev. Thomas H. Clough, deacon, and for years layreader and beloved servant of these folk, we have made a house to house visitation of our families on the reservation and arranged a number of services and celebrations of the Holy Communion which are being increasingly well attended. A memorial service was held in October on the reservation for the late Archdeacon Stanton whose last work was among the Indians. At Halloween we had a fine community gathering at the Irving end of the reservation when a group of Y. W. C. A. girls provided an entertainment under the direction of Mrs. Cursons-Kiepe, assisted by a group of Church women. Both the church buildings on the reservation have been painted outside and decorated within and lamps have been provided for the Newtown chapel and other necessary repairs made.

With one exception the Missions under our care have met their N. W. C. apportionments and will close the year out of debt. The combined offering for the Bishop's Discretionary Fund was $57.40. Our records show 223 families in these missions; 248 confirmed persons; 269 children. The staff made 557 calls in these homes during the year.

THE MINISTRY TO THE CHURCH.

Under this heading we would record certain services rendered directly to the diocesan administration of the Church.

I have acted as Secretary to the Department of Social Service, an office involving considerable correspondence and energy, and have represented this Department both as a representative at the National Convention in Providence and as a leader in the County Conferences so successfully held in Medina, Belmont and other places. I represented the Department of Christian Social Service at the Brotherhood of St. Andrew Camp Carleton for boys where several discussion groups were held early in the summer. I have answered many calls from various parts of the Diocese to lend our voice in support of some program or other. Our mutually pleasant, and we believe helpful, relations with the Laymen's League have well repaid the time we have been able to give to this most virile and active group of consecrated churchmen. As a member of the Department of Missions I have been able to keep in touch with the program for Diocesan Missions and report on the progress made in the Erie County Missions. Under miscellaneous items I would mention a vast number of individual acts in connection with isolated or unattached church people, involving nearly everything from seeking individuals out in obscure places to preventing a drink-crazed man from shooting his wife and getting him in a hospital for treatment.

I pass on to what appeals to me as the most important branch of our endeavor:

THE MINISTRY TO HOSPITALS AND INSTITUTIONS.

There are some two dozen hospitals and institutions within our territory, the combined population of which runs into at least ten thousand. This very fact makes it evident that here we have a tremendous job in itself. And the responsibility becomes the greater when we realize that in most of these institutions we are the only non-Roman Catholic clergy doing systematic bedside visiting. To add to our responsibility the Federation of Churches has made a fine gesture of Christian Fellowship and practical economy by asking us to represent the federated Protestant churches of Buffalo in our institutional work. Somehow we must measure up to this most important of tasks. One of the great shames of our churches is the way we have neglected our sick and afflicted. The sufferer who happens to be connected with a church whose pastor is in close touch with his people and who knows of his sickness and has the time to seek him out gets attention. But the vast number of people in the wards of our local institutions are not of this type. Some have a very tenuous connection with a church, some are strangers in the city, some have no church affiliation—but all are grateful for the ministrations of the Chaplain, and strangely enough rather expect that the Church will come to them in their distress. How often the Church has failed in the past one shudders to realize. It must not be so longer.

We have discovered over three hundred of our own Church people in the State Hospital and the story of their neglect in past years must make us uneasy. I think of one fine woman—who whenever I have seen her acts and speaks as sensibly as any of us—who, until our coming had not seen a clergyman for thirteen years. She is not an exception. We are cultivating all of these folk and many others in the wards of this institution—a task requiring all the tact and resources we can command—but also a bit of service of immense satisfaction to us. At Christmas time we were able to go through every ward in this great institution (of 2500 inmates) and give small gifts to a large number of forgotten or lonely patients. And to our surprise they were waiting for us at Easter and wondering if we would remember them. Through the generosity of several of our parishes we were able to do so—Grace Parish alone gave us several hundred Easter Baskets.

At the Municipal Hospital we have given particular attention to the children, arranging special services for them on Sunday afternoons with music by some of our own choirs and others. Mr. Fuller's interest guaranteed a Christian burial to one little fellow who died here and who otherwise would have been laid away without the prayers of the Church. We have provided entertainment for the children from time to time and on several occasions taken a load of these tubercular boys to the ball game—returning them to the Hospital without temperatures despite the "hot dogs" and "fresh roasted peanuts" surreptitiously handed them by well meaning if injudicious fans.

We are supplementing the fine work done at the County Hospital by the rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, doing bedside visiting in all the wards and seeking to bring sunshine into the gray lives of these infirm poor. We have baptized a baby of seven months and a woman of seventy here, and some between. The splendid work of our friendly visitors is particularly appreciated in the Bounty Buildings. Some of the most difficult and most gracious Christian work that I know of is done by a number of our volunteer workers whose very names are blessed by those they serve—indeed they have made a fine art of their avocation.

Among the other places served by us are the general hospitals, including the Homeopathic, Buffalo General, Deaconess, Sisters, Emergency, Marine, where we provide an Easter plant for every soldier and sailor, Ingleside Home, Lutheran Home, Crippled Children's Guild, and Home for the Friendless. At the last named place we prepared and presented for confirmation three old ladies whose combined ages totalled 222 years. Our own Church Home has been under the splendid care of Mr. Fuller, whose increasing duties at St. John's will make it necessary for us to take up this work again next month. The Laymen's League continues to carry on its fine work at the Jail, Penitentiary, Ingleside Home and other places.

We have begun a most important work in the J. N. Adam Memorial Hospital, our tuberculosis sanatorium at Perrysburg. Our attention was called by the supervising physician to the general neglect non-Roman Catholic patients were suffering. A compromise arrangement with the ministers in the nearest town provided for a Sunday afternoon service at the sanatorium by the various denominations. The brethren have been holding their services, collecting their fee, and shaking the dust of the sanatorium from their feet. Our Church at Gowanda is allotted two Sundays each month, and in the vacancy of the rectorate we have been able to undertake to build up a constructive religious program in this most important place. We have changed the hour of service from afternoon to evening. Visitors come in the afternoon and the patients—quite sensibly—prefer to see them. Services used to average about six, we are told, now we have nearly a hundred. Our congregation of sick folk has just voted $25.00 to the Joint Charities Drive from their offerings. We have arranged regular celebrations of the Holy Communion and are administering to nearly 50 patients in public and at bedside. We have started a Church School for the children. A former patient, a church-woman, now an employee, thanked me with tears streaming down her face for the little we have been able to do. For two years, she said, she had lain in bed with none but a Roman Catholic priest—thank God for him!—to minister to her. We shall not let this condition exist again.

A word before we leave this field of our work concerning the Guild of St. Barnabas for Nurses. Buffalo has never had a branch of this great organization, of which Bishop Brent was a chaplain in the early days of its development in America. We launched the movement with some hesitancy, particularly in view of the fact that a certain leader in the nursing profession had told us that such an organization could not be made to function in Buffalo. From the first the Guild has been a success—every meeting being larger than the last. This month there were 186 present from ten different hospitals—the Buffalo General alone sending 76 nurses. The meetings take the form of a devotional service led by the Chaplain, or one of the city clergy, and a social hour with refreshments. Girls of any church connection are admitted to membership after agreeing to follow the rule of life described in the Manual. A beautiful service was held in the Diocesan House on May 14th in memory of Florence Nightingale—the nurses themselves making the addresses. The Associates, who are Christian women interested in the nurses, render invaluable help in planning meetings and making friends with the nurses. We have discovered among our Associates one who had been an Associate in another city years ago, and have found in one of our city institutions a graduate of the first training class for nurses in America, who nursed Walt Whitman in his last illness and has written his biography, and who has been a member of the Guild for thirty years. At this time we have nearly 400 members of the Buffalo Branch—a valuable adjunct to our work in the local hospitals. The enthusiasm for the Guild among the nurses and superintendents is marked. One superintendent says “The religious services of the Guild are of great help to us and to our girls.” A nurse about to graduate says “I want to be a life member of the Guild. May I give you $25.00 and keep my badge?” Three members of the Buffalo branch have volunteered for nursing service in the foreign field—one is on her way to China.

THE MINISTRY TO THE COMUNITY.

We have sought to interpret our work in terms of utter self-giving to the needs of our city, believing that the Church people of Buffalo wanted to make their contribution to the great and perplexing needs of a community such as ours. With that conviction in mind we have endeavored to keep in sympathetic and active touch with the great social agencies of the city, and in every case the relation has been mutually helpful. We have much to give each other, as many experiences will attest. The C. O. S., for instance, has helped us solve some difficult family problems and we, in turn, have been called to lend ourselves to their needs in baptisms, funerals, and personal work. When the recent survey of the recreational resources of Buffalo was made by the City planning Committee, Mr. Chauncey Hamlin asked us to survey the churches and learn what they were doing in the matter of recreation. We discovered, what some of us had expected, that certain parts of our city, often those needing it the least, were over-equipped with facilities for recreation while those most needing them were sadly lacking in social centers and recreational agencies in the churches.

Our relations with that very unusual organization, the Buffalo Y. W. C. A., have been most cordial. I was asked to address a group of 125 college women, home for the Christmas holidays, at the Central Building, and spoke to the banquet of federated industrial clubs, 300 strong on the subject "The City Fourquare." I gave my vacation period to act as camp minister to two great gatherings of High School Girl Reserves at Silver Lake and Altamont, where I gave addresses on "Christian Fundamentals," led classes in Christian Social Service and taught leaders Bibles Classes. The Federation of Churches, Mission to the Jews, Erie County Sunday School Association, and many other city agencies have had our co-operation and help. Just now we are engaged in a movement of more than Diocesan interest—to raise the funds necessary to build a chapel for the patients at Craig Colony for Epileptics at Sonyea. This movement is to have the support of all the protestant churches of the State and has already been endorsed by our provincial Synod—as well as by all our bishops in the State.

In our

we are considering several projects. The Bailey Avenue property, purchased about a year ago has already increased considerably in value. There is some uncertainty as to whether this is the best site for new work in this section; but in any case the property can be turned over to secure a better location if this seems wise. In the growing Hertel Avenue section there is a promising field for new work and it would seem wise to begin something very soon. The promising field near the new University will be looked after by St. Andrew's parish with their splendid new plant.

In Williamsville, what promises to be Buffalo's great suburb in the next decade, we are planning a vigorous work. This is a practically new venture for the Church, what few old members of the congregation were left, having moved away. But we have a thriving new group which is organized and anxious to press forward. We have a fine corner lot in the heart of the residential section and plans have been drawn to erect a community parish house, the basement of which will be set apart as a crypt for worship. The great need of Williamsville is for a decent recreational center and this we hope to provide. In our own parish we have a fine Church School with all of our teachers coming in to the Community Training School to improve themselves. Members of the congregation have already pledged $1,000 toward the new project and as soon as enough more can be raised we shall proceed with the building. Already several memorial gifts have been promised by Buffalo church people and the prospect looks bright for a strong new piece of Church Extension work in this village.

A WORD ABOUT THE FUTURE.

Whatever else our aims may be we are endeavoring to show "the Church carrying the help and comfort of Christ our Lord to our brethren, and His, to whom He promises His special care because they are in greatest need, the sorrowful, the destitute, the burdened and those who often, through lack of human sympathy and help, have fallen in the way of Life." I, for one, cannot rest until we are doing the job thoroughly. Our task is three-fold—the city mission program, the county mission ministry, and the work of church extension. There is everything to be said for centering these three types of activity in one agency—but we must provide sufficient workers to do the job—and they must be the best trained and most consecrated men available. We are promised an adequate budget for the coming year. We shall need it. This past year we have had no funds for relief work in our institutional cases—except what has come in the way of a few vagrant wedding and baptismal fees, while the chaplain of one hospital on Blackwell's Island reports several thousand dollars spent on relief work.

We are but laying the foundation for the future and we must build strong. I would recommend most heartily the little book, "The City Mission Idea" (Jeffreys,) to all our officers and friends. There is a picture of the genius of this movement which it is important for us to get. We have open before us a field of endeavor which, if we will, we may occupy to the glory of Our Lord and to the blessing of this branch of His Church.

For those interested in statistics we present here a statement of our activities in figures:

REPORT OF CHURCH EXTENSION SOCIETY OF ROCHESTER
ANNUAL REPORT

Rt. Rev. President and Members of the Corporation of the Church Extension Society of Rochester.

Brethren:

It seems well at the end of our fourth year and in the presence of several new members of the Corporation to again define the object and policy of our Society.

Need we remind you that the Church Extension Society is your arm commissioned to reach out to the Unchurched and Forgotten, the Straying and Sinful, the Destitute and Friendless, to show Christ's Love and Remembrance of them in helpful service.

That under the Act of Incorporation the Rectors and two laymen from each city Parish met for organization at the Genesee Valley Club, April 20, 1918.

That on the first day of June the By-laws governing the Society were formally adopted. A Board of Trustees and a City Missionary were elected June 20, 1918.

That the Corporation is composed of the Rectors and two laymen of Incorporated Parishes in the City of Rochester. The two laymen elected annually in the month of October, holding office until their successors are elected.

The work of the Society has developed along two lines:

- I. The Ministry of Church Extension.
- II. Ministry to the Institutions.
 - (1) A well defined policy has marked our work of extending the Church in the newer parts of the City.
 - (A) It is the policy of the Church Extension Society of Rochester to found Church Schools and schools of weekday religious education in sections of the city of Rochester and County of Monroe at centers not nearer to any existing building used for Church School, or community purposes than one mile radius. The reference, of course being to building owned or used by the Protestant Episcopal Churches.
 - (B) It is the policy of the Society whenever a sufficient number of persons shall demand or wish regular Church Services to refer them as petitioners to the Bishop of the Diocese, the Society in no way being responsible for the maintenance of such services so far as its City Missionary and Staff shall be concerned, but that additional lay or clerical supply which may or may not be under the direction of the Church Extension Society.
 - (C) Whenever property shall be used for Church Services and a building erected, the persons in that neighborhood shall be expected to purchase the land, if so owned from the Society. The funds thus derived shall revert to either the general treasury of the Society for current expenses or be added to a fund, the interest of which alone may be used for the purchasing of new sites.
 - (D) A kindergarten may be maintained by the Society at points nearer than one mile radius but all efforts to maintain Church Services at nearer points shall not be recognized unless with the consent of the three neighboring parishes.

I. Browncroft.

As an antidote to continuous Institutional work, we early conceived the idea of dealing exclusively with children in Kindergarten centers in all the newer parts of the City. Browncroft, our first venture, had its beginning with seven children in the summer of 1920. You are already familiar with our renting the sitting rooms in the old saloon at the corner of Atlantic Avenue and Winton Road, then of our taking over the whole building, then of our purchase of three desirable lots on the opposite corner. By January of this year, Browncroft had developed into a regularly organized Mission and so received by the Bishop under the name of St. Matthew, having an enrollment of 100 children and 40 communicants. The Children's Lenten offering amounted to $148.00, and the older people gave $75.00 to the N. W. C., this in addition to paying several hundred dollars towards the maintenance of Services and with nearly a thousand dollars on hand.

Mr. Beach has organized a children's choir. An Altar Guild and Auxiliary have been at work for two years. Plans have been drawn for a Church School Building. Bishop Brent visited the Mission on Sunday October 8th. At the close of the service he broke ground for our new Building. Funds are now being raised and we expect to begin work early in the Spring.

2. St. Simon's Mission is the second Kindergarten development. Its work was begun two years ago in Mother Dorsey's Home for Dependent Colored Children. Mother Dorsey is a leader among her people. It was at her suggestion that we made a census and discovered twenty-five families belonging to our Church, many from Geneva, many born and brought up in the Church of England. At the invitation of the Rev. W. W. Jennings we gathered these people and their friends in the Church of the Epiphany on Sunday nights. In February this year they petitioned Bishop Brent for recognition as a Mission. The Canonical officers were appointed and an appropriate name chosen.

On Whitsunday Bishop Ferris confirmed a class of twenty-five adults in Christ Church. Mr. Cook has organized a choir. A branch of the Girls' Friendly Society, Women's Auxiliary and Brotherhood of St. Andrew's have been organized. The Church School meets in our office on Sundays at eleven. Bishop Brent made his first official visit on Sunday, October 8th. Many fraternal organizations attended the service. The uniformed Order Knights of Pythias acted as an escort to the Bishop. A spirit of friendliness and co-operation has characterized our relations with the people of the Church of the Epiphany. Sunday, November 26th, the day of the every member canvass, the people of the Mission served a dinner for seventy-five Epiphany canvassers, making it possible for them to start out directly after Church, delaying their own canvass until the following Sunday. With a self imposed quota of a thousand dollars for current expenses and five hundred for the Forward Movement less than forty Communicants have gone way over the top. This is the second Mission to be received by Bishop Brent from our Society this year the only two, according to the Diocesan Journal since the days of East Rochester and Spencerport.

3. Our Kindergarten center at 79 Chandler Street has been temporarily discontinued because of no suitable place in which to meet. Mr. Rufus Sibley recently gave us $1500.00 with which to purchase property in that section of the city. After consulting with the Bishop and the Rectors of Epiphany and St. Stephen's two or three different locations were agreed upon. We expect to find one upon which we can erect a portable building. Mr. Cook will then devote considerable time to this important development.

4. Mr. Cook and Mr. Beach maintained regular services at our summer Chapel, St. Andrew's By-the-Lake, Nine Mile Point, the services were well attended. This fall Dr. Howard of the State Hospital for the Insane, sent out ten patients who cleaned up the Chapel property and the land recently given to us.

5. After several consultations with the Rev. Mr. Whedon it seemed wise to discontinue our School at the corner of Hollister and Merrimac Streets at the beginning of the School year in September. Since that time our Society has promised to pay for the transportation of some thirty children over to St. Mark's and St. John's every Sunday until the close of the School year.

II. Our Ministry to Institutions.

Just as in our ministry of extending the Church so in this second development of our work we have formulated a certain well defined policy which we now repeat only in outline.

- (a) In sixteen hospitals and institutions we try to minister to human souls not to Methodists, Baptists or even Episcopalians.
- (b) We believe that people shut-up within the four walls of an institution need something more than plan religion. Hence our Department of Recreation which is unique in City Mission work.
- (c) While we have never yet failed to bring the consolations of Religion to those who need them (Witness 80 Baptisms and 987 Private Communion) we still feel that our chief Mission is to those who are going to get well and do some more living.
- (d) Our workers never criticise anything they see or hear in the conduct of our institutions.

1. The Sanatorium.

250 patients which number will be shortly increased by the addition of 144 beds.

Sunday: Mr. Depuy and Mr. Peters spend the early hours in Bedside visiting, being on hand to welcome the speakers at the 10:30 service or to fill in when one fails to appear. The morning service has been taken by prominent Laymen assisted often by musicians of note. Our co-operation with the Federation makes it possible for us to command the best speakers in the City. Sunday evenings the Rev. C. H. Behnke, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, who recently joined our staff, has been serving most acceptably, the Chapel being crowded beyond the doors.

Weekdays: Some one member of our staff is at the Sanatorium every day visiting from bed to bed. Pastor Behnke gives us every Wednesday morning. Mrs. Wallace of St. Mark's and St. John's gives one afternoon each week to the children in C 11, who are too ill to go to Church School. Miss Whitney, a nurse, also a member of St. Mark's and St. John's has organized a Girls' Friendly Society.

Mrs. Tarrant and Miss Kinne of Trinity give religious instructions every Thursday afternoon to the Protestant children. The Roman Catholic and Jewish children were provided with separate instructions after we had them about two years.

Holy Communion is celebrated publicly once a month at 6:30 A. M. to accommodate the nurses and up-patients and is administered privately once a month to an average of 35 bed patients.

We keep in touch with many of our children after they leave the Sanatorium, they feel free to come to the Missionary's House on Sunday afternoons. John Magro who early came under our care is now the leading boy among 1600 students in Madison Junior High.

Our "Thursday Circle" has "adopted" a boy fifteen years old, no home, no parents, they provide him with everything he needs and will see that he has a home to go to when he is able to leave.

The Department of Recreation gives an entertainment in the dining room every Friday night. Our records show that not a single Protestant died during the year without the Consolations of Religion.

2. State Hospital for the Insane.

1600. patients. Constant bedside visiting in the Infirmary. Music Sunday afternoons and one week day. At the request of the Superintendent Holy Communion is celebrated publicly once a month. We have discovered about 75 Communicants. In appreciation of our work the Superintendent has offered to care for our property at Nine Mile Point. The state farm being one of our near neighbors many of the patients attend services during the summer.

3. County Hospital.

250 bed patients. Daily bedside visiting. Holy Communion public and private every month. Mrs. Osborne gives every Thursday to this hospital. Our friendly visitors give a party to each ward in turn every Wednesday in the year. "Hospital Wednesday" there are not enough in the year to satisfy the people who have become interested in this place of City Mission work. Pass on your victrola records, current magazines, to Mr. Depuy. The visitors need sticks of old fashioned peppermint candy by the box.

4. Alms House.

Mrs. Osburn takes the services every Thursday night. Mr. Peters and Miss McCartney are faithful visitors. Holy Communion is celebrated once a month. Fifteen Communicants have been discovered.

5. Penitentiary.

Mrs. Osburn spends one afternoon with the women and girls.

6. Friendly Home.

Mr. Cook has so won the hearts of the old people that it is difficult for anyone to substitute for him. Mr. Beach too, has won his way through the truly wonderful entertainments he takes out to them. Holy Communion is celebrated publicly and is carried to those confined to their room, once a month.

7. Hillside Home.

Each member of the staff seems to have his favorite institution. Everyone knows that Mr. Beach is very much at home in Hillside. A visit there any Saturday night will reveal the reason why.

8. And so we might go on through St. Mary's, General, Homeopathic, Highland, Municipal, Infants and half a dozen others, telling how everyday some one of the three or four of us carries to every hospital Christ's Love and Remembrance in helpful service.

SAVE YOUR WEDNESDAYS

The doctor smiled, and said, "You may go home, Tomorrow"; and he looked surprised when I Returned no answering smile. How should he know The sudden shrinking of my tortured flesh From all that "going home" implies to me? I am so tired—so tired! And when I think Of taking up the burdens that I dropped When sickness brought for me a breathing space— The grimy, odorous clothes, so hard to rub To whiteness as I bend above the suds: The food that must be bought, prepared and cooked; The constant struggle to keep up the rent, So that our poor, cheap sticks of furniture May not be set out on the public street (Ah, God! that fear looms chief of all my fears!)— Then is it strange that I should weakly cling To this white cot, this atmosphere of rest, Where I may sleep, afar from vendor's cries, And noisy brawling from the flat next door? I almost hoped this pain would end all pain, And I should die, here in the hospital. But no; the verdict's "Life"! "I must go home!"

A FEW SCATTERED ITEMS OF INTEREST GATHERED FROM MONTHLY REPORTS

The cause of City Missions was presented in all of our parishes except Trinity and St. James. Also in Asbury Methodist, Brighton, Central and Westminster Presbyterian, First Baptist and Baptist Temple, Church of Reformation, Clifton, Geneva, Bath, Newark, Dansville, Corning, Churchville, Fairport, Salamanca, Oakfield, Kodak Park, East and West High Schools and to the Girl Scouts.

The year has been marked by the organization of seven "circles" named after the days of the week upon which they meet, made up largely of people outside our own Church. "Saturday Circle" paid a hundred dollar street assessment for a family under our care, contributed several hundred dollars' worth of new clothing and $50.00 towards a boy's education. There seems to be no limit to what "Thursday Circle" can do. Layettes for a dozen new babies, shawls for the old ladies at the County, beautiful bags (not empty) for our girls in Newark, and now they have a real live boy to care for and educate. But we must say just as we did with the hospitals "And so on through the other five".

The Vice-President of the Symington Corporation in Lincoln Park offered us a building, furnished and heated if we would open a Church School. Mr. Cook investigated and found, 1. That Lincoln Park is within the boundaries of St. Stephen's; 2. That the children, Italian and Poles are already cared for by the nearest Roman Catholic parish.

On July 10th representatives of the Board of Managers of the Department of Social Service in three of the large hospitals met with the City Missionary to discuss how they might better co-operate in our work.

In 1867 St. Luke's, St. Paul's, Trinity and Christ Church purchased several thousand square feet in Mt. Hope Cemetery to be known as the "Church lot", in which there is still room for 75 graves. During July in the absence of all four Rectors who alone can grant permission to open a grave, we were obliged to bury in Potters Field, an English Lady to whom we had ministered for many months at the County Hospital. At the September meeting our Trustees asked the four Rectors concerned to grant our Society permission, on some needful occasion, to make use of this Church Lot. One refused.

During the year we baptized two infants and two adults In Extremis for our Baptist Brethren who were unable to administer the Sacrament according to their own Rite.

As Chaplain of Rochester Branch, Actors Church Alliance, we officiated at the burial of two old-time actors and were of service to several members of the profession.

The Anthony Baking Company gave us during the long period of unemployment 100 loaves of bread a week which we distributed through No. 4 School. Our Thanksgiving baskets and many hundred articles of clothing also went to this School.

Twenty layettes, twelve blankets and fifty other garments were given to the Maternity Ward of the General Hospital by our various Circles.

Sixteen unmarried mothers and their babies came under our care, fifteen girls were turned over to us by the police and other agencies.

July 20, 1922.

Dear Mother Dorsey:

Our Society has learned with deep concern that you are about to leave your work in Rochester. We recall the fact that you have always been actively interested in our work and that it was through your influence among your people that we were enabled to establish our newest and most successful Mission.

We feel that the Lord has opened up for you this new field of labor and that He will prosper your undertaking. It will be our pleasure to continue to aid you in every possible way and to remember you before God in our prayers.

Sincerely your friend,

City Missionary.

BISHOP BRENT SPENT OCTOBER 8TH AND 9TH WITH US

Sunday morning he officiated at St. Matthew's Mission, Browncroft, and at noon broke ground for the new Church School Building. In the afternoon he visited Hillside Home and gave his blessing to the children. At the County Hospital he addressed 100 patients who were able to leave their beds and assemble in the dining room. Later, he went to the bedside of many patients.

At the State Hospital for the Insane the choir from the Church of the Ascension sang the service, and the Bishop delivered an address from the text: "Perfect love casteth out fear". Fifty former service men greeted him at the close of the service.

At Monroe County Tuberculosis Sanatorium more than 200 patients came to the dining room where the Bishop addressed them and gave his blessing to the institution.

In the evening, large numbers of the congregation of St. Simon came to service at the Church of the Epiphany. The uniformed Knights of Pythias acted as an escort of honor to the Bishop who expressed himself as more than pleased to meet with the newest mission in the diocese.

Monday, Bishop Brent inspected the site for a proposed kindergarten in the vicinity of the new University of Rochester, and at noon attended a meeting of our Board of Trustees.

At the Social Workers' Conference in Wickford, R. I., last June, our City Missionary was made Secretary of the new division of City Mission Executives of the Presiding Bishop and Council and a member of the Ex. Com. In July he assisted in establishing a City Mission in Denver, Colorado, giving them first our Constitution and then the Rochester plan in detail. He has been asked to give two lectures at the General Seminary in March on the City Mission idea.

DEPARTMENT OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL SERVICE OF THE CHURCH EXTENSION SOCIETY, ROCHESTER

1. The Department of Recreation has been considerably aided during the past year by the various Protestant Denominations assuming a month of Friday entertainments at the Monroe County Tuberculosis Sanatorium. By so doing, our other entertainers were released so that we might have weekly entertainments at Hillside Home, as well as making possible occasional Happiness nights in other institutions.

During the summer seventy trips were made by the "Joy Car," these trips divided up among some twelve institutions. During Exposition week the "Joy Car" was given free space on the Exposition grounds and from the sale of ten cent "Spokes of Happiness" nearly $400.00 was raised towards the maintenance of the car. Amounts bringing this total to nearly $1000.00 were pledged during the year by individuals who believe with us that the health and happiness brought to sufferers by these trips in the fresh air and sunshine to the lake and parks is well worth their support. Mr. Simon Stein is one of our interested backers in the "Joy Car" and through his interest others among the Jewish people have helped us keep the car on the move. Instrumental in raising so much money was the Wolfe family of 99 Belmont Street, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe, David, Selma and Albert. They, together with several friends, had an orchestra on the grounds every night to draw the crowd to the "Joy Car" and the ones in the family who did not play in the orchestra sold "Spokes" with such enthusiasm that no one could refuse to buy. Since that time this same family orchestra has furnished music every two weeks at Hillside Home, as well as at various parties for the Blind, General Hospital, etc. More whole-hearted helpers such as they are would do more towards bringing happiness to those whose lives are lived within the four walls of an institution than anything we can suggest.

This winter season we are including in our entertainments the Jewish Orphan Asylum and the Friendly Home, because of our goodly number of volunteers. Through the courtesy of Principal Bennett of West High School and Principal Wilcox of East High School the cause of our Society was presented to thousands of young high school people many of whom volunteered their talents for the work. The Girl Scout troops of the City have also helped, and certain Boy Scout Troops have donated blankets for the "Joy Car" so that the entertainers going to the institutions on cold nights may be made more comfortable.

The response on the part of individuals and organizations at Thanksgiving and at Christmas time was generous and not a poor family came to our attention which was not provided with a splendid basket. For these we are indebted to St. Andrew's Church, St. Luke's Girl's Friendly, Troop 21 Girl Scouts, Church of the Reformation and No. 20 School, besides hosts of individuals whose thoughts and prayers were with those less fortunate than they at such beautiful seasons of the year.

The hope of the Department is that a full time driver for the "Joy Car" can be arranged next summer so that six days a week, this car can start out with its lesson of happiness and health.

II. Of the variety of cases, in which we have been of help this winter, a few picked at random may be of interest. Brought to our attention by a Brick Church organization was the case of an old lady, brought up in the Church and at one time of moderate means, whom poverty and sickness had overtaken and who was living under very filthy conditions. With a dread of hospitals it took considerable tact to finally get her consent to be moved, though it was then too late and three weeks later she died. With no funds to bury her, she faced the Potter's field, but instead she was given Christian burial and a grave in the Church lot at Mt. Hope Cemetery. The gratefulness of her one living relative was a reward in itself.

During the severe weather early in the year an old colored man, well past seventy was taken sick in the street near our office and was sent up to us. We rented a room for him and bought him food, and when the next day he was worse we took him at once to the hospital. He soon recovered and we then sent him on to his home in Maryland where he was assured good care the rest of his life.

Called by the Rescue Mission on an emergency case we found an Episcopalian with six years service in the choir of a New Jersey Parish, who on his way to a position in New Haven from Chicago had run out of money and been taken violently ill. We hurried him to a hospital and after thirty-four days he was able to leave and we advanced him his fare to New Haven which he will repay when he is steadily at work again.

Many positions have been found for those leaving the hospitals or those thrown out of employment. Cases demanding the attention of other agencies have been immediately passed on to the proper authorities. We are indebted to Social Welfare League, Catholic Charities, The Shelter, Children's Aid Society, Superintendent of the Poor, Department of Charities and many other organizations which have been instrumental in helping us with our case work.

GEORGE KING BEACH,

Respectfully submitted

CHARLES ROGER ALLISON,
City Missionary.

(D) The Church Pension Fund

To the Right Reverend, the Bishops, and to the Annual Convention of the Diocese of Western New York:

The Diocesan Church Pension Fund Committee respectfully reports:

1. That information received from Church Pension Fund headquarters in New York indicates the assessment payments received from all sources throughout the Church for the year just closing are somewhat in excess of those of last year: showing that the very general support given to the pension system is being continued. The annual grants of the Church Pension Fund proper, up to December 1, 1922, have reached the total of over $269,000.00 which, added to the grants of the General Clergy Relief Fund, the other merged funds, and the General Convention of 1907 Account, makes a grand total of over $468,000.00.

The outstanding action taken during the year, though not within the bounds of the Church Pension Fund proper, has been the formation of the Church Life Insurance Corporation; which is prepared to furnish various forms of life insurance policies to the clergy and certain lay-workers in the Church who may be eligible, at the same rate as the converted War Risk Insurance of the United States Government.

2. A statement from the New York office shows grants in force in this Diocese, Jan. 2, 1923, as follows:

3. The Trustees, at their meeting on December 12, 1922, renewed for the coming year the resolutions of December 20, 1921, published at pages 91 and 92 of the Diocesan Journal of last year, making a special grant of one thousand dollars to widows of clergymen dying in active service. Attention is here called to a condition contained in the resolutions which reads, "The foregoing appropriation of one thousand dollars to the widow of a clergyman dying in active service, or any other appropriations made in addition to the provisions of the Rules now existing, shall not, if they arise after January 1, 1923, be made in any diocese where the actuarial group basis as shown by the first annual valuation, is broken by the failure of the diocese, or any parish in union with the diocesan convention, to pay pension assessments as provided by the Canons for the preceding fiscal year, until, out of the sums of money from which said appropriations would be made, there has been transferred by the Treasurer of the Church Pension Fund the actuarial equivalent of the breach in the group pension system made by the failure to pay the pension assessment specified in the said diocese." It will be perceived that by the terms of the above proviso any parish or mission, in union with the Diocese, which fails to pay the premium due from it, jeopardizes the rights and claims under the resolutions of all widows of clergymen dying in service after the first day of the month upon which we have now entered. Taking cognizance of this fact we view with grave concern and anxiety the list of delinquent parishes and missions which appears in this report. Some of the delinquent parishes and missions will, doubtless, pay their premiums, if they have not already done so since this report was written. But what about those delinquent parishes and missions which have not paid for a long period and which show no inclination to pay? That they should receive the serious attention of this Convention goes without saying. If measures must be taken against them, and it would seem most certainly that some measure should be adopted, several courses are open to us. Briefly stated, those that present themselves to your committee are:

- (a) That the Diocese make itself responsible to the Trustees of the Church Pension Fund for the whole sum due from the parishes and missions, advancing from the general funds of the Diocese the sum or sums due on pension assessments which the delinquent parishes and missions fail to pay. This plan would protect the beneficiaries in the matter of special grants, but would not protect the Diocese. It would, we fear, serve to encourage delinquency, not to check it. We do not recommend it.

- (b) That a special committee of laymen be appointed whose duty it shall be to visit each delinquent parish and mission and personally solicit and collect from individuals in the said parish or mission a sum sufficient to meet the pension assessment.
- (c) That the premium due, and unpaid, be considered as arrears due on the clergyman's salary and be made a legal claim against the property of the parish or mission, collectable as is a clergyman's salary in the courts of civil law. In order to make the step herein contemplated doubly possible, the clergyman should see that it is stipulated in the contract on which he accepts a call, that the payment of the pension premiums is a part of the consideration inducing him to enter into the contract.
- (d) That the Diocese withdraw from the delinquent parish or mission the right to union with the Convention of the Diocese, thus placing the delinquent outside the pale of pension privileges and releasing the Diocese from obligation in its particular case.

Your committee realizes that some of the measures suggested as possible are somewhat drastic. It feels, however, that they are just and that they provide merciful protection to the widow and the orphan. It, therefore, offers the following resolution:

RESOLVED, That, in view of the number of parishes and missions delinquent in the matter of paying premium assessments and the menace these parishes and missions are to the just deserts and claims of beneficiaries eligible to special grants from the Church Pension Fund, the Executive Council of the Diocese be authorized to proceed against the said delinquent parishes and missions, and those that hereafter may become delinquent, along the lines set forth in this report.

A. F. FREEMAN,

Treasurer.

In submitting this, our Seventh Annual Report, your Committee looks back with appreciation upon the efforts made in this Diocese to assist in establishing the Church Pension Fund, and upon the very general support the Fund has ever received. The long list of beneficiaries reveals, to some degree at least, what the Fund means to the aged and infirm among our clergy and to the widows and orphans of our deceased brethren who have now gone to their rest. We have commendation and thanksgiving for those who have done their part in bringing relief and comfort, and we trust that every parish and mission will, within the next twelve months, be found doing its share in maintaining the good work.

Yours very respectfully,

Rev. and My Dear Sir:—

The writer begs to advise as directed that he has audited the Cash Receipts and Cash Disbursements of the Western New York Committee Church Pension Fund, Inc., for twelve months ending December 31st, 1922, and that the amount turned over by the Treasurer during the year to the Church Pension Fund totaling twenty thousand six hundred and two dollars and fifty seven cents, $20,602.57, covered by cancelled checks is correct.

The Bank balances beginning and ending for the period are correct, and have been examined and reconciled with the statements of the Citizens Trust Company, Buffalo, New York, and are also covered by letter dated February 16th, 1923 to the undersigned from said bank verifying amount on hand.

Respectfully submitted,

TREASURER'S REPORT

The Treasurer of the Trustees of the Parochial Fund of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Western New York has the honor to submit to the Diocesan Convention, the following report.

Schedule A reports the principal of the various funds as of January 1, 1922 and January 1, 1923, showing the additions and deductions made during the current year, as follows:

St. Andrew's Church, Rochester, received by bequest $5,000.00, the income from which is payable to such corporation to be applied on the current expense of the parish.

The Comings Fund was also established, the income from which is payable only upon order of the Rector and Treasurer of St. Mark's Parish, Penn Yan, to be used for needy parishioners.

The St. Andrew's Church, East Geneva Fund, is the balance of the avails of the sale of such church property as provided in the deed given to this corporation.

St. Mark's Church Fund, Rochester, was established by a first payment looking to the purchase of the property by another church corporation. Such payment was forfeited, and by resolution of this body this forfeited amount was paid to St. Mark's and St. John's Parish to apply on the rent due on the property in question. All other additions noted were by capitalization of income on order of the Beneficiary or Bishop and Council.

The remaining schedules are self explanatory covering the receipts and disbursements of the principal and income from investments.

The report has been audited by a public accountant, a certificate of which is attached.

GEORGE D. WHEDON,
Treasurer.

(H) Report of the Church Service League Council

For the Year 1922.

THE CHURCH SERVICE LEAGUE IN THE CHURCH AT LARGE

In the "Program Presented" to the National Church in Portland, and accepted by them and by resolution of the General Convention, the Church Service League became part of the Forward Program of our Church. Prior to this time in some 42 dioceses there had been more or less formally organized Councils and parish units of the Church Service League who have made the past three years a period of study and experimentation. Very careful thought was given to the function and place of the Church Service League in parish and diocesan life, to determine whether it would increase our problems of organization, or whether it could help effectively in their solution.

THE COUNCIL IN WESTERN NEW YORK

The Church Service League Council in Western New York has been an informal one appointed by Bishop Brent, which has done perhaps more thinking than acting, spending its time in the attempt to work out the principles upon which the Church Service League might operate not only in Western New York, but in the Church at large, for the upbuilding and manifestation of the Church's life. It has been composed of the following members, representing diocesan organizations, the departments, and those at large:

Honorary Presidents: The Right Reverend Charles H. Brent, D.D.;

President: Mrs. Kingman Nott Robins.

Secretary: Miss Elizabeth Lawrence.

Treasurer: Miss Carrie B. Millard.

Rev. Charles R. Allison, Mrs. G. C. Armstrong, Miss Lucy G. Arnold, Miss Helen C. C. Brent, Mrs. J. W. D. Cooper, Rev. Cameron J. Davis, Mrs. Wm. K. Gibboney, Rev. W. A. R. Goodwin, Mr. James Taylor Gunning, Rev. Charles A. Jessup, Mrs. Roy Kates, Miss Clarice Lambricht, Mrs. P. N. Nicholas, Mr. J. H. Potter, Jr., Rev. Alfred Priddis, Dr. Griffith G. Pritchard, Miss Ann Prophet, Mr. Kingman Nott Robins, Miss Helen Rogers.

PUBLICATIONS

The result of their thinking and study has been made known through certain publications. The first of these was an article by Bishop Brent called "The Discovery of the Church Service League". Then appeared "Comrades in Service" which sought to interpret the meaning of Service (if we were to be a League of Service), and contained suggestions for the service of prayer, thought and study, witnessing, work and giving in the five-fold field, thus dealing with fundamental principles. This bulletin has been in great demand outside the diocese and many copies were sold at Portland. It has been used by parishes and individuals as a basis for their individual and corporate program of service.

Later on, in time for the General Convention, a series of three charts was made, illustrative of the meaning and function of the Church Service League. These have also been sent all over the country since their presentation, to the meeting of delegates in Portland, to the Provincial Synod, and in the Diocese of New York, by one of the members of the Council. They are in the form of a cross, of a triangle, and of a circle.

Bishop Brent's address to the Provincial Synod, giving the true conception or idea of the Church Service League, has been printed in full in the Living Church, and also in our second booklet of the "Comrades in Service" Series, just off the press, "The Fellowship of Service". "What the Church Service League may mean to you", written by a layman, is meant for the individual, and is a concise and appealing statement.

The Secretary of the Council was asked to lead a class on the Church Service League in the diocese of Bethlehem, and Comrades in Service, Bulletin No. 1, was used as a basis for the discussion.

PARISH UNITS

Here and there in the diocese parish units have been formed, experimenting in adapting the League to their own individual needs, and if they choose to come together for conference in the near future, much that is helpful for the further development of the League will be revealed.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE COUNCIL FOR THE CHURCH SERVICE LEAGUE IN WESTERN NEW YORK

At a meeting of the Council held on January 8th, Bishop Brent's conception of the Church Service League as expressed in his address and article for the "Fellowship of Service", was heartily endorsed as representing the principles upon which the Church Service League in our diocese should proceed to operate. Thereupon it was possible to consider practical plans and a more definite program for Western New York. The Council therefore has some recommendations to submit to the Diocesan Convention and hopes that you will feel that you can act upon them: in order that a new Council may be fully authorized to represent the Church Service League in Western New York, and the League become a part of the Forward Program of the diocese.

These recommendations are as follows:

1. That Bishop Brent's conception of the League be endorsed with the following as underlying principles:
 - a. The principle of universal service on the part of every church member—which means the whole parish rather than any one or any group of organizations as the unit of service.
 - b. The principle of co-ordination—which for practical purposes expresses itself in a Parish Council truly representing all elements of parish life, organized and unorganized.

- c. The principle of co-operation—which brings to bear the whole force of the parish upon the whole task of the Church through a parish program of Christian living, based upon an analysis of parish life. (Suggestions for the accomplishment of this are in the hands of a special committee appointed by the Church Service League Council.)
 - d. The principle of fellowship—expressing itself in the practice of fellowship as suggested in the Bulletin, "The Fellowship of Service", Fellowship in Worship and Prayer, Study and Thought, Administration and Work, and the setting apart of a special diocesan Day of Fellowship, the Sunday following All Saints' Day.
2. That the publications be widely distributed by the clergy with the help of the Council, the diocesan organizations, and of other interested individuals.
3. That at least one discussion group be held at each county conference this spring in the interest of the Church Service League.
4. That the Diocesan Convention authorize the appointment of a Diocesan Council for the purpose of aiding in the further development of the Church Service League in our diocese and the Church at large.

All publications are attached to this report and are on hand today, in small quantities. Additional copies may be ordered through Miss Lambright's office, 13 Ely Building, East Avenue, Rochester.

Respectfully submitted,

ELIZABETH SIBLEY ROBINS,

President.

(I) Report of the Western New York Branch of the Woman's Auxillary to the National Council

To the Diocesan Convention, January 22, 1923.

Mr. Chairman and Members of the Diocesan Convention:

Since the detailed report of every part of the service rendered by this Auxillary is printed in full in its Year Book for 1923, it is the purpose of this report to record briefly the progress of the last year.

The spirit in which the work has been done is largely responsible for the progress made—generous co-operation; adventure and faith; earnest prayer; and enthusiasm, it would seem, on the part of all.

A new Constitution and By-Laws have been adopted, bringing our branch in line with the National Auxillary, giving us an opportunity to organize more adequately for the continuing growth of the Auxillary in Western New York, and interpreting more clearly our purpose as given in Article II of the Constitution. This reads:

“Sec. 1. The object of this Auxillary, as an organic part of the Church Service League, shall be to help in the carrying forward and realization of the program of the National Council of the Church, for the fulfillment of the mission of the Church. To this end this Branch of the Auxillary shall enlist the women of the Church in active service for the spread of Christ's Kingdom on earth by witnessing in His Name, through prayer and worship, knowledge and wise thinking, work, giving, and the influence of Christ-like character.

Sec. 2. The work of this Auxillary shall be divided, in co-operation with other diocesan agencies, among all fields of Christian Service—home, parish, community, diocese, province, nation and world—along the lines of Missions, Religious Education, and Christian Social Service, the chief service, however being a missionary one.”

The creation of an Administration Fund and a more inclusive and definite budget should place us in a stronger position financially and help to enlarge our work as well as gifts.

The formation and printing of a policy for 1923 for the diocese, district, and parish, should help us to go forward together to attain our purpose.

There has been an increase in gifts of life and money. It was a thrilling moment at the Triennial United Thank Offering Service as the names of four young women from Western New York were read when the total offering in money was announced. Our money gift for the three years was $17,000.00, a gain of $7,000; $700.00 was gained in the Service of Supplies in one year; also a large gain was made in the offerings at the Annual Meeting and fall district meetings.

The attendance at diocesan meetings has also greatly increased, 65 out of 97 parishes being represented at the Annual Meeting. At these meetings the experiment has been successfully tried of a definitely arranged and printed program; and of holding the Annual Meeting for two full days. Five new branches have been added; one in the Buffalo District, one in the Geneva and three in the Rochester. One district, the Geneseo, has already begun to organize along the lines of the New Constitution.

The diocesan branch has been given representation on the National Executive Committee and in the Provincial Auxiliary. The Triennial and Synod were attended by the full number of delegates. Fuller co-operation has been developed between the diocesan Department of Missions and the Woman's Auxiliary, and the Woman's Auxiliary pledged its support and prayers to the Forward Movement of the diocese.

It is hoped that the coming year will bring increased opportunities for service and the power and faith to use them to the best possible advantage, in co-operation and harmony with all diocesan plans.

Respectfully submitted,

ELIZABETH SIBLEY ROBINS,

President.

The Rev. Dr. Davis presented the following report which, on motion, was referred to the Executive Council, with power:

The Special Committee appointed by the Bishop and Executive Council to prepare a plan to further support for the program of the Diocese and General Church in the Diocese begs leave to report as follows:

Since the Nation Wide Campaign the Diocese has steadily declined in the amount of its gifts for its own work and the work of the General Church. In 1921 the best year of the Nation Wide Campaign, the total amount given was $209,000; in 1922, $187,400; 1923, $168,000, and we have pledged at present, for 1924, only $150,000. A number of reasons may be assigned for this, such as, distrust of the Budget of the Diocese and General Church; the resumption of parochial projects postponed during the Nation Wide Campaign; unfamiliarity with the Programs; too high a goal, which was attained in the Nation Wide Campaign on a wave of artificially induced enthusiasm. which it is impossible to perpetuate from year to year. Whatever truth there may be in any of these reasons it is evident that the honor of the Diocese demands at least that its gifts grow even if they do not reach the goal set. It is worth noting in this connection, however, that the goal or quota for the General Church, is less in 1924 than was announced in 1923. Your committee would suggest that the effort of the Diocese be first of all to INCREASE ITS GIFTS and that the effort of every parish which has not thus far met its apportionment, be bent towards the same INDEFINITE GOAL OF INCREASING ITS GIFTS. We suggest this because we feel that many parishes are staggered by aiming at a sum which they have never even approached. And we suggest that an honor roll of the Diocese include those parishes which secure pledges sufficient to meet their apportionment and also those which have increased their pledges over the preceding year at least 25% towards their apportionment. To assist the parishes in this effort we suggest the following plan:

1. That the work of furthering the support of the Program of the Diocese and General Church amongst the parishes, be made the business of a new department to be created by the Executive Council, named the Department of Ways and Means to consist of representative laymen and clergymen of the Diocese, and, ex-officio, one representative of each of the existing departments of the Council.

2. That this Department be given an office in the Church House, with a clerk and proper equipment.

3. That the Executive Council shall employ an Executive Secretary in addition, who shall act in that capacity for all departments and thus for the Department of Ways and Means, combining in himself all executive secretaryships of the Executive Council now in existence, except that of the Department of Finance.

4. That the sum of $8,000 be appropriated for the work of this Department, to be raised by special subscriptions, and failing in whole or in part to raise it thus, that the deficit be made a first charge against the results of the 1924 canvass.

5. That the organization thus created, proceed at once to set up an organization in every parish. This may be merely the enlisting of the Executive Council of the Church Service League where such exists, or the creation of a new committee. Its object should be a grouping of the parish with group captains and lieutenants for systematic visiting with literature, and for study classes at least during Lent. Our object is to keep the idea of the Diocese and General Church insistently before peoples' minds until it arouses a General Church consciousness.

6. The Diocese should be zoned and a zone committee appointed; the parish chairmen of each zone should be called together by the zone committee before Lent and be given the plan with suitable charts and explanations.

7. A month before the canvass the several zone committees as representing the Diocese, should solicit subscriptions from a special list of the more wealthy, such subscriptions, however, to be reported to the chairmen of parish committees confidentially until after the general canvass, when they should be credited to the respective parishes.

8. The parochial committees immediately after Easter, should make a canvass of the families who are not pledging and report to the Department the results.

9. A general simultaneous canvass should be made throughout the Diocese the last of November.

10. The week before the general canvass the zone committee on special subscriptions should organize a dinner for members of parochial canvass teams, with an outside speaker and a presentation of such figures and facts as may be conducive to friendly rivalry.

11. In assigning its quota to a parish, the parish should be told exactly to what objects in Diocese and General Church its gifts will be applied and in what percentages.

There are now in the Archives: two full sets of the Journal of the General Convention, three full sets of the Journals of the Convention of Western New York and a set of the Diocese of New York, lacking the Journal of 1918.

We think it well to repeat the request for filing and Index Cabinets.

The Delegates to the Annual Convention of the Diocese of Western New York, assembled in St. Peter's Church, Geneva, N. Y., January 23, 1924, hear with apprehension, the report of the National Child Labor Committee, that there are over 1,000,000 children between the ages of ten and fifteen years, in the United States, who are at work. We consider such a situation a denial of the Master's injunction that we "offend not one of these little ones." We hear with sympathy the Committee's appeal for support from the Churches in its efforts to wipe out this evil. Therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That we give our individual and corporate support to the observance and enforcement of such laws as prevent child labor, and be it, further

RESOLVED, That we urge our Clergy and other leaders to secure and make use of such literature on this problem as is published by the National Child Labor Committee, presenting the subject to groups or classes, by bulletin or special sermons, to the end that this exploitation of child life may be stopped in our country.

The Delegates to the Annual Convention of the Diocese of Western New York, assembled in St. Peter's Church, Geneva, on January 23, 1924, desire to place themselves on record as deploring the evident widespread lack of support given to the Volstead Act. Therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the members of this Convention pledge themselves to a careful observance of the Volstead Act; and be it further

RESOLVED, That we pledge our support to those officials who are striving to enforce this law, and all other laws.

Bishop's Annual Address

My Fellow-workers of the Clergy and Laity:

The following is a summary of my official acts during the past year:

Confirmations, 915; Candidates admitted, 5; Postulants admitted, 8; Changes by Letters Dimissory: Received, 8; Transferred, 7; Baptisms, 9; Weddings, 2; Funerals, 6.

My Journal, which is appended and contains all information required by Canon, I shall not read unless it is called for.

The year past has been one of general bereavement in the Church and in the Nation. On April 17th, Daniel Sylvester Tuttle, Presiding Bishop of the Church, entered eternal rest, after a ministry of great missionary power, covering a period of fifty-six years in the Episcopate alone. The witness of his consistent Christian life and his loving pastoral character leaves an example to us clergy which is a great heritage, and a sacred memory to every one who knew him of fatherly affection and simple faith.

Warren G. Harding, our President, suddenly died in the midst of great activity on August 2nd. He too, was a man of sterling qualities of heart and character which won the regard of the nation. Of both these men it may be said that their measure of greatness was of the sort that expresses itself in unassuming service of their fellows. Is there anything greater?

Our own Diocese mourns the loss of beloved comrades. The Rev. Pierre Cushing closed a career of singular and single-minded devotion, after a brief illness. His joyous temperament, his Christian courtesy, his loving friendship will never be forgotten.

The Rev. Raymond H. Fuller had hardly begun his hopeful career when a cloud enveloped him and his life came to a tragic close.

The death of Kingman N. Robins of St. Paul's, Rochester, was a great Christian triumph. The very memory of it assuages our grief and sense of loss. He died victoriously because he lived victoriously. We had looked for great things from his leadership in the Church Service League, but other work was ordained for him. To him we may fittingly apply Tennyson's words of one whose "leaf had perished in the green":

"So here shall silence guard thy fame;
But, somewhere out of human view,
Whate'er thy hands are set to do
Is wrought with tumult of acclaim."

Edmund Hayes of St. Paul's, Buffalo, closed his unblemished Christian career painlessly, after sudden illness and a brief period of unconsciousness. His last years were shadowed by misfortune. He met it with unflinching front, his chief grief, as he said to me, being that he was deprived of the joy of giving. He was a courtly gentleman and a sincere Christian.

Mrs. Charles Van Bergen's sudden going from us touched many lives. She was always open to appeals for service. Her work, as President of the Young Women's Christian Association, was ably and loyally done.

Mr. Thomas M. Gibson of St. Mary's, Buffalo, served a long term—twenty years—as a vestryman of his parish. He was a stable character and radiated his spirit of friendliness in the business in which he was engaged for fifty-four years.

I never draw up a list of the faithful departed without wishing that I could record also the names of the many others who were just as true soldiers and servants of Christ as their more conspicuous fellows. These latter, however, are but representative of all the goodly company whose names are written in God's book of remembrance and whom we commend to God's loving care in their new life with Him.

There are but two subjects that I wish to present to you, both important, both looking toward action.

1. After sending out notices that the Diocese had canonical authority to proceed to the election of a Coadjutor Bishop, I was advised by two brother Bishops, whose wisdom has often guided me, that, while action would be technically legitimate, so long a time had elapsed since the permission of the Church was given, it would be wise to make a new request in order to avoid misunderstanding and possible reluctance to confirm. I have considered the matter with the Executive Council and have reached the conclusion that it is the part of wisdom to heed their advice.. At this time, therefore, I make request for the election of a Coadjutor on the ground of extent of territory, or for such other action as may be best, in your judgment, for the advancement of the Church in Western New York.

2. The second matter is so serious that I cannot discuss it without a disturbed and unhappy mind. It is this. Our Diocese is failing lamentably in its plain obligation to the General Church. Last year we sent to the Treasurer $66,666 67 which is but two-thirds of our quota. Even this we were able to do only by using up our entire Diocesan reserve fund, save a working balance of $5,000. The returns for 1924, in spite of the fact that our quota has been reduced from $99,000 to $76,380, show no improvement over last year. And yet in 1922 our receipts for the General Church amounted to $91,014.68! I ask of you, what is wrong? We have increased the number of communicants by 2000, and our gifts have fallen off more than 50%. We must take hold of this problem and not rest content until we have solved it. I ask this Convention to take immediate action so that we can remove what is a blot on our escutcheon and indicative of low spiritual vitality.

I shall express in as succinct terms as possible my mind as to our financial obligations to the General Church. We are a nation-wide organization. Our principle of government is akin to that of the nation. Our representative assembly is General Convention. The deputies are charged by each diocese to shape the general budget. When our mandate has been carried out, each diocese is notified of its quota and in turn allots the parochial quota. Our Diocesan share has not been beyond our means as is evident in that hitherto, we have paid it. When we fail to pay it, the General Church runs into debt to the amount we are short. In my judgment the debt is not that of the General Church treasury, but of the Diocese. Why should the officers of our appointment be given the whole weight of the burden and we go scot free? This year this Diocese is $33,000 short. Were we running the business side of the Church in a business way we would reckon this sum as our permanent obligation until paid. As it is, we have shifted it to the shoulders of the National Council. As a matter of fact had we not voted our reserve balance from the emergency fund to supplement the actual amount contributed, we would have sent only 39% of our quota to the General Church, which is but little more than the Diocese gave in 1919. Although our funds were disbursed in exact accord with the vote of the Executive Committee and the Diocesan Convention, I am absolutely averse to acquiescing in the same results another year. If there is a deficit in our total we ought not to leave the General Church in the lurch, but should share it in the Diocese, cutting down our Diocesan budget proportionately in every item beginning with the support of the Episcopate. We have no moral right to spend money on ourselves freely and ignore our obligations to our national organization. It is analagous to caring for our community or state and letting the nation go hang—a procedure which I shall not characterize. Were the parishes to be relentless with themselves and also on their part agree to share deficits, I do not believe there would be any deficits to share.

If I have spoken plainly and strongly it is because I intended to do so. This Diocese is capable of better things. Let us gird ourselves to our task and do it.

APPENDIX I.

(B)

Bishop's Charge—Dynamic Faith

The business of the Church is to evoke a living faith in the living God as revealed in Jesus Christ and working through the Holy Spirit to the end that the righteousness of God may become the righteousness of men.

Faith, next to love and operating under its impulse, is the greatest creative and formative force in human affairs. Linked with hope it makes life joyous and beautiful as well as strong and powerful, spiritual as truly as competent.

Without faith human beings cannot live as men. Without Christian faith men cannot live as disciples of Christ. Religious faith moves in realms barred to those who hold science or rationalism to be the final guide to truth, though without the element of faith science would die and reason stagnate.

St. Paul, in his pregnant way, declares faith to be the driving force of Christian activity. "We regulate our life by faith, not by appearances" (II Cor. V, 7). He uses the thesis of the prophet Habakkuk, "the righteous shall live by faith" (Rom. I, 17) as the theme of his greatest letter. But most wonderful of all Jesus Christ Himself lived by faith, exemplifying its meaning and producing its fruits. His first preaching of this vital principle of faith was His constant practice of it. By faith He vanquished personal temptation; by faith He scaled the peaks of holiness; by faith He walked with the Father.

He was always looking for faith in others, marvelling sometimes at its greatness as evidenced by men (Matt. VIII, 10), sometimes at its feebleness (Mark VI, 6); and again on occasions He was fettered in service by its total absence in those whom He would have served (Matt. XIII, 58). Upon the rock of personal faith in Him, according to promise (Matt. XVI, 15-20), He has built His Church; in language of solemn certainty, reinforced by a word of special assurance ('verily'), He challenges the disciples to attempt the impossible: "If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed . . . nothing shall be impossible unto you" (Matt. XVII, 20; Mark XI, 22-24); making Himself the centre of faith's attention and pointing His words with a double 'verily,' He lifts faith to the apex of power and puts all of His inexhaustible wealth at its disposal: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on Me, the works that I do will he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go to the Father. And whatsoever ye shall ask in My name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye shall ask Me anything in My name, that will I do." (John XIV, 12-14). All the while He roused and welcomed faith so that its operative power brought health and blessing: in the sick woman,—“Daughter, be of good cheer; thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole from that hour.” (Matt. IX, 22); in the blind man—“Go thy way; thy faith hath made thee whole. And straightway he received his sight” (Mark X, 52); in the Canaanitish woman—“O woman, great is thy faith; be it done unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was healed from that hour” (Matt. XV, 28); in Thomas the agnostic—“Because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed; blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed” (John XX, 29).

It was reserved for an unknown writer, the author of the Epistle to the Hebrews, to give the classic definition of faith in a passage unexcelled in literature for its heroic quality—“Now faith is the giving substance to things hoped for, the test of things not seen” (Heb. XI, 1). Then follow historical examples of men and women who had ‘lived dangerously’ by faith, making it the principle of their activity, and adventuring gloriously and victoriously in the direction of the unseen. The illustrations of faith cited are not those of a still, acquiescent resting in God or a passive abiding in His will as of a cork in a current. The story is of people who energetically and steadily looked not at the things seen but at the things unseen, who put the ideal above the so-called real, who counted no cost too great that they might attain their goal, “who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouth of lions, quenched the power of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, from weakness were made strong, waxed mighty in war, turned to flight armies of aliens” (Heb. XI, 33, 34). The price they ungrudgingly paid for their victory was stupendous—some “were tortured, not accepting their deliverance; . . . others had trial of mockings and scourgings; yea, moreover of bonds and imprisonment; they were stoned, they were sawn asunder, they were tempted, they were slain with the sword; they went about in sheepskins, in goatskins; being destitute, afflicted, evil entreated (of whom the world was not worthy), wandering in deserts and mountains and caves, and the holes of the earth” (XI, 35 ff.). This sublime passage comes to a stately close with an appeal for a similar giving of substance in our own experience to things hoped for and testing the reality of things not seen. The course becomes possible by "looking unto Jesus the captain and perfecter of our faith" who made faith's supreme and triumphant venture "for the joy that was set before Him." He "endured the cross, despising the shame, and hath sat down at the right hand of the throne of God" (XII, 2).

When God asks His children to live by faith in Him, He is only inviting us to do toward Him what He Himself is already doing toward us. He has faith in us and, because He has, we are 'prisoners of hope.' In all the commandments of God, there is never an injunction laid upon us that does not represent a vital principle of His own being, a lifting up of the human to the plane of the Divine. The law of love is reciprocal—"Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us. . . . we love him, because he first loved us" (I John IV, 10, 19). God lived the Golden Rule before He gave it to others to live by. Indeed we as Christians can live by only that which God lives by. Outside of this, human life is a seeming, rather than a reality.

There is, there can be, no substitute for faith as the determinative principle in Christian thought and conduct. Reason or science can never be developed to a degree that will enable us to dispense with it. The eye will never be able to hear or the hand to walk. The place of faith is permanently fixed in those who are sons of God. The finality of its decisions is beyond any appeal. The progress of the Kingdom of God is advanced or retarded according as the faith of us its citizens rises or falls. Obedience to it is not an experiment laid upon us by a divine fiat but an invitation from our God to share in a victorious progress which is part of His own experience and a principle of life as revealed in Jesus Christ. It is a search for the super-real and for super-reality so that the seen gets added not diminished substance, more not less value. It does not exhaust its possibilities in spasms of prayer or in moments of knee worship. It claims jurisdiction over the entire stretch of human affairs and in every conceivable condition of life. The more desperate the situation, the more important its place. For lack of it the world of men is sick and unhappy and fearful. Where it does reign its beneficiaries are proof against harm from the ugly vicissitudes in human experience, are well poised within, and armed against fear. Faith's centre and source is God as made known in Jesus Christ. Beginning in dependence upon and surrender to Him, who is personal in that He has in Him all that we mean by personality, it mounts into a life of reciprocity with Him, widening out till it appropriates and uses every occurrence of history and every ray of the Divine in nature as new fuel for its fire, new treasure for its store. The faith of others mingles with and adds to our faith in the powerhouse of faith, the Church.

Faith is the friend of the intellect and welcomes the best that science and reason can discover, but it soars into a sphere at the threshold of which science and reason, by virtue of their inherent limitations, must halt. Whether faith is the operation of a distinct faculty or of the refined and disciplined and inspired imagination, or is the little electric spark that flashes out when all our inner faculties establish healthy contact, who can determine? At any rate for the Christian it holds supremacy over life and its every faculty and activity, gathering added power from its fellowships without and within. Its operation is that of super-intelligence and its harvest is that of super-knowledge. Faith beginning as a groping upward, and belief beginning as an experimental conclusion, eventually become respectively a determined process and an assured conviction. Hence it is possible for a mature Christian like St. John to use the words 'believe' and 'know' interchangeably (vide I John).

In what I have said, I have presented nothing new but have summarized and emphasized the old that we may be the better able to face with fairness and with confidence the problems of our day. The honest doubts and stormy waters of the moment give no just ground for fear. On the contrary they form a normal part of the Church's experience. Brotherly conference is the key to the situation if we can but curb our impatience, and separate ourselves from our prejudices. Our duty is not to endeavor to establish our own ideas but to discover the eternal Truth of the eternal God, with the comfortable assurance that all the while God is searching diligently for us as we search for Him.

The greatest, and at the same time the most reasonable, flight of faith that human life is called upon to make, is belief in the Incarnation as a historic truth, or, as St. John puts it, belief that the "Word became flesh and dwelt among us." It was to him no poetic fantasy but real in the sense that a historic fact is real. St. John speaks of the Incarnation as "that which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, concerning the Word of life" (I John, I, 1). It is the most mystical of all writers who is most succinct on the historic and physical side of the central truth of his belief.

On the basis of our acceptance of the Incarnation as historic, which it is clear beyond the power of human research to prove or disprove, we build our whole spiritual structure as Christians and our life as sons of God. As our Lord Himself indicated, it is not a matter which flesh and blood is capable of revealing but only His Father in heaven (Matt. XVI, 17). Whatever other stupendous occurrences there may be in history which baffle explanation and tax faith, none can compare in magnitude with this initial fact of the Word made flesh, considered in both its spiritual and mystical as well as its historical and physical character. When historians have done their utmost with documents and critics with the text, faith steps in with its claim that He whom history presents can be none other than "the Christ the Son of the living God." The distinctness of His figure increases with the progress of the centuries, for the Incarnate One marches steadily through time as generation succeeds generation, bearing witness at every step to His character and His presence in the Church of His founding.

Every incident, or alleged incident, in the biography of the great is of interest. In the case of our Lord it is markedly so in that we have at most but fragments of His history. All we know of His birth, infancy and childhood is related in the first two chapters of St. Matthew and the first two chapters of St. Luke. Eliminate these and nothing remains excepting a rather loosely connected record of the three closing years of His life on earth.

Today, their historicity so far as it touches the Virgin Birth is challenged. In the judgment of some—there is no unanimity of opinion among scholars—the portion of the Third Gospel dealing with the Virgin Birth (Luke I, 34 ff.) and the parallel passage in the first chapter of the First Gospel (Matt. I, 8-25) are not part of the original Gospel, and therefore the Gospel of the Nativity as we have it cannot be accepted as presenting the truth of what actually occurred. Of course it does not necessarily follow, allowing that these passages were added to the original documents at a later date, that their credibility is thereby vitiated. A treasure discovered late is none the less a treasure. We are dealing with a period of history where oral tradition carried much of the burden now borne by literature, and carried it well, and with subject matter that would in the nature of the case be guarded by family reticence. Moreover for the balance of his Gospel St. Luke was partially, perhaps, chiefly, dependent on oral tradition. If doubt is raised as to the historicity of the Virgin Birth on the score of silence elsewhere throughout Scripture on the subject, the argument would apply with equal cogency to all topics treated in the first two chapters of St. Luke and of St. Matthew.

Our Lord Himself, so far as we have a record of His words, makes no reference to the Virgin Birth. There are a few texts here and there in the New Testament (as e. g. John I, 13; Gal. IV, 4; Rom. 1, 3) which may be interpreted as indicating knowledge of the Virgin Birth by their authors, but they are too conjectural to cite as reliable evidence. There is no proof that during St. Paul's lifetime belief in the Incarnation depended upon knowledge or acceptance of the Virgin Birth. Whether or not he and his contemporaries themselves knew of it, belief in it was certainly not presented by them as a condition of discipleship.

This is not the occasion on which to attempt to argue the whole question on grounds of scholarship. For our purpose it will suffice to make certain statements which, I believe, afford little ground for dispute:—

1. The matter is not one of text. Neither in the case of St. Luke 1, 34 ff. or of St. Matthew 1, 18-25 is there textual ground for their omission. This does not apply to Matt. 1, 16 where there are varying texts.

2. The problem is inherent in the narrative as it stands. That is to say, side by side with the two-fold narrative of the Virgin Birth there are contradictions or seeming contradictions of it. What the scholars are after is an explanation of the fact. They did not create the problem.

3. The net result of their work thus far is to suggest that the balance of argument may be or is, in their judgment, against rather than for the traditional belief. They have formulated a doubt with no unanimity of opinion in their theories concerning it.

4. It should be borne in mind that the Virgin Birth is not the outstanding, much less the only, incident in the chapters under fire. The object for which they were written was obviously to centre attention on the character of the Hero of the narrative, the conditions attending His conception and birth being but a casket for the jewel therein enshrined—"that which is to be born shall be called holy, the Son of God." Such is the theme both of the first two chapters of St. Luke which Renan terms the "most literary of the Gospels" (Les Evangiles, Ch. XIII) and also of the first two chapters of St. Matthew. At this point it is worth noting that the author of St. Luke, is counted by the archaeologist and Pauline scholar, Ramsay, to be a first rank historian and worthy of being named with Thucydides (St. Paul the Traveller, Chap. 1).

5. The work of scholars on texts and their origin does not form the whole or the only support of the structure of truth in a matter where faith is concerned. There are other pillars of the house. The effect of belief in the Virgin Birth is so inextricably bound up with the Gospel of the Nativity, Infancy and Childhood, that you must reckon with it as an outstanding and dynamic influence of Christian history.

Speaking in terms of the history of Christendom, the subject of the Virgin Birth cannot be detached from its Scriptural context and dealt with as an isolated incident. The whole of the Gospel of the Nativity stands together—the story of Zacharias and his great son's birth; the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary and her unparalleled act of faith; three of the greatest hymns of Christendom (Magnificat, Benedictus, and Nunc Dimittis, to say nothing of the Herald Angels' song, which contains the wisdom of the ages and the sole hope of mankind in the brief compass of eleven Greek words); the story of the manger and the shepherds; the figure of the apprehensive Joseph, the Visit of the Magi, the murder of the Innocents; the single glimpse of the boy Christ and of His conduct in the home. All of these rich and spiritually unique incidents crowd around the Nativity and pay homage to the Babe who, according to the record, was born of a Virgin. Textually speaking, it would be dishonest to eliminate the Virgin Birth in the interest of historicity and claim the balance, or portions of the balance arbitrarily selected, as true to fact. What is said of the figures and the pictures of the Sistine vault is true of the Gospel of the conception, nativity, infancy and boyhood of Christ—"Each part of the immense composition, down to the smallest detail, is necessary to the total effect" (Symonds' Michelangelo, p. 241).

The place which belief in the Gospel of the Nativity and its attendant happenings as recorded in St. Matthew and St. Luke has held in Christian history is so important that without it the whole area of Christian civilization would have been changed and impoverished.

The part that the Gospel of the Nativity, considered as a whole, has played in the devotional life of successive generations of Christians cannot be estimated. Its refining and purifying influence has been unceasing. No portion of the Gospel record is more widely known or loved. It weaves its shining threads of immortal song through daily worship, and crowns with expectation and hope and peace, the quiet faith of countless souls who seek no earthly treasure. To those who "have made themselves eunuchs for the Kingdom of heaven's sake" in conventual life or in the ordinary paths of service to "attend the Lord without distraction" (I Cor. VII, 35), it has afforded inspiration to lowliness, the basic Christian virtue, and to perseverance, which distils purpose into character. It has linked the children of Christendom to the Infant Christ with a tie of sympathy and love which it alone is competent to do. Each year through the ages it re-acts its distinguished drama, brilliant with star and angel, pure as the lily, fragrant as the violet, until the Feast of the Nativity—obsured though it has become by worldliness—shines out as the annual rallying point of faith toward God and goodwill toward men.

Through the age of chivalry was there ever a white clad knight, keeping vigil before the altar, who did not get courage from Mary, gallantly named 'Our Lady,' whom all generations have called both 'Blessed' and 'Virgin,' to pledge his life on the morrow to courtesy, valor and loyalty? It could not but be that so royal a figure as she is portrayed to be, should increase in power and honor—too much says half of Christendom of the other half, too little responds this latter of the former. But this difference of opinion is not for me to settle. I am speaking of what actually occurred in history and gave us such a wealth of immortal architecture and art as has never been equalled. Christian life during the period beginning with the second thousand years of the Christian era was not a calculation but a passion flinging itself against the sky. The inspiring centre was the Gospel of the Nativity, now one part, now another, radiating its rich and tangled influence far and wide.

Turn first to architecture. The great cathedrals and churches built in the 12th and 13th centuries according to Henry Adams were the direct product of belief in the Blessed Virgin Mary. "According to statistics, in the single century between 1170 and 1270, the French built eighty cathedrals and nearly five hundred churches of the cathedral class, which would have cost, according to an estimate made in 1840, more than five thousand millions to replace. Five thousand million francs is a thousand million dollars, and this covered only the great churches of a single century. The same scale of expenditure has been going on since the year 1000. . . . The share of this capital which was—if one may use a commercial figure—invested in the Virgin cannot be fixed, any more than the total sum given to religious objects between 1000 and 1300; but in a spiritual and artistic sense, it was almost the whole, and expressed an intensity of conviction never again reached by any passion, whether of religion, of loyalty, of patriotism, or of wealth; perhaps never even paralleled by any single economic effort, except in war. Nearly every great church of the 12th and 13th centuries belonged to Mary, until in France one asks for the Church of Notre Dame as though it meant cathedral." (Mont-Saint-Michel and Chartres, pp. 94, 95). "The architects of the 12th and 13th centuries took the Church and the universe for truths, and tried to express them in a structure which should be final." (ibid. p. 382).

Religion in those days was much more than a theology; it was at any rate first of all an instinct, a feeling, a dynamic faith. There was not then "only thus far and no further." Men made great ventures in every direction. The saints of yesterday jostled the sinners of today. The Blessed Virgin Mary was the ideal of human perfection, a living force, the friend of the simple folk. We of today with our world wide relations think we have a great family—if indeed we can call the organized human confusion of mankind by so sacred a name. Even the peasant of the times we are considering had a still greater family in his friends of every century. Statues and figures stood for the real presence of the noble and good of yesterday retaining interest in and keeping tab on today. Christ was among men, always available, always the Saviour of prince and pauper alike. Those ages may have lacked in some things but they were days of dynamic faith that produced immortal fruit.

In art we find the same inspiring centre. Whatever other New Testament occurrences found expression on canvas or in stone, the Gospel of the Nativity held a place of prominence second to none. Four names will suffice to witness to the fact—Michael Angelo, Raphael, Botticelli and Titian. Michael Angelo, sculptor, painter, poet, was among the "few men, notably few artists," who "have preserved that continuity of moral, intellectual, and physical development in one unbroken course" (Symonds' Life of Michelangelo p. 85). He was a gruff old bachelor who, like many of his class, claimed for virginity superiority to the married state, as the passage I am about to quote probably indicates. In his Pieta he made the Blessed Virgin appear relatively younger than her Son. In answer to critics he said: "Do you know that chaste women maintain their freshness far longer than the unchaste? How much more would this be the case with a virgin, into whose breast there never crept the least lascivious desire which could affect the body? Nay, I will go further, and hazard the belief that this unsullied bloom of youth, beside being maintained in her by natural causes, may have been miraculously wrought to convince the world of the virginity and perpetual purity of the Mother. This was not necessary for the Son. On the contrary, in order to prove that the Son of God took upon Himself, as in very truth he did take, a human body, and became subject to all that an ordinary man is subject to, with the exception of sin; the human nature of Christ, instead of being superseded by the divine, was left to the operation of natural laws, so that His person revealed the exact age to which He had attained. You need not, therefore, marvel if, having regard to these considerations, I made the most Holy Virgin, Mother of God, much younger relatively to her Son than women of her years usually appear, and left the Son such as His time of life demanded." (Condivi, p. 20, quoted by Symonds).

I multiply names only to avoid the fault of generalizing from a single instance. Raphael's genius was so great that it dazzled rather than inspired his would be followers. His most famous canvas proclaims the faith that held it in happy thrall and made it blossom like a rose.

Of Botticelli, ardent follower of Savonarola, this is equally true. Dignity, beauty, spiritual grace combine in the face and form of his Madonnas. They are maternal yet virgin, gentle yet strong. He painted them even as today an artist paints a sitter. The Virgin was seen by the eye of his faith and he painted only what he saw.

So too Titian, Raphael's twin in genius and purity of conception. My mind travels back through the years and again I stand before that master canvas in Venice and see, as a living form, the tiny blue clad Virgin offering the Infant Christ to the high priest. One listened to catch the echoes of Simeon's song and Anna's prophesy.

These and countless other treasures which we have inherited are the children of that dynamic faith which was kindled by the Gospel of the Nativity of which the Virgin Birth was so integral a part as to have left on all Christendom its own distinctive mark.

I have but imperfectly brought out what history has to say of the power of faith playing upon the clustering persons and incidents of the Gospel of the Nativity of which the Virgin born is the centre. The fruits of their faith are registered today upon every feature of Christian civilization, whether in worship, literature, architecture or art. Their monuments have become treasures which can be interpreted only by such as have the spirit of faith of those who long ago shaped them.

But it is no mere matter of interpretation or of emotion. It is chiefly a question of dynamics. A Sistine Madonna issues a challenge: "This is what faith in the Gospel of the Nativity did in the sixteenth century. Is it a dynamic force in your day? What is it producing in the way of consecration, worship, character, or beauty within and without?" The question is fair and invites an honest answer. It is an old and searching demand that faith must issue in works. As is the depth and height of our belief so will its fruits be. Those who claim the most perfect object of faith, with the largest diversity of tributary or auxiliary truths, must exhibit a correspondingly splendid fruitfulness, or discredit religion.

Nor is it primarily a question of written creeds but of loyalty to a living God. The Catholic Creeds hold their honored place, and will hold them, as aids in making faith proportioned, comprehensive and dynamic. The Apostles' Creed is the epigram of Christianity, the Nicene its sonnet. There are no other creeds but these, not counting the Athanasian Anthem, inside or outside of Christendom. Confessions of faith come and go but the Catholic Creeds or symbols abide, and will abide, until or unless an undivided Church alters them as an undivided Church shaped them. The Church is greater than the creeds but a fraction of a fragment of the Church is not.

The Virgin Birth appears in the Roman Creed of the fourth century. Our Apostles' Creed, into which the Roman Creed eventually was absorbed, reached its final form in the eighth century. From the second century onward the Virgin Birth has been believed as an actual occurrence, bound up with the divinity of our Lord, not necessarily as the chief ground of belief in the Incarnation but related to it as what might be called a corollary, witnessing to its truth.

There is a popular argument against the Virgin Birth which is common and ought to be considered—viz. that it runs counter to the observed processes of nature and therefore could not have happened. This is tantamount to saying that an unclassified phenomenon must be imaginative rather than actual, which is as unscientific as it is absurd. The true scientist does not reject an alleged occurrence because it partakes of the miraculous or because he counts 'law' to have objective reality and final authority. I quote Huxley on the subject. He denies "the justice of the preacher's ascription to men of science of the doctrine that miracles are incredible, because they are violations of natural law" (Science and Christian Tradition p. 94). "The definition of a miracle as a 'violation of the laws of nature' is, in reality, an employment of language which, on the face of the matter, cannot be justified. For 'nature' means neither more nor less than that which is; the sum of phenomena presented to our experience; the totality of events past, present, and to come. Every event must be taken to be a part of nature until proof to the contrary is supplied. And such proof is, from the nature of the case, impossible" (Hume p. 154). Again he says: "A law of nature, in the scientific sense, is the product of a mental operation upon the facts of nature which come under our observation, and has no more existence outside the mind than color has.... In fact, the habitual use of the word 'law,' in the sense of an active thing, is almost a mark of pseudo-science; it characterizes the writings of those who have appropriated the forms of science without knowing anything of its substance" (Science and Christian Tradition, pp. 76, 77). He quotes with approval the Duke of Argyll: "The question of miracles seems now to be admitted on all hands to be simply a question of evidence" (ibid. p. 95). Dean Inge offsets the conclusions of pseudoscience, and of scholars so-called who aim to destroy the legitimate exercise of faith by dogmatic rationalism and determinism: "Modern Science," he says, "is well aware that the world with which it deals is a mental construction from very imperfect knowledge. The visible spectrum occupies only 1/27 of the known range of ethereal vibrations. We only see that small fraction of the colors which eyes differently constructed might see. The same is true of sound. We hear over a range of about eleven octaves, but physicists assure us that there must be thousands of octaves. Our mental picture of the world is like that which would be conveyed to an audience by a musician who played a piano, of which all but half a dozen notes were dumb. If that audience got any notion of a tune, the tune would be largely the work of their own imagination, and would be very unlike the tune composed by Mozart or Beethoven. In these circumstances, science aims at consistency rather than certainty" (Plotinus Vol. 1, p. 153).

To admit, then, that the Virgin Birth was a miraculous event and contrary to human experience, is not necessarily to discredit its historicity. To deny it a place, on that score, in a book full of the miraculous, of which the central miracle is the Man Christ Jesus, would be to accept the greater and reject the lesser. "I once drew from Huxley," writes Bishop Gore, "the admission that if he believed—what he did not—that Jesus was strictly sinless, he would suppose that that involved as well a physical as a moral miracle" (Belief in God, p. 281). According to the account of the Annunciation, the Virgin Birth was not produced by God's fiat. God declares His will through the angel. The faith of the Virgin embraces it—"Behold the handmaid of the Lord; be it unto me according to thy word" (Luke I, 38). She had "found grace with God" and was "blessed among women." God put her to the test and she was not found wanting. Her faith completed what God's purpose needed and always needs before it can fully operate—man's co-operation. In other words this miracle came to pass like many others recorded throughout the Gospels, and in the same way that our answers to prayer are given, by faith rising to meet God's will.

In the last analysis, in both the case of the Virgin Birth and in what widely differs from it and belongs to the realm of science, I mean the origin of man as now generally accepted, the determining factor of our conclusion toward the one and the other is faith, faith which is not bald acceptance of it as historical truth but as an operative influence on life and conduct. There is a good illustration of the indispensable function of faith in the workings of the scientific mind in Julian Huxley's brilliant and fanciful "Essays of a Biologist" (p. 252 f.). "Living matter," he says, "is merely a special and highly complicated form of ordinary matter; and there can be no reasonable doubt that it has originated naturally from non-living matter.... The evolutionary concept is to biology what the doctrine of the conservation of energy has been in the physico-chemical sciences—an indispensable preliminary to proper methods of attack." He prefaces the essay on "Religion and Science" from which I have quoted with a striking poem which, with but little change, would be descriptive of the operation of Christian faith.

"The world of things entered your infant mind
To populate that crystal cabinet.
Within its walls the strangest partners met,
And things turned thoughts did propagate their kind.

For, once within, corporeal fact could find
A spirit. Fact and you in mutual debt
Built there your little microcosm—which yet
Had hugest tasks to its small self assigned.

Dead men can live there, and converse with stars:
Equator speaks with Pole, and Night with Day:
Spirit dissolves the world's material bars—
A million isolations burn away.
The Universe can live and work and plan,
At last made God within the mind of man."

(op. cit. p. 234)

To the layman in such matter, the energetic leaps by which some scientists cross chasms seem to rival the royal flights of faith taken by religious believers.

The articles of the Creed all call for the exercise of faith but not necessarily all of the same character or degree. Faith in God is our side of the great reciprocity by which we surrender ourselves to Him in order that He may consummate His gift of Himself to us. Faith in an event or an ideal is an acquisitive activity of the soul which rises above intellectual assent only when the spiritual content within the phenomenon of history or of mind is sought for, found, appropriated and dispensed to others. The former faith is fundamental, the latter tributary.

That there are grades of value in the truths upon which faith operates, Bishop Gore indicates in a passage frequently quoted of late: "I think that those who believe that the historical citadel can be maintained should insist that the question of the birth is secondary and not primary, viz. that the question of faith in Jesus must rest still, where it was made to rest from the beginning, on the life, teaching, death and resurrection of Jesus. On these quite apart from any questions concerning His birth the faith stood and still could stand" (Belief in God pp. 279, 280). I think that one reason why the Virgin Birth is being questioned is because, not having been recognized as secondary, it has been popularly expected to carry a burden too heavy for it to bear. It is an auxiliary and not a principal truth. But it is one thing to say that a thing is secondary and quite another that it is of no account.

More intellectual assent to the Virgin Birth as a historical occurrence is of no special value. Even though it is secondary rather than primary it should contribute stimulus for dynamic faith today as well as in the past. Is it quite honest to say that we believe in the Virgin Birth when all we mean is that we acquiesce in it as having adequate historical support?

An eminent scholar (F. C. Burkitt in his Gospel History and its Transmission p. 350 f.) says: "Our belief or disbelief in most of the Articles in the Apostles' Creed does not ultimately rest on historical criticism of the Gospels, but upon the general view of the universe, of the order of things, which our training and environment, or our inner experience, has led us severally to take. The Birth of our Lord from a virgin and His Resurrection from the dead—to name the most obvious Articles of the Creed—are not matters which historical criticism can establish." Vincent Taylor cites this passage at the close of his book on the "Historical Evidence for the Virgin Birth" (p. 129) where he touches upon the theological question. "Our purpose," he says, "has been to examine the historical and critical questions and to show where the real problem lies. Criticism cannot solve that problem. Nevertheless, its contribution is not barren. It can discuss interpolation theories; it can treat of the literary form which the tradition has assumed in the Gospels. It can date—imperfectly it is true—the time when the belief became current. It can apply broad tests of credibility. We ourselves believe that it can say the miracle may have transpired. But it can say no more. The last word is with Theology" (ibid. p. 130).

The doctrine of the Virgin Birth has been so bound up with the metaphysic of Christ's Person in the life and experience of Christendom almost from the beginning, that its value cannot be weighed as a thing apart. It is a band of silver in a web of gold. It has been and is an auxiliary bulwark against naturalism which considers Jesus Christ in terms of humanity alone. The Christian view of God as shaped from the intertwined testimony of the Gospels and the experience of the ages holds it as in conformity with His Fatherhood. Those who hold the Virgin Birth, in that they have added testimony to the Incarnation, must exhibit a proportionately heightened loyalty to the Incarnate One. So far as it vivifies our faith in the living Christ as the "Way, the Truth and the Life," it is its own best champion. It is incumbent upon those who preach it to see that it bears fruit in adding to dynamic faith in our Lord. First by an intensified purpose at all hazards to live by His teaching in the Sermon on the Mount. This ought to be the next great adventure of the Church. The claim that in making it we would discover the Sermon on the Mount to be not only Divine but also mundane and practical truth, is not an idle one. Secondly by ardently living our lip belief that Christ is the Saviour of the world. We who are the product of Christian missions can do nothing less than become missionaries. Is it not a fair question to put to the professing Christian—What are you doing to bring at least one individual to a personal knowledge of Jesus Christ as Saviour? What are you doing to support the Church in its Divinely commissioned task of carrying the Gospel to barren places in our own country, to China and Japan and the uttermost parts of the earth? Or summing it all up in a single question—To what degree are you regulating your life by faith in Jesus Christ and His teaching? It is not without significance that, bound up with the doctrine of the Virgin Birth, was the activity of faith that moves mountains. By faith the maiden became the Mother. In mystical language the operation of the Holy Spirit works in us as of yore. He worked in every stage of the Incarnation—through co-operative faith in Him, Christ is conceived and born in us. This comes first and calls for a supreme act of faith. On the foundation of "Christ in us," as St. Paul expresses it, the whole fabric of the Christian character is reared. Happily this is not a matter of dispute among Christians.

These are days, then, as I view it, in which we must strive to bear testimony to our belief in Christ in terms of affirmative and dynamic faith and not of partisan fever and mutual recriminations. Only so shall we be able to peer into the great depths of truth—not through a storm-lashed and murky sea but through a calm surface which at once reflects in its bosom the glory of the heavens and forms a sunlit approach to the splendors of the ocean's floor. There is no haste in this matter. The Church which of old could bear, without breaking, the pantheism of a St. Francis, the modernism of an Aquinas, and the nominalism of an Abelard, can afford to be patient, at a moment of singular unrest, with the antinomies or seeming antinomies of the day. A Church pulled to bits is of as little use or beauty as a stone pile. If we must needs quarrel let our differences continue to be family quarrels, which are at once the best and the worst there are. At any rate the inherent unity for which the family stands is a restraining influence in debate and furnishes a common table for the discussion of varying minds.

I wish to commend to both clergy and laity for Lenten reading Dean Inge's new book "Personal Religion and the Life of Devotion," which comes to me as the closing pages of this Charge are being typed. In a magnificent chapter on faith which would have greatly helped in preparing what I have written, had I been fortunate enough to have it before me earlier, he quotes a poem of Hartley Coleridge which I repeat as a fitting close to a consideration of dynamic faith.

"Think not the faith by which the just shall live
Is a dead creed, a map correct of heaven,
Far less a feeling fond and fugitive,
A thoughtless gift, withdrawn as soon as given,
It is an affirmation and an act
Which makes eternal truth be present fact."
(op. cit. p. 48).

Bishop Suffragan's Address

In making my annual address to the Convention I want first of all to record my grateful appreciation of the privilege it has been to carry on the Master's work in a Diocese so harmonious in its spirit, so gracious and kind in its co-operation with the work I have been called on to perform, and under the leadership of one who has ever been to me as an elder Brother. The problems we have had to face during the past year, and seek to solve, have been for the most part problems of administration and those incident to changing conditions in parishes, and not the problems of discontent, discord or disaster. Under such conditions one is constantly inspired to do one's best, and the work at all times is a joy and a privilege.

During the year I have baptized fifteen persons, officiated at eight weddings, and conducted seventeen funerals. I have ordained three to the Diaconate, and one to the Priesthood. I have confirmed 689 persons, in a total of sixty-three classes. I have been entrusted with $981.56 for use of my Bishop's Fund, out of which I have distributed a total of $968.63.

There is only one subject on which I shall ask the privilege of speaking tonight, and that is "Family Religion." In days when there is a tendency to multiply organizations we are constantly confronted with the danger lest reliance be placed on these to do the Master's work, instead of being simply a more efficient method for doing the real work of the Ministry. When a boy I used to go at times to a grist mill, and there I learned that the more noise the mill made the less grist it turned out. It is well for us to come back to the Master's method, with a deeper appreciation of what our Ministry expects of us, not the noise of machinery, but the deepening of the religious life.

In more than one of his Epistles S. Paul closes with a salutation to "The Church that is in thy house." I take it that meant more than a gathering for worship on Sunday. The elements of religion were there as a part of the household life and atmosphere. The root meaning of "Religion" is that essence which binds persons together in a household as well as in the Church, each with the other, and all to God. The unit of Religion is not the individual but the family. And until the individual's religion has reached out to enfold the other members of the family it has not achieved its purpose.

One of the greatest menaces confronting the American home today is the ease through which it is broken up by Divorce. More than six million persons were ground through the divorce mills of our nation in the first twenty years of this century, whole counties in one of our western states where there were more divorces than marriages. We boast of our civilization, and yet this nation leads the world in the number of homes broken through divorce, a national average of one to every ten. Seeking for a remedy there can be but one answer, and that is religion in the home. It is not in the nature of things that among all those broken homes there was a Family Altar. I have enough faith in my fellow-men to believe that no husband and wife can kneel shoulder to shoulder day by day in corporate family prayer with their children gathered about them, and in sincerity and truth commend each other into God's keeping, and then go out into the world and deliberately do that which breaks the marriage vow.

To my mind one of the sweetest pictures in the Gospel story is that of Jesus in the Home. Think what it meant to have Jesus in S. Peter's home when his wife's mother lay stricken with fever. Or in Jairus' home when their daughter lay dead. Or in that Bethany home. There is more than pathos in Martha's words: "Lord if Thou hadst been here my brother had not died." "Lord if Thou hadst been the unseen Guest in the homes of six millions of persons here in America during the first twenty years of this century, these homes would not have been broken into by divorce, nor the fruit of love turned into the ashes of Sodom."

Let no Priest of the Church think he has fulfilled his Ministry simply by pouring oil into the machinery. Back of every sermon should be the Master, back of every call the longing to have Him the cherished and unseen Guest in that home. I believe there is many a home today where the fire would be kept burning on a Family Altar were the Pastor to encourage it, supplementing the words by the experience of his own home. The longer I live the more convinced I become that sermons should deal with simple things in a simple way, instead of a learned (?) treatise on some Theological discussion in which we may be interested, or the latest book we may have chanced to read. Were we to observe this principle many sermons would not be delivered the second time.

With family prayer and Grace before meals should go the open Bible. The National Council of the Church has done good service for the Church in its little pamphlet on Daily Bible Readings. I have been greatly cheered in my Visitations, when speaking on these subjects, to have definite questions asked and have definite promises made. We commend these Readings to the Clergy, and urge them to provide the Readings for those committed to their care. It would give an impetus to the plan if the Clergy would make these Readings the themes for their sermons for a definite period, say from now until Easter, and invite the members of their congregations to join with them day by day in reading and studying them. We prayerfully commend these vital matters to your serious consideration.

June 8th, 1923. The Standing Committee met at the Parish House of St. Paul's Church, 128 Pearl Street, Buffalo.

Present: Rev. Chas. A. Jessup, D.D., Rev. Lewis G. Morris, D.D., Hon. Seldon S. Brown, Messrs. Eugene C. Denton, George F. Plimpton and Myron M. Ludlow, Jr.

The committee took under consideration the death of the Rev. Pierre Cushing, S.T.D., and upon motion regularly made and seconded, the following Tribute was unanimously adopted.

"In the sudden and unexpected removal from our number by death of the Reverend Dr. Pierre Cushing, the Diocese of Western New York has lost one of the ablest and most devoted of its clergy, and we have lost a loyal, true and steadfast friend, and brother.

"His long and honored term of service, covering a period of thirty-five years, as rector of St. Mark's Church, LeRoy, bears witness to his faithfulness as a pastor and to his devoted priestly life.

"The positions of honor and responsibility which he occupied in the Church testify to the high esteem in which he was held, and to the entire confidence which his fellow churchmen had in his character and in his judgment.

"The regard and affection which were freely and universally bestowed upon him by his fellow citizens of every class and condition are a deserved tribute to him as a true man and a sincere Christian.

"A ripe scholar, a sound theologian, a humble disciple of his Master, a true friend of man—he has fought a good fight, he has finished his course, he has kept the faith.

"Aeterna fac cum sanctis tuis gloria munerari."

Nominations were received of candidates to succeed Dr. Cushing and on vote being taken in each order, the Rev. Samuel Tyler, D.D., received the unanimous vote of both the clerical and lay members of the Committee and Dr. Tyler was therefore declared duly elected, subject to the consent of the Bishop of the Diocese.

A communication was received from the Cathedral Chapter requesting the consent of the Standing Committee to transfer to the Cathedral Chapter a plot of land within the bounds of the Diocesan property on North Street for the purpose of erecting thereon a dwelling house for the Bishop of the Diocese. After duly considering the application, the committee prepared for transmission to Cathedral Chapter, the following statement:

"The Standing Committee of the Diocese of Western New York is of the opinion that when its consent is required before a certain action can be taken, there is placed upon it the responsibility of giving due consideration to the desirability as well as to the legality of such action. The Standing Committee realizes that a prior and greater responsibility rests upon the Cathedral Chapter in matters connected with providing a suitable Episcopal residence for our Diocesan and in the present instance it does not go beyond presenting certain queries for the consideration of the Cathedral Chapter which it is sure the Cathedral Chapter will duly consider.

"First: Are the funds of the Diocese, which are in custody of the Cathedral Chapter for the erection of a Bishop's residence, to be used in such a way that there will probably be no loss of principal, if the building which it is now proposed to erect has to be sold at any future time?

"Second: Is the building, which it is now proposed to erect, to be of such a character that it would be sufficiently commodious for a residence of a Bishop with a family of some size?

"Third: Has the fact been sufficiently considered that a residence on the proposed site would have an outlook which would be considered undesirable and unpleasant?

"Fourth: Is the Cathedral Chapter willing to consider the question as to whether an Episcopal residence on the proposed site would be in keeping of the dignity of the office of Bishop of Western New York, an office to which our present Bishop has brought the added honor of his own great name and fame?

"The Standing Committee realizes that a primary and direct responsibility for considering these and cognate questions rests upon the Cathedral Chapter and in this instance its consent to the transfer of this property is required so that it may have an opportunity to pass upon the desirability of the transfer, but it feels that it would be lacking in the discharge of its own responsibility if it failed to suggest these questions to the Cathedral Chapter and to urge their consideration before final action is taken in erecting a See-house on the proposed site."

On motion regularly made and seconded, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"RESOLVED, that the application of the Cathedral Chapter for the consent of the Standing Committee to transfer of said property by the Trustees of the Parochial Fund to the Cathedral Chapter for the purpose of erecting thereon a See House be deferred until a future meeting."

A communication was received from the Rector, Church Wardens and Vestry of Christ Church in Albion, County of Orleans, New York, requesting the consent of the Standing Committee to the sale of certain property to R. Titus Coan for $3,900.00. After consideration on motion regularly made, seconded and adopted the consent was granted.

An application was received from Zion Episcopal Church, Avon, N. Y., asking the consent of the Standing Committee to mortgage certain of its property for the sum of $4,000.00. After consideration, and on motion regularly made, seconded and carried, the consent was granted.

A communication was received from the Diocese of New Jersey, requesting the consent of the Standing Committee to the election of a Bishop Coadjutor for the Diocese of New Jersey, on the ground of "Extent of Diocesan Work." Upon motion regularly made and seconded, the consent was granted.

June 29th, 1923. The Standing Committee met at the office of the Chancellor, Rochester, N. Y.

Present: Rev. Lewis G. Morris, D.D., Rev. Samuel Tyler, D.D., Hon. Seldon S. Brown, and Messrs. Eugene C. Denton and Myron M. Ludlow, Jr. On motion regularly made, seconded and carried, the Rev. Dr. Morris was elected Chairman.

The consent of Bishop Brent to the election of the Rev. Samuel Tyler, D.D., to fill out the unexpired term of the Rev. Pierre Cushing, S.T.D., deceased, was received and filed and Doctor Tyler was thereupon declared a member of the Committee.

Notice was received from the Board of Trustees of DeVeaux School that the Rev. Cameron J. Davis, D.D., had been elected trustee in the place and stead of the Rev. Pierre Cushing, S.T.D., deceased. On motion, the election of Dr. Davis to membership on the Board of Trustees of DeVeaux School was confirmed.

Notice was received of the election of the Rev. James E. Freeman to be Bishop of the Diocese of Washington, and on motion duly made, seconded and carried, the committee consented to the Ordination and consecration of the Rev. James E. Freeman to be Bishop of the Diocese of Washington.

"Whereas, under the terms of the said donor's gift, it is required that the title to such a site, as may be used for the purposes indicated, shall vest in said Chapter; and

"Whereas, under and by the terms of a certain deed from Charles H. Brent to the Trustees of the Parochial Fund bearing date December 8th, 1920, power and authority was granted to said Trustees to sell and convey the hereinabove described Real Estate, or any part thereof, by and with the consent of the then Bishop and Standing Committee of said Diocese; and

"Whereas, like application has heretofore been made by said chapter to the Trustees of the Parochial Fund, which application was duly considered at a recent meeting of said Fund Committee, and action thereon taken, approving and granting the same, subject to the consent of the said Bishop and said Standing Committee, thereto; and

"Whereas, the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Western New York now has under consideration said application of the Cathedral Chapter, with accompanying survey of the suggested plot of land for the use and purposes hereinabove indicated, and it having given this matter its due, deliberate and careful consideration;

"Now therefore, be it resolved that the Standing Committee hereby consents to the sale of the certain plot of land designated on the survey thereof, by the said Trustees of the Parochial Fund by warranty deed to the said Cathedral Chapter, for the express purpose of a site upon which shall be built by said Chapter a dwelling for the Bishop of Western New York to be known as the 'See House;' together with an agreement granting a right of way to and from said site over and through the present drive-way to North Street; and an easement for a right of way for sewerage to Summer Street.

SEPTEMBER 11, 1923

(27) The Executive Council received the following letter from Bishop Brent.

September 1, 1923.

"To the Executive Council,
"Diocese of Western New York.

"Gentlemen:

J

"I am sorry that again I should have to leave the country and my work in the Diocese on short notice, at the request of the President and the Secretary of State. With my former associates Congressman Porter and Assistant Surgeon General Blue, I am to represent the United States at the Assembly of The League of Nations in the subject of International Narcotic Drug Control. We are going at the request of the League that the United States should be represented.

"It will be the first time that the United States will have been represented for any purpose at the Assembly of the League. At first I endeavored to get release from the appointment, but it was argued that were I not to go it would jeopardize all that we gained in the Spring. After consulting with Bishop Ferris and other advisers among clergy and laity I reluctantly consented to go. I sail today on the 'George Washington.' My plan is to be back on the 21st unless there is unlooked for delay in dealing with our subject. At latest I ought to be back on the 25th, on the 'Olympic.'

"I have gone over with Bishop Ferris all that this session of the Executive Council should consider, so that there is no need for me to add anything in this letter. It is because Bishop Ferris is as competent as I to handle our common responsibilities that I go without anxieties. I am hoping that this will be the last occasion when there will be any necessity for me to go abroad in connection with this stubborn problem.

"Commending myself to your prayers and assuring you that I shall carry you in mine. I remain,

Your affectionate Friend and Bishop,

CHARLES H. BRENT."

(28) On the recommendation of the Department of Finance the following resolution was adopted:

"RESOLVED, that the sum of $1,962.35 be taken from the Diocese Emergency Fund to pay debts of St. Philip's Church of Buffalo and that the action of the Department of Finance be ratified."

(29) On motion regularly made and seconded and carried, the following were appointed as a budget committee: Rev. Cameron J. Davis, D.D., Chairman, together with the Chairmen of each of the Departments of Mission and Church Extension, Religious Education, Christian Social Service, Publicity, and all of the members of the Department of Finance.

(30) The Executive Council received the report of the Committee appointed at the last meeting to formulate and define the power and authority of the Department of Missions and Church Extension and the Church Extension Society of Buffalo and the Church Extension of Rochester in the counties of Erie and Monroe. The report is as follows:

"To the Rt. Rev. C. H. Brent, the Rt. Rev. D. L. Ferris and the Members of the Executive Council of the Diocese of Western New York:

"Gentlemen:

"It is the opinion of your committee that the confusion which seems to arise out of the present situation would be much clarified if the status of the three agents at work in Missionary Field of the Diocese is first stated. In our opinion this status is as follows:

"1. The Department of Missions is a Standing Committee of the Executive Council of the Diocese charged by that body with the conduct of Mission work in the Diocese of Western New York. It has no corporate existence. It may spend certain money assigned it under a budget system by the Executive Council as the legal representative of the Diocesan Convention and a continuation committee of the same. It can contract no debt beyond the scope of its budget unless so ordered by the Council or Convention. Its acts must be authorized before hand by the Council, or legalized afterwards by vote. Its business is to seek out proper agents for the conduct of the Missionary enterprises of the Diocese, to bargain with them for the work and to receive their reports and direct any portion of their work as may be declared to be the duty of the Department by the rules adopted by the Executive Council. While these rules may originate with the Department they are authentic only when legalized by the Council. The agents by which the Department seeks to carry out the will of the Council fall under three heads. Clergy or lay workers with whom it contracts to cover certain fields at the direction of The Bishop, Missions which have such existence as the laws of the Diocese grant them, and CORPORATIONS known under the State Law as Parishes. Since a corporation under the state law known as a Parish has the right to contract bills, hold property, etc., all that the Department may do is to aid them to do certain work financially or withdraw this aid if the work fails. Since Parishes may elect their own Rectors by the Laws of the State and of the Diocese, and Vestries may raise funds and hold them, when this kind of Corporation is made an agent of the Department the method of procedure is for the Parish to be requested to take charge of a territory, to estimate the cost of the work, to prepare a budget and to submit the same with a request for such aid as will make the work a success. In reviewing such a budget the Department seeks to see that adequate allowance is made for the work and that sufficient returns come from the work. Plans and details, unless requested, are left to the Parish, the Missionary and their Spiritual Director, the Bishop of the Diocese.

"2. The two Church Extension Societies of the Diocese are CORPORATIONS under the meaning of the State Law. They receive their jurisdiction under Diocesan Law just as does a Parish. Their financial support is received at present from the Central Treasury, which supplies the Executive Council by vote of the Diocesan Convention and as such they are under the guidance of the Executive Council in the matter of Budget allowance from the Diocese. Like a Parish they have the right to raise and hold money and property. These two societies were chartered to undertake two duties, to extend the Church to the unchurched in institutions, hospitals or homes, where they could find no organized work of the Church and to found new missionary parochial work of the Church in the respective Counties of their charters, Erie and Monroe. But as all jurisdiction over such work belongs to the Diocese, and the Diocese through the annual Convention passes its authority to its continuation Committee, known as the Diocesan Executive Council, these two societies looking to the Diocese for jurisdiction, receive it at the hands of the Diocesan Executive Council, which Council voted to accept the report of its Standing Committee on Missions, known as the Department of Church Extension and Missions, to make the counties of Erie and Monroe the special concern of the respective Buffalo and Rochester Church Extension Societies. Thus it would seem that the two Church Extension Societies were selected as the agents of the Department of Missions as Corporations to whom Erie and Monroe County work should be assigned. It remains, however, for those two societies to accept such work by vote, and to designate what they would need by a budget to do the work and to make a proper agreement for the work. It is just this that has not been properly done heretofore. The budgets of the two Societies have been treated as separate things and their assignment of territory has been of vague generalization, rather than of specific facts. The result has been hardship for the societies. Little by little work has been heaped upon their workers for which they were not prepared and since they were corporations they were naturally desirous that they should not be put under direction of outside committees, just as a parish is naturally desirous of freedom from executive control on the part of any Department. It is our opinion that all of this needs to be revised and we therefore offer the following suggestions as a means of correcting the difficulties under which they have labored.

"1st. That the first step in the matter should be for the Department of Missions to state to the Societies what work the Council desires them to undertake.

"2nd. That the two societies then prepare a budget showing the cost of such work and stating what resources they have to meet this cost.

"3rd. That such cost of this budget as the Council votes to accept be included with the other Missionary items as the Budget of the Diocesan Mission and Church Extension Work.

"4th. That the two agents, the Buffalo and the Rochester Church Extension Societies be not asked nor allowed to undertake more work than they are equipped to handle, or if work become more than they foresaw, with the advice of the Bishop, they be allowed to surrender it to the Department for other disposition.

"5th. That if, during the year, new work is given them to do, funds for which they did not receive in their first yearly budget and which they have not the adequate means to finance, that it be the understood fact that they are within their rights to call for proper finances before they undertake the work and that the fact that they have a budget should not be used as an excuse for the withholding of such aid.

"6th. That the terms of the charters of these two Societies which defines them as to do work in Erie or Monroe County, respectively be not interpreted either as compelling them to take care of all work in these counties nor as making it appear that they have a chartered right to pre-empt this territory, but solely as localizing them in the eyes of the law and defining where they are to work.

"7th. That the matter of JURISDICTION for these societies be left to a mutual understanding of the wishes of the Bishop, the Boards of Trustees of the two Societies and the Executive Council, working through its Standing Committee, The Department of Missions, due regard being given to the fact that it is the furthering of the Kingdom of Christ which is the aim of us all.

"Respectfully submitted,

FREDK. CROSBY LEE,

CHARLES R. ALLISON,

Committee."

and upon receiving the foregoing report adopted the following resolution:

"RESOLVED, that the Executive Council adopt the definition of the Power and authority of the Department of Missions and Church Extension as set forth in the foregoing report."

The Executive Council then adopted the following resolutions:

"RESOLVED, that the Executive Council indorse the seven principles relative to the work of the Department of Missions and the two Church Extension Societies, set forth in the foregoing report."

(31) Bishop Ferris presented the following telegram:

"Bishop McKim cables, 'Our Missionaries safe. All Tokyo Churches, schools, residences and St. Luke's Hospital destroyed. Missionaries lost all household and personal effects. Need emergency relief for Missionaries and Japanese Clergy and Church people. All gone but faith in God.'

"RESOLVED, that the payment to the General Church of moneys in excess of $35,000 for the calendar year of 1923, be referred to the Department of Finance with power and that the Emergency Fund of the Diocese, together with unexpended appropriation balances, be and hereby are made available for that purpose."

The Committee also recommended that parishes and missions adopt a single envelope system instead of the Duplex system for the payment of all Pledges, Parochial, Diocesan or for the General Church with the understanding that the total payment collected be divided proportionately between the Parochial budget and the Diocesan apportionment according to the ratio between the two amounts.

On motion, the report of the committee was accepted and the committee discharged with thanks.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLICITY

To the Executive Council of the Diocese of Western New York:
Gentlemen:

Your Department of Publicity respectfully submits its annual report for the past diocesan year:

The membership of the Department is as follows: Rev. Benjamin S. Sanderson, Chairman; Mr. Myron M. Ludlow, Jr.; Rev. Geo. F. Williams, Messrs. Roy C. Kates and George D. Emerson and Miss Elizabeth Lawrence. These latter three have, as in the year previous, acted as our diocesan agents to co-operate with the News Bureau of the National Council in reporting Church news of general interest through the local press and in our general Church papers. Through their efforts a publicity is being given to our Church which cannot help doing good.

The main work of the Department is that with which it was originally charged and for which it was created: the publication and distribution of OUR DIOCESAN FELLOWSHIP as the official magazine of the diocese, the nine numbers for 1923, constituting Vol. III, are placed in the official archives of the Diocese as our Exhibit. Your Chairman as Editor, has been mainly concerned in the preparation and publication of these and desires to express his deep appreciation of the co-operation he has received from our Bishops and his brethren of the clergy and from many of the laity in all parts of the diocese. We feel now that the magazine has reached a recognized position as a necessary part of our diocesan machinery and its discontinuance would be a terrible mistake.

The Department has used every means within its power to extend its circulation and a comparison with similar ventures elsewhere, reveals that our circulation relatively is far ahead of the average.

A careful study of our Mailing list shows that there are still a number of our parishes and missions where not a single copy of the paper comes. In many of our larger and stronger places the number of subscriptions is singularly out of proportion to the number of families. While a magazine of this sort can never expect to be entirely self-supporting and a part of its cost is recognized by the administrative authorities of the diocese as properly a part of the cost of administration, your Department feels that a more determined effort on the part of our clergy and possibly an active interest by our vestries, would materially lessen the amount of the subsidy which annually must come to us from the diocesan treasury, if our bills are to be met. We commend again to Vestries, the plan which has been adopted in a few (all too few) instances, the underwriting of a sufficient copies (at the bulk rate of 50 cents each) to supply each family in the parish with a copy. Even in the largest parish the amount would not be excessive or swell greatly the Parish Budget. But its adoption would bring nearer the goal originally set by Bishop Brent, "A copy of OUR DIOCESAN FELLOWSHIP each month in every home in the diocese."

|--|-------------------|
| Total number of individual subscriptions for 1923, | |
| 577 at $1.00 each | $ 577.00 |
| Total number of bulk subscriptions for 1923, | |
| 2747 at 50c each | 1,373.50 |
| Single copy sales, 101 at 10c each | 10.10 |
| TOTAL | $1,960.60 |

|-------------------------------------|------------|------------|
| From individual subscriptions | $ 129.00 | |
| From bulk subscriptions | 960.00 | |
| From single copy sales | 5.10 | |
| | <hr/> | |

AMOUNTS OUTSTANDING

|-------------------------------------|-----------|------------|
| From individual subscriptions | $ 448.00 | |
| From bulk subscriptions | 413.50 | |
| From single copy sales | 5.00 | |
| | <hr/> | |
| TOTAL | $ 866.50 | $ 866.50 |
| | | <hr/> |

|---|------------|
| Net expenses to the Diocese for the publication of the magazine for the year 1923 | $2,152.17 |

The last of the above items is on the assumption that the uncollected accounts are finally collected. This will be impossible to do but a great many outstanding accounts could be collected if the department had the facilities to send statements from time to time or use other methods to remind the subscribers of their indebtedness. The only methods which we have been able to use is by making mention of the subscription cost in the pages of the magazine.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

BENJAMIN S. SANDERSON,
Chairman.

MYRON M. LUDLOW, JR.,
Business Manager.

Report of the Financial Secretary

To the Right Reverends the Bishops, and the Members of the Diocesan Convention:

As heretofore, many of the results of the activities of the Financial Secretary are bound up in the reports of the Treasurer of the Diocese, the Treasurer of the Pension Fund Committee, and the Treasurer of the DeLancey Divinity School Income Fund.

During the past year the office has distributed the Church at Work and literature of various kinds, which, including that for the Every-Member Canvass, has necessitated the handling and mailing of many thousands of pieces.

Your Secretary has been in attendance at all regular and special meetings of the Executive Council, Departments of Missions, Religious Education, and Finance, and in many instances has given counsel on financial matters to parishes either through correspondence or personal conference.

A great deal of stationery and postage is used by this office in urging collection and payment of pledges. The custom of remitting to the diocesan treasurer in small and infrequent amounts during three-quarters of the year and then making a grand spurt in the last quarter, especially the last month, running over ten days or more into the succeeding year, is becoming a habit. This occasions embarrassment to the Diocese and the General Church as our bills must be met promptly. Most of our money is expended for salaries and they cannot be held up.

Payment of pledges for Parish, Diocesan and General Church support are allowed to fall behind largely because of a hesitancy on the part of parish treasurers to call attention to arrears of weekly, monthly or quarterly subscriptions. As a result Parishes are often without ready funds to meet current expenses, while the Diocese and General Church experience the same difficulty. The practice of sending monthly, or at least, quarterly, statements to subscribers in arrears should be adopted by every parish. A pledge to support the work of the Church is surely no less a definite obligation than accounts contracted for food, fuel and merchandise.

Respectfully submitted,

A. F. FREEMAN,
Financial Secretary.

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The Department of Religious Education begs to submit to the Executive Council a resume of its activities for the past year.

At the beginning of the year the Executive Council appointed the following as the nucleus of the Department of Religious Education: Rev. C. A. Jessup, D.D., Rev. Alfred Brittain, the Rev. W. C. Compton and Mr. Harper Sibley. To these were added later: Miss Lucy G. Arnold, the Rev. Murray Bartlett, D.D., the Rev. G. S. Burrows, D.D., the Rev. J. W. Denness Cooper, Mr. A. F. Freeman, Mrs. Kingman N. Robins, Mrs. B. G. Tallman. The Rev. Cameron J. Davis, D.D., was appointed by the Provincial Synod to represent that body on the Department as a member of the Board of Trustees of the DeLancey Divinity School. Ex-officio members of the Department are: Right Rev. C. H. Brent, D.D., and the Right Rev. D. L. Ferris, L.H.D. In November Mrs. S. Ray Pierson was elected to the Department to take the place of Mrs. Kingman N. Robins, resigned.

The Department organized with the following officers: Chairman, Dr. Jessup, Vice-Chairman, Mr. Harper Sibley, Secretary, Rev. J. W. Denness Cooper, Treasurer, Rev. Alfred Brittain. Treasurer DeLancey Divinity School Income Fund, Mr. A. F. Freeman. Five meetings have been held during the year.

A full report of the activities of the DeLancey Divinity School will be presented by the Warden. Acting as a Board of Trustees of the DeLancey Divinity School your Department granted the usual honoraria to the lecturers of the school, amounting to $1,250.00. It also appropriated $75.00 for a reprint of the school Catalogue. In May, the Trustees received from the Trustees of the Parochial Fund, an assurance of the protection of funds of the school invested in the property at 237 B North Street, Buffalo.

Thanks were tendered to Mrs. Pierre Cushing and Mrs. N. W. Stanton for gifts of books to the school, the same having been part of the library of the Rev. Pierre Cushing, D.D., and the Rev. N. W. Stanton.

The Rev. E. S. Tabor was dispensed from the school requirement of Church Music, he having passed examination in the substitute subject, viz: Greek.

On recommendation of a special committee, the Trustees approved the granting of certificates of graduation in such courses as shall have been satisfactorily completed by the students, signed by those lecturers in whose subjects the courses have been pursued.

Permission has been given to place storm windows on the Wardenry and to make other necessary repairs.

An appropriation not to exceed $400.00 was made for the purpose of carrying out a plan of graduate study proposed by the Warden.

The Department has taken its part in the development of the educational policy and program of the General Church. In addition to being represented on the National Department by Mr. Sibley and on the Provincial Commission by the Educational Secretary, of which he is the Secretary, it has been represented by members of the Department at various conferences and meetings in different parts of the country. In these days when the policy is to develop from the field we believe that Western New York should take its part and make its contribution to the life of the whole in this way.

The operations of the Department in the general field of Religious Education have been largely through standing committees and the Educational Secretary. At each meeting the latter has furnished a report of his activities.

The Department has endeavored to maintain an affiliation with the Community Schools of Buffalo and Rochester. It is evident, however, that the schools do not appeal to the teachers and that some other methods must be devised for the more adequate training which they must have and new plans are being formulated to this end. Parish training classes are becoming more general and it may be the solution will be found in classes for contiguous parishes. Throughout the diocese the parish class is decidedly on the increase. Once more we would urge the value of the Geneva Summer School as a means of training through short courses. The Department appropriated $300.00 towards the Buffalo Community School for the year 1923. This year the Educational Secretary has conducted a class in the Rochester Community School on "Church School Ideals."

Through the Kindergarten Committee suggestions for the operation of this department of the Church School have been put forth and a "Kindergarten Sunday" has been planned for the coming May, when it is hoped that special emphasis will be given to it in all parishes and missions of the diocese. Emphasis, too, will be placed upon the department of the "Little Helpers," which now takes the place of the Cradle Roll and the Font Roll, and is a department of the Church School and the Church School Service League. New literature dealing with the Little Helpers, has been issued by the National Council and may be had upon application.

The Church School Service League in the last available reports, was at work in fifty-four parishes, with two hundred and forty-eight leaders and over four thousand members; of these eight hundred and fifty were Little Helpers. Its activities covered a wide range of effort in the Five Fields of Parish, Community, Diocese, Nation and World. Three thousand, six hundred Christmas gifts were sent to Mission Schools and the Seamen's Institute, valued at $1,600.00. Seven hundred and fifty dollars was given to the Scholarships and $224.00 to the Birthday Thank-Offring. The total gifts amounted to $11,390.00. Three new general efforts have marked the work of the C. S. S. L. during the year, the issuing of a Bulletin five times a year containing definite suggestions for service, with news items and general information; the effort to raise a special pledge of $500.00 for Easter School at Baguio, Philippine Islands, and a Fellowship of Prayer among the leaders and friends of the League and the periodical issuing of a leaflet of intercessions. A conference for diocesan leaders of the C. S. S. L. was held in September at the G. F. S. Holiday House at which the Educational Secretary was present as Chaplain. The Educational Secretary is head of the Provincial Committee of the League, Miss Lucy Arnold also being a member. A provincial conference is being arranged by this committee to be held in New York on February 25th. Fifty dollars has been appropriated by the Department to insure the attendance of a delegate from Western New York. Literature in connection with the Birthday Thank-Offring was sent out through the Secretary's office.

The Department distributed the "Call to Service" for the use of the pupils in Church Schools during Lent. The Secretary also co-operated in the production of Lenten story material dealing with the work of the Church in the Philippine Islands. Material on the Church in Japan is in course of preparation for the coming Lent.

Letters emphasizing the objectives of the Advent Offering were sent to the Church Schools. Posters were distributed in connection with the Lenten Offering and the Geneva Summer School.

The Department was largely responsible for the circulation in the diocese of the Daily Bible Readings put out by the Commission of the National Church. It is hoped there will be no diminution of effort on the part of the Clergy to induce the people to use the readings that have been reprinted for this year.

Through the effort of the Educational Secretary, a conference of Young People's Fellowships was held in the Spring, at St. John's Church, Buffalo. The various sessions, conducted entirely by the young people themselves, augurs well for the development of the Fellowship in this diocese. Among the speakers at the conference were: Bishop Ferris, Rev. W. E. Gardner, D.D., and Mr. Thomas Bell of Toronto, representing the Anglican Young People's Association. A similar conference is being arranged to take place in Rochester on February 29th to March 2nd.

At the request of the Young People's Conference, a diocesan committee has been formed with the Educational Secretary at its head. The Department appropriated $78.00 for the use of the Fellowships of the diocese in sending representatives to a conference to be held, under the auspices of the Provincial Commission, at East Orange, N. J., February 22 to 24.

In September a two day "Get Together" was held at the G. F. S. Holiday House, under the chaperonage of Mrs. Cooper and the Educational Secretary. Programs in connection with the November Every Member Canvass were furnished to the Fellowships through the Secretary's office.

In response to a challenge given them at the conference last February the Fellowships of the diocese have undertaken to contribute at least $1,000.00 towards Easter School.

The Easter School project involves the erection of a chapel and dormitory at Baguio, P. I., at a cost of $5,000.00. The school building, originally erected by Bishop Brent, has fallen into decay. Through your Department the boys and girls of the diocese were challenged to rebuild it. Almost the entire amount has been contributed, many parishes designated their Lenten School offering towards it. The Y. P. F.'s have pledged $1,000.00; the G. F. S. $500.00 and the C. S. S. L. $500.00. The parishes whose young people have not yet contributed will be given an opportunity of doing so and it is hoped to have the full amount within a very short time. At its completion the school will bear the name "THE BISHOP BRENT SCHOOL."

During the year several more parishes have inaugurated Week Day Religious Instruction in Co-operation with the Public Schools. In the majority of cases these schools are operated on the "Community-Denominational Plan" which this department would endorse. The plan implies a co-operative movement in creating a public opinion and securing school board co-operation, but leaves each church free to teach its own children.

The Department appropriated $50.00 towards the expenses of one Daily Vacation Bible School. This is largely a co-operative movement and some of our parishes are co-operating in it, but the majority do not yet appreciate the opportunity which this five weeks intensive training in religion offers.

Early in the year Mr. Edward Sargent, of the National Department, who has charge of the Week Day and Daily Vacation Bible School departments, visited the diocese for conference in Buffalo and Rochester.

The Educational Secretary has continued to represent your Department on the Monroe County Council of Religious Education, which seeks inter-church co-operation and correlation of educational activities. He has been continued as Secretary of the Provincial Commission on Religious Education and is head of the Church School Committee of that body. He is also Executive Head of the Geneva Summer School. In connection with the school he would like to call attention to the new ruling as to age limit, viz: no student will be admitted unless he has attained the age of seventeen years or is a high school graduate.

Your Department would present for consideration the following Ten Point Standard of Excellence, which it has prepared for the Church Schools of the Diocese. Suggestions with regard to it will be welcome. Knowing the field as it does, the Department believes this standard is in accord with aims that are being sought and it puts it forth hoping that it will stimulate all schools to operate on proven lines and those that make for greater efficiency:

TEN POINT STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE

In order to bring the Church Schools of the Diocese to a higher point of organization and efficiency and also to indicate simple lines upon which all schools may work together the Department presents the following ten point standard of excellence:

Upon proper certification of the attainment of seven out of ten of these points the Department will grant a certificate of excellence.

I. GRADED SCHOOL

This means a school in which pupils are graded on the basis of grades in the day school with courses and teachers for each year of school life. Small schools should be graded according to the "cycle plan" or organized on departmental lines. (See Note I)

II. TRAINED TEACHERS

Such training should be obtained through Community School or other group courses, Summer Schools, Parish classes or through the Correspondence Courses of the National Department of Religious Education.

III. CHRISTIAN NURTURE PRINCIPLES

Courses of instruction should embody the five-fold Aim of Christian Nurture, namely: Information, Memory Work, Church Loyalty, Devotional Life, Christian Service. (See Note 2)

IV. FORTY MINUTE LESSON PERIOD

Forty minutes to be spent in actual instruction and teaching of the lesson to be the rule of the School. This period to be without interruption and apart from the time spent in the opening and closing exercises.

V. SEVENTY PER CENT ATTENDANCE

(Of Teachers and Pupils)

This should be determined by taking the percentage of the average membership for the year and the average attendance.

VI. TRAINING IN WORSHIP

In addition to systematic instruction in lesson courses, pupils should be encouraged to attend the regular services of the Parish Church or special services should be provided for them, such services to be held in the Church with special instruction in the use of the Prayer Book. There should be Corporate Communions for Officers, Teachers and Confirmed Members of the Church School at least twice during the year.

VII. MISSIONARY INSTRUCTION AND OFFERINGS

Such instructions to be a part of the regular work of the school with special emphasis during Advent and Lent. Participation in the Advent Offering for Diocesan Missions and for General Mission work of the church during Lent.

VIII. TRAINING IN SERVICE

Pupils to be taught to work and give in the five fields—Parish, Community, Diocese, Nation and World. To this end working through the Church School Service League is recommended. (See Note 3)

IX. WORKERS CONFERENCES

At least four conferences of Officers and Teachers to be held during the year for the discussion of School Problems, one meeting to include parents.

X. LITTLE HELPERS

Children not of school age to be enrolled according to the system provided in the Little Helpers Department of Church Schools.

(See Note 4)

NOTE 1. For the Cycle System of Grading, see: "Organizing the smaller Sunday School," by Bradner. Morehouse Publishing Company, 75 cents.

2. The Diocese has long ago committed itself to the actual use of the Christian Nurture Series. Where possible this should be used.
3. The Diocesan Officers of the Church School Service League are ready to give assistance to schools in the promotion of the League. Application should be made to the Educational Secretary, J. W. Denness Cooper, Geneseo, N. Y.
4. Special literature dealing with The Little Helpers has recently been prepared. This may be had upon application to 281 Fourth Avenue, New York City. It should be understood that The Little Helpers includes what was known as The Font Roll and The Cradle Roll.

The text books of the Christian Nurture series are now used by 75 per cent of the Church Schools of the Diocese. All our Church Schools in Rochester use these text books, with one exception; and all the Buffalo schools, with the exception of two. Therefore, probably considering more than 75 per cent of our pupils in Church Schools are using these text books.

In closing this report your Department would again ask for the support of the Clergy and Leaders of the diocese. Our membership has been chosen because it has some educational faculty and we are ready to help in any direction we may be called upon. We ask the diocese to make even greater use of the various committees and of the Executive Officer.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES A. JESSUP,
Chairman.

ALFRED BRITTAİN.

De Lancey Divinity School

To the Trustees:

The DeLancey Divinity School continues on the general plan of the last two years: namely, two sessions each month and an increased corps of instructors.

The lecturers are the Rev. G. F. J. Sherwood, B.D., Old Testament Literature and Interpretation; the Rev. P. W. Mosher, D.D., New Testament Literature and Interpretation; the Rev. J. B. Hubbs, D.D., Christian Evidences and Ethics; the Rev. A. S. Ashley, Dogmatics; the Rev. F. M. Marchant, Ecclesiastical History and Latin; the Rev. H. C. Whedon, B.D.; Ecclesiastical Polity and Canon Law and Greek; the Rev. F. Damrosch, B.D., Jr., Church Music; the Rev. J. L. Peckham, B.D., Ped.M., Religious Pedagogy and Christian Missions; the Warden, Liturgics, Homiletics and Pastoral Theology. The Warden also gives instruction in preparatory studies.

Bishop Brent is giving a course of lectures on The Cure of Souls, using the case method.

The Rev. A. S. Priddis has consented to give one or two lectures on Social Service Work.

The students are:

Senior Class: The Revs. C. J. Burton, A. L. Gaylord and Messrs. L. F. Chard, J. Dennis, B. Rutledge, S. W. Sundin.

Middle Class: W. E. Wentz.

Junior Class: W. Tutton, G. P. Musselman.

The Rev. E. S. Tabor, of the Diocese of Central New York, completed satisfactorily the theological course in June and was granted his diploma.

The Rev. L. W. Lunn, also of the Diocese of Central New York, was transferred early in the fall to parochial duties in the northern part of the State, where he finds himself too far removed from the School to attend its lectures.

Mr. N. B. Godfrey, after completing the work of the Junior Year, entered Nashotah House, to take up the courses there.

Mr. G. P. Musselman, of this year's Junior Class, is from the Diocese of Erie and comes at his own expense, the School providing him with text books.

Some of the men of the Senior Class have expressed a desire to continue their studies in the School after graduation in June. A course in graduate studies is being outlined and it is hoped arrangements may be made for the fulfillment of their desire. Bishop Brent has given his hearty approval to the idea. A well planned course of graduate study should prove of inestimable value, not only to the men themselves, but also to their service in the Diocese and in the Church at large.

Several gifts of books for the Library have been received during the year, as follows: Two hundred forty-two volumes from Mrs. Pierre Cushing; eighty-eight from Mrs. N. W. Stanton; ten from L. W. Chard; eight from Rev. G. H. Gaviller; four from Miss Esther Smith; two from the Rev. Dr. Jessup; twenty-one from Mrs. M. D. Mann, one from Francis L. Palmer; two from the Rev. F. C. Lee; forty-eight from Miss C. I. Russell; one from Miss Anna Granger; forty from Mrs. B. B. Chace; one from the Rev. F. W. Abbott.

We are indebted to the Rev. Dr. Mosher, the Rev. B. S. Sanderson and the Rev. H. F. Rockwell, for Church publications for our magazine shelves.

The Warden has received and disbursed moneys as follows:

Since our last annual report an amendment has been obtained from the State Legislature, with the approval of the Governor, which makes the Act of Incorporation of the School to read:

"Section 2. The first Board of Trustees of said corporation shall consist of William D. Walker, Jacob A. Regester, Walter North, Charles F. J. Wrigley, Rob Roy Converse, William H. Walker, Henry R. Hopkins, Henry B. Hathaway and John E. Pound, the present members of said Board of Education of the Diocese of Western New York for the Protestant Episcopal Church, and the successors in office of said first Board of Trustees, and one person to be elected annually by the Synod of the Province of New York and New Jersey, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, shall be the successors of the present members of said Board of Education. Said Trustees may exercise the powers of trustees of Educational institutions, under the laws of the State of New York."

The Rev. Cameron J. Davis, D.D., who had been elected tentatively a trustee of the School, pending the passing of the amendment, became, under a resolution adopted by the Synod of the Province, a fully authorized trustee of the School.

Lecturers and students are manifesting fine interest and are co-operating loyally in the work of the School. The Trustees have given it every support and the Bishops every encouragement and assistance. We are grateful.

Respectfully submitted,

G. SHERMAN BURROWS,

Warden.

DEPARTMENT OF MISSIONS

Report Made to the Diocesan Convention of January 21, 1924
To the members of the Convention:

Gentlemen:—

The business of the Department of Missions has been conducted this past year along the lines of the same policy which has been pursued for the past few years. This policy may be stated again briefly as that type of Paternalism which seeks to educate to independence by aiding the weak Mission or Parish to meet its problems by placing back of it the strength of the Diocese in anything it undertakes to do. This means not only monetary aid but also the far more essential aid of isolation ended by co-operation. No Parish or Mission can successfully live only unto itself anymore than can an individual. Normally, man is a social creature and as such independence and self-reliance are greater factors to strength when he deals with and learns to respect and aid his fellows than when he insists upon playing a lone hand. Your Department feels that its true work is to use the funds you entrust to its care in this type of Paternalistic endeavor.

We began our year with a great loss, the removal from the Diocese of the Rev. Dr. Goodwin, who had acted as chairman of the Department from its inception. The following excerpt from a minute adopted by the Department at its meeting of January 4th, when Dr. Goodwin tendered his resignation as chairman, best expresses what we feel to be the loss we sustained:

"From the inception of this Department Dr. Goodwin has been our chairman and to it has given of his best. It is a simple statement of fact that what the Department has been able to do these past three years in the reorganization of the Missionary work of the Diocese along the lines of efficiency and intensive activity, are in the main due to his effective leadership. His associates feel that they owe him an unpayable debt because of his vision, his courage and his faith. He has kept the work of the Department ever up to the highest possible point. We all feel that it has been a privilege and an inspiration to work with him and for him."

The Department elected in Dr. Goodwin's place the Bishop Suffragan of the Diocese whose intimate knowledge of the field by his first-hand contact has made it possible for the Department to do much with an intelligence it could not have otherwise had. The rest of the officers and the personnel of the Department has remained much the same as before.

The Department has completed its work with a balance unexpended. Such a balance is not due to a carelessly planned budget but to the constantly changing conditions which arise every year in the course of operating on the scale undertaken. As this report deals only with that part of the work carried on outside of the two large cities of the Diocese, the rest of the work being reported by the Extension Societies directly to you, we feel that we are rightly proud of completing the work of the rural and small town districts without overstepping the limits placed on us at the beginning of the year. A report of the financial situation of the work of the Department seems to show that all bills for 1923 have been met with a balance unexpended of $1,636.94. Besides this there is due the Diocese as credited to the Department, certain uncollected items amounting to $690.50, a greater part of which, if not all, will be paid. This being collected will close the year's operations with a balance of $2,327.44. The total amount expended for the year when all bills and reservations have been paid will amount to about $17,285.06. We have in addition to this expenditure the cost of running the two City Extension Societies to consider if we wish the total cost of Mission and Church Extension work in Western New York.

The policy of the Department has led to the use of its funds to aid Parishes and Missions by loans and gifts to put property in order. Loans thus made have begun to return to the Diocesan Treasury in small payments already. We believe this to be a great mark of the recovery of strength which weak Parishes and Missions will show more and more if we continue to foster their independence by this mutual show of self-respect and confidence. Gifts have been made to three Churches for repairs, to one other towards rebuilding after destruction by fire, while loans have been made to two churches for repairs and improvements, which loans will return to the Diocese during the coming year.

The past year has seen a further extension of the automobile idea. The Department was able to purchase three new machines for use in the Mission Field as the result of the Advent Offering gift for 1922. These have been placed for the present in Palmyra, in Wyoming County and in the Wayne County Associate Mission. A fourth car, in which the Diocese had a part interest, has been taken over by the Diocese but with the agreement that it shall remain in the field which first helped provide it, Penn Yan. These cars are all actively used at the present time in Missionary work.

It may be well to state at this point just what the rules of the procedure are in supporting and granting aid to automobiles in the Diocese. Here are the standing rules of the Department on this matter:

"Each case where automobile compensation is requested must be decided on its own merits, remembering that:—

"1—The Department of Missions will consider the adequacy of train or trolley service and fare costs as a basis for both granting compensation and the amount to be granted.

"2—The policy of the Department is that every place receiving compensation will be expected to give towards the costs.

"3—The largest compensation to be granted will be at the most two cents per mile and upkeep costs for Diocesan owned cars, and eight cents a mile with no upkeep costs for privately owned cars."

On the above basis the Department has granted its compensations where the use of cars have made the work of the Missionaries most efficient and it claims that the results of revived interest in many of the Mission Stations could have been attained in no other way. The actual cost to the Department for the twelve months past has been around $3,350.00, including the cost for insurance. This has covered a fleet of Diocesan owned cars numbering eleven, four privately owned cars and aid given three cars of the Buffalo Church Extension Society used to cover the work in Erie County outside of Buffalo.

The work in Wyoming County centering around Warsaw has been reopened this past year with the Rev. Charles R. Allison in charge. After the June ordinations he will have associated with him one of the new Deacons and a new Associate Mission will be organized to cover Wyoming and Genesee Counties. Already the Warsaw and Perry end of this work are in fine upward condition. With the addition of a new worker to this field a third Associate Mission will be added to the Rural Field of the Diocese, a further proof, we are confident, of the wise leadership given the work by our Bishop.

The two Associate Missions already established have shown great progress this past year. Allegany County has enlarged its field to include Cuba and Friendship which are being worked with the aid of a Lay Reader, while Wayne County has greatly increased its efficiency by Country side visiting. Large Confirmation Classes in these two Associate Fields tell the tale, but we must not look for startling developments anywhere, for the plan of all our work is to build solidly for the future.

Some changes have taken place in the men in other parts of the field. The Rev. John Short has accepted a call to the cure of Penn Yan, Dundee, Dresden and Himrods, replacing the Rev. Mr. Gilbert who removed to Vermont after a short stay only, in this field. The Rev. Squire Schofield has accepted an appointment to the staff of the Rochester Church Extension Society and the cure of Canaseraga, Hunts and Nunda is at present vacant. There is in this latter field a great need for another Associate Mission, but it will be a big cost to establish it.

The past year has been marked also with the introduction of a plan to care for Isolated People and connect them with the Diocese. A separate Secretary for this work has been found in Mrs. Edward Way of Rochester, who has undertaken to collect, catalogue and keep in touch with any names she can find or which are passed to her. This is the opening wedge for a special Departmental work in realignment of people who have been somewhat out of touch with the Church. Her work is just beginning and we ask all to aid her in fulfilling this important missionary ideal.

Another step taken forward has been the opening of work among people in what is spoken of as "A summer colony." There are several such communities in our Diocese where large numbers of our Communicants are to be found. Chautauqua and Olcott have long had their chapels. Nine Mile Point has now a good building under the pastoral care of the Rochester Church Extension Society. This past summer saw the opening of services in The State Park in Allegany Valley among the many visitors camping there. The Diocese has authorized the erection of a temporary building this coming year at this point and the Department plans to make the services there a permanent feature. But there are many other Summer Colonies we need to reach. The shores of Conesus Lake are full of our people. So also are those of Canandaigua Lake. At Conesus we have the Girls Friendly Lodge to work with. For years the Rev. Mr. Clausen, a former Rector of Canandaigua Parish has conducted cottage services near Seneca Point on Canandaigua Lake, where there are many Communicants. It is the ideal to make use of these and similar places to extend to our people the religion they need. The Department believes that it will be through some such effort that we will help to offset the irreligious effects of the week-end party and the automobile tourist, two new habits which are emptying our Churches during the pleasant weather. A committee has been formed to help the Bishop in any way he desires in solving this Summer Chapel problem.

The Department has had charge this past year of the Annual Canvass for Diocesan and General Church Funds. The difficulties of the situation are apparent to us all. One of the closing recommendations of the Department to the Executive Council is to start the work of Education and canvass at a much earlier date this coming year and to put it in the charge of a separate Department of the Council. We are anxious to make this work easier for all. A special Committee of the Council has this matter under consideration and will render a report to the next Council Meeting.

During the year it has developed that there is little or no hope, or need for that matter, of replacing the old Church at Wethersfield Springs. Certain clauses in the will of the donor about a resident Rector cannot be complied with and as there are but one or two left of the original Communicants and they can easily reach Warsaw in these days of automobiles, to rebuild will be a waste. Sodus Center, however, is being replaced with a splendid new building and it will be ready in the spring. A new Church is also planned for Williamsville and new work is under way in a northwest section of Buffalo, both of these latter ventures being brought to pass through the Buffalo Church Extension Society.

In conclusion we would call attention to the definition of relations between the Department and the two Church Extension Societies adopted by the Diocesan Council and published during the year in Our Diocesan Fellowship. Let us remember always that the Department is only a Standing Committee of the Council, which in turn is the Extension Committee of the Diocesan Convention. It is the will of the Diocese which really counts. What we greatly desire in our Department is that the Diocesan Will shall be made so clear on all matters that the Missionary Department can always feel that Will to accomplish in everything it undertakes. In other words, the Department wishes to feel that Every Churchman in Western New York is behind the Missionary Program of Bishop Brent.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK CROSBY LEE,

Executive Secretary.

REPORT OF MISSIONARY TO THE DEAF

To the Bishops and Executive Council, Diocese of Western New York:

The undersigned has the honor to submit the following report of work done among the deaf in the Diocese of Western New York during the year 1923:

The places at which services have been held with more or less regularity are Batavia, Buffalo, Canandaigua, Geneva, Jamestown, Lockport, and Rochester.

Batavia. There are about twenty-five deaf-mutes residing in Batavia and the nearby towns and villages, although there are very few in the city itself. Occasionally, when railroad schedules permit, and weather conditions are favorable for traveling, services are held in St. James' Church. One such service was held during the year with an attendance of eight.

Buffalo. It is thought that there are approximately 350 or 400 deaf people in Buffalo, a large proportion of whom are Roman Catholics, because of the influence of the Roman Catholic school for the deaf in the city. The missionary is in touch with about 100. Services are held in the chapel of the Diocesan House, with occasional social gatherings. The missionary visited Buffalo thirteen times during the year, making 44 calls, celebrating the Holy Communion four times, holding seven other public services, besides officiating at one marriage and baptizing one infant. Two formal social gatherings occurred, supplemented by informal chats before and after the services. The deaf are so scattered that they welcome such opportunities to get together and talk with one another.

Canandaigua. There are only a handful of deaf people at Canandaigua, but nearly all are Church people, and the Missionary is glad to go there for services in St. John's Church whenever he can. This city was visited three times during the year and two services held.

Geneva. Services have been resumed in Geneva, in St. Peter's Church, with encouraging results, although the number of deaf-mutes there is comparatively small. Three visits were made and two services held during the year.

Jamestown. There are not many deaf in Jamestown, but they attend services, in St. Luke's Church, very faithfully. Five services were held during the year and nineteen calls made.

Lockport. Conditions in Lockport are quite similar to those in Jamestown. Although the attendance at the services, which are held in Grace Church, is small, the offerings are relatively good. Four visits were made here, four services held, and twelve calls made.

Rochester. This is probably the most important mission. There are about 200, or possible 250, deaf people in the city, not counting the children at the State school for the deaf. Sixteen visits were made to Rochester during the year, the Holy Communion was celebrated five times, and seven other services, besides one burial service, held. The temporary closing of St. Luke's Church, where our services are held, during the summer necessitated the omission of services during that time. The Rochester Mission is partly organized and holds social gatherings practically every month, which the missionary attends when possible. He was at its annual picnic, which was well attended and quite successful, and also gave a lecture at one of the mid-winter meetings. In October, the Rev. H. J. Pulver, missionary to the deaf in Washington, D. C., with whom your missionary exchanged pulpits, visited Rochester and held a service. In June the Missionary attended the annual reunion of the alumni of the school for the deaf, which afforded opportunity to meet people from all over the State, many of whom he could not otherwise see.

Visits and calls were also made in Bath, Cohocton, Dunkirk, North Tonawanda, Westfield and Wyoming during the year.

There are hundreds of deaf-mutes scattered all over the diocese, some known to the missionary in one way or another, and some unknown, whom it is difficult, if not impossible, to meet or to minister to personally. It is proposed to issue a monthly letter, which will be given as wide a dissemination as possible, whereby many of these scattered and isolated people may be reached.

A total of forty services were held in the Diocese during the year, including nine celebrations of the Holy Communion, twenty-eight services of Morning and Evening Prayer, Ante-communion, etc., one infant baptism, one marriage and one burial. This total number of services is slightly less than that of last year and is due to various causes. Contrasted with this, the Missionary was able to spend more time in the Diocese, making calls, etc., than in previous years, which undoubtedly did much in promoting the work and the spiritual welfare of the deaf.

During the year the Missionary traveled approximately 17,000 miles, officiating at a total of 216 services—40 in this Diocese, 60 in the Diocese of Albany, 100 in the Diocese of Central New York, and 16 elsewhere. Of the last named some were in New York City and at the Gallaudet Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf, while substituting for the priest in charge, who was critically ill, and some were in the Dioceses of Washington and the Virginias while the priest in charge there was taking services for the Missionary, an exchange of pulpits which was undoubtedly mutually helpful.

Respectfully submitted

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHURCH EXTENSION SOCIETY of Buffalo 1923

Containing a summary of the work done by this agency of the Protestant Episcopal Church in church extension, city and county missions, and in hospital and institutional ministrations in the county of Erie.

OUR PRAYER

"Blessed Lord, who for our sakes wast content to bear sorrow and want and death, grant unto us such a measure of Thy Spirit that we may follow Thee in all self-denial and tenderness of soul. Help us, by Thy great love, to succor the afflicted, to relieve the needy and destitute, to share the burdens of the heavy laden, and ever to see Thee in all that are poor and destitute. We ask it in Thy name. Amen."

A FOREWORD BY BISHOP BRENT

The work of the Church Extension Society rejoices my heart. It is able to supplement parochial work in an invaluable way. It reaches people whom no other agencies are equipped to serve effectively. It is strengthening stakes as well as lengthening cords.

The past year's record as given in these pages ought to be read with care by every member of the Church. It is not only a story of great diligence but also of wisely planned diligence which makes every day both a full day and a day with a definite objective.

The budget is limited. We ought to have a larger staff for the growing need but our funds do not allow of it. It is the contributions of the city parishes that enable us to carry on the work of both the Buffalo and the Rochester Church Extension Societies. I would add that no money in the Diocese is spent with more economy or more gratifying returns.

May the new year abound in fruitfulness in this work for the Kingdom of our Lord.

CHARLES HENRY BRENT,
Bishop of Western New York.

Bishop Brent, Members of the Corporation, and Brethren:

Your Church Extension Society of Buffalo is less than three years old as we come together tonight, and if there seems to you to be mistakes in administration and failure to realize all the responsibilities you have set before your ministers, we believe you will consider the youth of this new member of our diocesan family and bear with it patiently. None know better than we who are facing this essentially pioneer missionary task of ours, that we are but beginning to reveal the needs, parochial and extra-parochial, of a great city and its institutions and a country-side thirty-five miles in radius. The chart which you have before you describing the field of our activity is by no means intended to outline work accomplished, but rather to present to us all a picture of the glorious opportunities which are ours.

The challenge of these opportunities, with whatever satisfaction may come to us from the consciousness of certain results of our labor, ought to stimulate us to even greater missionary zeal in our diocesan Forward Movement efforts. I use the word diocesan deliberately, for, mark you, this work in which we are engaged is not entirely, nor indeed largely, for Buffalo alone. Quite apart from our labors in the rural parts of Erie County we are called upon daily to serve patients in local institutions from all over the Diocese, and perhaps the majority of the five hundred nurses who look to us for guidance and inspiration are from out of town. The country is not paying for city work, but rather the Diocese is paying for a ministry to God's children, often in affliction and loneliness and sin, without regard to geographical or ecclesiastical limitations. We are confident you would have us set nothing less than such a ministry as our goal.

Before we proceed to a summary of the year's work, it may be well to say a word about the staff which is doing it. Since our last meeting the Rev. Edwin G. White has come to us from the Diocese of Central New York to take up the work which Mr. Fuller left when he went to St. John's. It is no easy matter to succeed Raymond Fuller, with his enthusiasm for youth and his devotion to his ministry; but Mr. White's consecration to his work has already earned him success and blessing. Deaconess Shaw continues to administer with rare ability her difficult task of religious education, finding time for a varied program of missionary, pastoral and social service activities in her busy days. When the DeLancey Divinity School was moved to Buffalo, Bishop Brent pointed out the advantages which would mutually accrue to our Society and to the School in giving us the part time assistance of certain students and giving them, in turn, experience in missionary work. Consequently we now have the part time services of Mr. Gaylord who is a student in the School, and a deacon, and the assistance of Mr. William Tutton, who has just entered the School, as a layreader, doing splendid pioneer work in Williamsville. Mr. Clough, deacon, continues to carry the burden he has borne so ably for years in the work on the Indian reservation, and Mr. Adam, although officially retired, ministers devotedly in our work and other parts of the Diocese as he is able. Without the assistance of the Laymen's League our work could not be done. We cannot be too emphatic in our praise of the loyal and faithful service of the layreaders who supplement our work all over the country. Perhaps the most inspiring of all is the service rendered by our volunteer friendly visitors, men and women. Hospital bedside visiting is a fine art and we have a number of volunteer visitors who have mastered it, making their weekly visits year in and year out, carrying cheer and comfort to those whom they have come to love and who for their part, rise up and call them blessed. These volunteer workers are serving tubercular children and adults, aged and infirm, acute and chronic, native and foreign born, white and colored. Christian and Mohammedan. Theirs is indeed a ministry of light and life!

To these acknowledgments should be added our deep gratitude for the volunteer services given us in our various church schools and week day summer schools by consecrated members of local parishes, the many gifts of clothing, food, books, toys and other presents from individuals, church school classes, Church Service League branches, Church Periodical Club, and other sources. The widespread interest in our work on the part of an increasing number of our people is a source of gratification to us. To the various committees of the corporation and to all who have helped us during the past year, we extend our thanks.

The work of the Church Extension Society falls generally under three heads: Church Extension, Erie County Missions, and Hospital Visitations. We pass to a review of the year's work in CHURCH EXTENSION.

Last November we told you of our dream of a place of worship in Williamsville. Tonight we can state this as a fact. By Christmas we shall be occupying a splendid new combination Church and Community Parish House, situated on a lot which has been given us in the heart of a growing residential section of this important suburb of Buffalo. Calvary Mission, Williamsville, has at its head a committee of ten active men and a hard working branch of the Woman's Auxiliary. There are over thirty families in the parish, with a Church School of nearly forty, and a fine branch of the Church School Service League. A class of twelve is being prepared for confirmation. These people have pledged nearly three thousand dollars themselves toward their new building and the women are raising money to furnish it. The Executive Committee of the Church Extension Society has secured a substantial bank loan to aid in the building and the Society has guaranteed the generous loan of the Laymen's League and also added a loan of one thousand dollars. Altogether the prospects look bright for a strong, growing work in Williamsville. The plan is to set apart the ground floor as a crypt for worship and the second floor, which has a parlor, kitchen and auditorium, for social purposes. There is a great need for a social center in this place and without question our new building will help us meet the need.

NORTH PARK

Another bit of extension work is the purchase of property in Saranac Avenue, near Hertel. The building erected by the United Presbyterians as a parish house, and which they sold for reasons not affecting its value to us, is now our property. Through the prompt action of Mr. R. J. H. Hutton of our Executive Committee we came into possession of this property at a price well below its value. Sufficient rentals come from it to carry the overhead costs and it is available for use whenever we need it. Plans are under way to proceed with the organization of a new parish and it is reasonably certain that there are enough members of our church in this section to begin an independent organization.

SOUTH PARK

We have under consideration the matter of extending the church into the growing South Park section of the city and we have already looked at two or three possible locations for a new parish. This is a rapidly growing part of the city and one which is in no way overchurched. We ought to secure such a site here very soon.

A WORD ABOUT THE ERIE COUNTY MISSIONS

Under the new scheme of diocesan missionary administration, our Society becomes responsible for the work in the ten missions of Erie County, constituting the largest associate mission group in the Diocese. Summer and winter we drive East to Akron, South to Springville and West to Angola, the Indian Reservation and other points. On many Sundays I have travelled by automobile nearly two hundred miles to take three or four services, and last winter my car was in action every day except four, when it was buried in the snow on the Perrysburg hills. The speedometer now registers nearly 50,000 miles, two-thirds, at least, of which represent missionary activity.

We have tried to give the missions continuous service on Sundays and during the week. Pastoral visiting plays an important part in the rural work and practically every family has been visited regularly. Vestries and branches of the Woman's Auxiliary have been organized and Church School developed. In many places the fabric of the parish has been improved. Calvary, Williamsville, is ready to occupy its new building; the churches on the Indian Reservation have been painted and at Newton we have installed lights and a piano; St. Mark's, Orchard Park, under the leadership of the committee and other organizations, has painted the church, inside and out; St. Paul's, Angola, has installed electric lights, painted the church, and remodeled the parish room, the men of the mission doing most of the work. St. Paul's, Springville, has in hand over $300 to develop a parish room in the basement, and St. Peter's, Buffalo, has let a contract for extensive alterations and improvements to provide adequate heating and space for the growing activities of the parish.

The outstanding thing in the rural extension is the development of the mission in Akron. Mr. White has told you of this and we want to add our word of appreciation. Under his leadership we now have a loyal, growing, group of people who are showing an unusual response to the leadership we can give them.

We have given all the attention we could to the work among the Indians, supplementing the devoted service of Mr. Clough, having regular celebrations of the Holy Communion, arranging a number of social gatherings for the young people, both there and in Buffalo when we invited our white boys and girls to join with the Indians, and are now conducting a series of mid-week prayer meetings in different homes on the Reservation, to which there has been a large response. The Church of the Redeemer at the pagan end of the Reservation, for the first time in years, has had a service every Sunday. We are planning to organize a branch of the Woman's Auxiliary within the next few weeks.

We have held regular celebrations of the Holy Communion at St. Andrew's, Irving and at St. Mark's, Orchard Park, where Mr. Gaylord is giving much of his time. There has been a fine response on the part of the people here and new interest in the parish is evident. The Church School is flourishing under Mr. Drake, the committee is actively interested in the growth of the parish and at a recent early communion service twenty-five persons received.

St. Paul's, Angola, shows a promising growth. The committee has been fully organized, church attendance is growing and the recent mission services, led by Mr. White, have stimulated the life of this important parish. There is opportunity here for a strong work, particularly in the summer months, and it is to be hoped that some day we may have a resident pastor for this place.

St. Paul's, Springville, continues in a quiet way. The difficulties in reviving a mission which was closed for over a year are many. People are scattered, the children have been sent to other Church Schools and confidence is hard to restore. Yet we have a faithful company of communicants here and there are hopes of beginning a church school and organizing a branch of the Woman's Auxiliary.

Epiphany, Buffalo, situated in the heart of a great Polish section presents at once a problem and an opportunity. We have here a devoted band of people, young and old, who are genuinely interested in the Church. We have taken advantage of the opportunity offered us to minister to our Polish neighbors and during the summer continued our Daily Vacation Church School for children, reaching over a hundred young people every day. During the winter we conducted the school every Saturday afternoon with great success. The program consisted of religious nurture, singing, dramatization, health talks, handwork, sewing, and outings. The effect of the school on the children may be stated in the words of one fair-haired Polish girl who said on closing day: "In this school we hear about God, we pray to God, and we work for God." A Public School Principal has characterized this work as "the finest he has ever seen."

A similar school was held at St. Peter's this summer with a different type of children. Many were connected with no parish, some were our own, and a few Italian children came in toward the last. These schools were directed by Normal School students and the standard of instruction was very high. The regular work at St. Peter's progresses. We have a splendid Church School, now in the midst of a membership campaign to bring the roll up to 200. The Junior Brotherhood of St. Andrew chapter numbers nearly twenty-five young men, a chapter of the Daughters of the King is soon to be admitted, and the second confirmation class of the year is ready to be presented to the Bishop. A thriving branch of the Church School Service League and an active Woman's Auxiliary complete the parish organization. St. Peter's has been chosen as one of the demonstration parishes for the Church Service League and we have already organized our parish council for action. We expect to use the council in the Forward Movement program, in raising the funds for the proposed alteration of the building, $3,000 of which is already in hand in cash and pledges, and in other ways.

This summary of our associate mission work, while not exhaustive, will give some idea of the things we are seeking to accomplish. Perhaps our greatest difficulty is that of making our people understand why they do not see us every Sunday, each mission quite naturally considering its problem the most vital. On the other hand, when it is remembered that the "overhead," the organization and societies and committees, in each of these places is as great as that of many parishes with a resident pastor, something of the difficulty of keeping the machinery running smoothly may be seen.

AND NOW A FEW WORDS ABOUT OUR INSTITUTIONAL WORK

It is a formidable list of institutions which you have before you and we would not for a moment have you believe that we cover these places every day or every week even. Perhaps the most we can say is that we have the confidence of the authorities in all of these places, that we have put our forces at their service, and that increasingly we are being called to minister to their patients. The general hospitals are commonly calling us for emergency cases and we are now and then called in the middle of the night to minister to some dying person. In the institutions for chronic cases and aged and infirm persons we have a large congregation who look to us for spiritual comfort and friendship.

We aim to visit all the ward patients in our general hospitals regularly, greeting them all without regard to their church affiliation, and finding in return a genuine appreciation of our interest. Hardly a day passes but we find a stranger, someone without friends, a churchman from out of town or without parish connection, and these are our parishioners. We can find friends for them, put their own pastor in touch with them, pray with them, give them the communion. Only the last month we ministered to a young man, away from home and dying with tuberculosis. We saw that he had a Christian burial. A hurry call to minister to a dying man, a Presbyterian, gave us the chance to commend to Almighty God the soul of a mother's son who had wandered far from her loving care. Imagine her joy when she learned how he had died!

We continue to care for our large group of church people and others at the State Hospital. Of the nearly 300 in this congregation there are only a half dozen who do not welcome the ministrations of the church. Some of the most orderly and helpful celebrations of the Holy Communion that we have are held here—even patients from the violent wards participating. At Christmas and Easter we distribute small gifts throughout the hospital and these visits of ours are now an institution in the lives of the patients. At the Gowanda State Hospital we have similar services in addition to a regular afternoon service every month for all the patients.

The rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd is actively interested in the County Hospital and we are able to supplement his splendid work by regular visiting and other social work, including parties from time to time and "sandwich days," when groups from various local churches distribute home made sandwiches to all the patients. We have a number of church people here and lately prepared and presented for confirmation three women and one man. At the Home for the Friendless we conduct regular services for the family and for our own group. Here, in lives at their sunset, religion seems to mean more than anywhere else and we are glad for the chance to serve them.

Scattered here and there in other institutions we find those who are glad for our ministrations. In one home for the aged we discovered a loyal churchman from an out of town parish who receives the communion with the greatest joy and thanksgiving. In another institution we found a woman who had not received the communion in sixteen years. We now visit her regularly and supply her wants as we are able.

Dr. Pritchard continues to minister most acceptably at the Erie County Jail and Mr. W. E. Townsend at the Penitentiary. At our own Church Home, Mr. Gaylord directs the week day school of religious education, St. Paul's parish clergy celebrate the Holy Communion every month and our own staff, with the Laymen's League, cares for other Sundays and saints' days, with now and then a service by some other rector.

Perhaps the most important branch of our hospital work is the ministry at the J. N. Adam Memorial Hospital for the treatment of tuberculosis, situated at Perrysburg forty miles from Buffalo. Here we have evening service every other Sunday night for all the Protestant patients, preceded by a brief ward service for bed patients, and a monthly celebration of the Holy Communion. We have an average attendance of over 100 patients, doctors, nurses and employees and I know of no place where religion means more. Rather than disappoint the eager congregation, we attempted to get to the Hospital every time last winter and failed but once, when a heartless snowdrift, a mile from the Hospital, barred the way. This last week we have organized a Church School for some of the 150 children in the institution, with patients as teachers, and we look forward to further developments of this essential work. The offerings of this interesting congregation are given to the relief of other sufferers—the Buffalo Community Chest received a generous check, the Near East Relief, and lately $25.00 was sent to the Red Cross for Japanese Relief.

We aim to see each new patient shortly after entrance and to follow them up by regular bedside visiting. A great need at Perrysburg is for a beautiful chapel, for surely religion is as important in the cure of tuberculosis as medicine. May God inspire someone with the means to complete this "memorial" hospital with such a chapel for the healing of men's souls!

At Christmas and Easter our staff is busy distributing the many gifts which come to us from all over the diocese to the patients in our institutions. Branches of the Church School Service League, Woman's Auxiliary branches, Men's Clubs, and other groups and individuals contribute generously to make it possible for us to care for our many sick and shut-in friends. In all we distributed small remembrances to over a thousand persons last Christmas. We are coming to know that many depend on us for these little gifts and would miss us if we failed them.

GUILD OF ST. BARNABAS FOR NURSES

A most important auxiliary to all our hospital work is the Guild of St. Barnabas for Nurses, now in the second year of its existence. We began this work among our local nurses with some hesitation. Its growth, however, has been phenomenal, thanks to the splendid interest taken in the monthly meetings by our associate board of nearly forty women. The nurses come together in the Diocesan House for a religious service followed by entertainment and refreshments. A special communion service was held on St. Barnabas Day and a memorial service on Florence Nightingale's birthday. Over 500 nurses are enrolled in the Guild, coming from cities and towns all over the Diocese and elsewhere, and their interest in the Guild is keen. We have the assurance of more than one superintendent of nurses that the Guild is of real help in the lives of their nurses. At the recent National Convention of the Guild in Cleveland, Bucalo had the largest delegation of student nurses and there is promise that we shall have the Convention here next year.

MISCELLANEOUS

In fulfilling our responsibility as ministers of the Church seeking to serve the community we have done many things which we will not mention in detail. Scarcely a day but what some individual presents us with a problem of moral or physical breakdown which demands patient and careful "case work" to relieve. The Church Mission of Help has been of invaluable help to us in the solution of certain problems in the lives of young women who have come under our care, and we commend this agency to those in this presence who have such problems. We have helpful contacts with the Charity Organization Society, the Children's Aid Society, the Bureau of Public Welfare, and all the social workers of the city, as also with the Buffalo Council of Churches who have asked us to represent the Protestant Churches of that Council in our hospital ministrations. The Home Missions Council at Ellis Island now sends us the names of all newly arrived churchmen who are coming to Buffalo and with the co-operation of our local clergy we are able to welcome these newcomers to our parishes. We have given considerable time to the work of the departments of Social Service and Missions, and to the Executive Committee of the Church Service League. We lead the discussions on Social Service at two Brotherhood of St. Andrew camps—Bonsall and Carleton. The Committee on Promotion and Appeal for the proposed $80,000 chapel or "House Beautiful" at Craig Colony for Epileptics, is under our care and we are hoping to raise the necessary funds this coming year. Already fourteen denominations have accepted their quotas and nearly $6,000 is in hand. This Diocese has raised about $2,000 of the $5,000 quota allotted us.

We close as we began, assuring you of our consciousness of many things undone and of possible mistakes in action. However that may be, we believe we are giving the Diocese an honest service for the money it invests in the Church Extension Society. Our budget is smaller than that of the Rochester Church Extension Society and our field is larger—Mr. Clough's and Mr. Gaylord's salaries are not paid from our treasury, but from other sources; and practically every mission church under our care is paid up on its Forward Movement quota. Our workers begin the day with prayers in the Diocesan House chapel at nine, and often their work is not done until midnight. To carry on our minds the problems of 355 families (over 1,000 persons) besides the responsibility for the great congregation of God's sick and suffering in this city and elsewhere, is a task which calls for the enthusiastic good-will and the earnest prayers of every churchman in the Diocese.

Respectfully submitted,

ALFRED SCOTT PRIDDIS.

Rochester Church Extension Society

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHURCH EXTENSION SOCIETY OF ROCHESTER

To the Rt. Rev. President and Members of the Corporation of the Church Extension Society of Rochester:

The Annual Report for the fifth year of the Church Extension Society's existence, given by the Associate Missionary in charge, to the members of the Society, will of necessity, be somewhat briefer this year than usual. Not that those in charge have been less laboriously employed with duties sufficient to try the patience and tax the resourcefulness of a weakened Staff, but because, owing to the illness of the City Missionary and the consequent general disorganization of hopes and plans, we can neither announce any expansion of activities, or even submit a full and complete report. However, we have brought the Ship into port and submit its papers and cargo for examination and repairs.

MISSIONS AND RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

In the field of Missionary activity exactly the same work has been carried on, both in extent and intensity, as during the year 1922, with the addition of one new point of endeavor—that at Landing Rd. School.

St. Matthew's Mission in Browncroft was a most successful venture. This Sunday School established three years ago, gave promise of becoming a vigorous Mission. But hope deferred maketh the heart sick." For over two years these people have been feeding on the promise of a real Church Building which has not materialized. Consequently much of their initial enthusiasm has evaporated. The Church has a fertile field in Browncroft. Yet the work has languished, or at least is standing still, for two reasons: first owing to unfit and inadequate accommodations, and second because the people there have had too many Shepherds on Sundays and none through the week. The first need is very apparent—a suitable building. The second is just as important—a Priest who can give, besides his services on Sunday, at least half of his week-days, to search out and know his people, in order to keep them united, active and inspired with a common purpose and endeavor.

The Church Extension Society has invested at this point over $3,000 in rent, good money, which, in this case, might have been better spent. For this same amount or very little more a respectable building could have been erected two years ago, a building suitable for our every purpose, and later, when found inadequate, taken down and used in some other Center for similar work. If our policy has been short-sighted in this case the lesson may be a valuable one. At present, having been forced out of the old, leaky building, we are holding Services in Bethany Evangelical Chapel, the only available place for Worship and Church School. But this arrangement is not working out satisfactorily, since the building must be vacated by 10:30. We are now negotiating for the use of the Church during the afternoon hours and it is expected better results will follow. The only immediate and hopeful feature of the Browncroft proposition is the fact that Mr. Arthur Oster is behind a splendid building project and is here tonight to tell us what the situation demands.

St. Simon's Mission for the Colored people of Rochester, is a movement that should attract more attention and interest than it does. We have here the nucleus of a strong congregation. The attendance at the Sunday Evening Services at Epiphany is exceedingly good, averaging around sixty. The worship is reverent and hearty. The people are enthusiastic, united, and determined to do everything in their power to help themselves. With large numbers of colored people coming to Rochester every year, many of them of our own faith, the possibility of a financially independent congregation is very promising. St. Simon's has over sixty communicants. Its members have raised and deposited close to $1500 towards a Building Fund, and have given $275 on its Diocesan Quota. Here, a Church Building is not the acutest need, although larger numbers would come if we had a building of our own known as St. Simon's Church—a Church of and for Colored people. It is difficult to get many of those whom we would like to influence to attend the Church of the Epiphany, simply because it is a Church for White people. Not that the members of St. Simon's are not appreciative of all that the people of Epiphany have done. They are fully grateful and continue to express it in every way. But some building, however modest, of their very own, would create an atmosphere and a setting far more favorable to growth and Church education, and also would stimulate to greater effort on behalf of the unchurched Colored population. If a separate Church is out of the question in the immediate future, then the need which is absolutely essential is a hall or suitable room, some rallying centre where they may have an opportunity and an incentive to develop their own social life, and work out their own parochial salvation. We are delighted to report, however, a decidedly growing interest on the part of Rochester parishes in the work and progress of St. Simon's. With this increasing disposition to help the Colored people to help themselves, there is no reason why, by co-operative effort, this suggested program may not be realized.

St. Andrew's by the Lake, at Nine Mile Point, was formerly a small country School House. A few years ago this was converted into a Chapel, and there Services are held every Sunday during the summer. The little Church is filled at every Service. St. Mark's, Rochester, under the Rev. Edward Hart, and later, the Rev. Curtis Whedon, are largely responsible for the development of this little Mission. That the Services are appreciated will be readily seen from the report which will be presented later, on behalf of the Trustees and friends of St. Andrew's, by Mrs. Richard Harris.

At Landing Road and East Avenue, and adjoining the Friendly Home, we have been maintaining a Community Sunday School in the District School House. The attendance as yet is small, running from twenty to thirty, only eight or ten of whom are Episcopalians. There is no Church, or other Sunday School, within a radius of over two miles. This work was begun last Easter by Mr. George Beach, but is now in charge of Mr. Leslie Chard, a student in DeLancey Divinity School and also one of the Staff of the Church Extension Society. This neighborhood furnishes one of the most strategic sites that Rochester affords for a future Church School. It will soon be built up with beautiful homes. This spot is the centre of five or six converging Highways and is an ideal location for a Mission of the Church. Mr. Beach was assured by several Church people that they would foster any movement which had for its object a permanent Church beginning. "Carpe Diem" should be our motto. We can do today what may be impossible one year from today.

CHURCH EXTENSION IN THE SOUTHWEST SECTION OF ROCHESTER

The project in the Southwest lies dormant. We have a site purchased from funds given by Mr. Rufus Sibley. Whether or not it is the best location is a question which further investigation will reveal. If, as has been mentioned, this territory is to be reserved as a feeder and a source of strength for the nearest Churches, then those same Churches could well afford to initiate work. A thorough canvass of all this newly-built section ought to be made immediately, since it is the only way of discovering the real needs of this field and of our responsibility to it.

Then as to Church Extension in Institutions, and by this we mean the carrying of Christ's Gospel of brotherly love and service to that large number of unfortunates, of all sorts and classes, who find their way into hospitals and charitable institutions. The Extension Society has been entrusted with the larger share of this responsibility and the Clergy are Protestant Chaplains at large. This side of the Society's work is little appreciated since it is performed away from popular observation and because the kind and variety of the service rendered cannot be measured or described by statistics. In this department of activity it has been the policy of the staff to get in touch with and to keep in touch with every Protestant who is found in any of the hospitals. Each worker has a schedule and reports weekly as to which and how many hospitals were visited, the number of visitations made in each and of the number and character of the cases referred to the various Pastors in the city or elsewhere. When his policy is worked out systematically which is possible with a fully organized Staff, there are few of whose presence in hospitals the Clergy are unaware.

The time of need is the time of opportunity. Many for one reason or another fail to make their sickness known to their respective Ministers. These cases are reported immediately. Many are new comers to the city and have established no church affiliation. These are linked up with the Denomination of their choice. Children of such parents are frequently brought into touch with the Sunday School. Hundreds have drifted away from church connections. They haven't any Minister upon whom they can call for comfort and advice. Many come from a distance and have no friends. Others are the "down and outs"—those who, in the opinion of some pious but narrow religionists, are beyond the reach of the Church's ministrations. All these are ours to shepherd and comfort and encourage with love and hope and friendliness. We draw no denominational lines in our hospital work, but as an indication of its value to our own church people we would like to mention this fact—We have ministered, in various ways, in the hospitals of Rochester, to communicants from nearly every parish in the Diocese outside of Buffalo, and even several from that city. Holy Communion is administered in six of the institutions monthly, and services are held where possible, every week.

Time forbids speaking in detail of the work carried on in each hospital or of the splendid assistance given by the Rev. Mr. Behnke, Mr. Depue and Mr. Peters at Iola Sanatorium, and of the continued and saintly devotion of Mrs. Osborne to the welfare of those in the County Hospital and Penitentiary in carrying brightness and spiritual comfort week after week, to the sick and afflicted in these places.

There are twelve institutions under the Extension Society's care, and to keep in personal and intimate touch with the thousands who go in and out of these institutions is a ministry of considerable magnitude, and a very generous contribution on the part of the Episcopal Church towards a truer Christian fellowship.

In the field of Social Service the work of Mr. George Beach stands out conspicuously. The Joy-Car was a child of his vision and energy. It has gone on hundreds of errands of mercy and helpfulness, taking orphans to picnics, shut-ins to parks and entertainers to institutions. One of the best concerts Rochester ever had was given in Convention Hall, last May, by Mr. Beach when over $500 was raised, covering the expense of the Joy-Car for the entire year. Much to the regret of a host of friends Mr. Beach severed his connection with the Extension Society on November the first to go back into business. He has left an enviable record behind him and a place which will be difficult to fill.

Mrs. Thelma Smith, besides her many office duties, makes many calls at the hospitals, investigates family needs, provides and distributes clothing, works in St. Matthew's Mission and is an efficient assistant.

The Rev. John Short came to us the first of November but after a brief stay of but three weeks, he was called to another field.

The Volunteer Staff of parish representatives has continued throughout the year, its invaluable friendly visiting to the 250 grateful patients in the Monroe County Hospital.

Our Emergency Fund enables us to relieve in a hundred little but effective ways, the needs of many worthy cases which come under our observation. Every cent of this trust is accounted for and a statement will be presented for the office files.

The Church Pension Fund

To the Convention of the Diocese of Western New York:

The Church Pension Fund continues its good work, as in the whole American Church, so here in the Diocese of Western New York.

In the general Church, the annual grants from the Church Pension Fund proper have reached a total of over $299,000.00; an increase of about $30,000.00 over the total of last year. The grants carried on account of The General Clergy Relief Fund and other merged funds, including the General Convention of 1907 Account, bring the grand total up to over $486,000.00 per annum.

In the Diocese of Western New York, the total pension assessment remittances forwarded to the New York Office, to December 28, plus interest, amount to $21,427.72; an increase of nearly $450.00 above the remittances of the preceding year.

The pension assessment payments from all sources throughout the Church are in excess of the previous year, showing the well sustained support the Fund is receiving.

The Trustees at their meeting on December 18th, renewed for the year 1924, the provisions of their resolutions of December 20, 1921, authorizing the immediate additional benefit of $1,000.00 for the widows of clergymen dying in active service, whose pension assessments have been fully paid. They have extended the provisions to include the widows of clergymen who die within six months after relinquishing their last cure, provided they are not beneficiaries of the Fund. The condition still stands that the diocese or the parish in any diocese which fails to pay the premium assessments jeopardizes the right, in the whole diocese, to the benefits of the resolutions.

There have been received and disbursed during the year just closed as set forth in the report of the Treasurer, Mr. A. F. Freeman:

It will be observed that the report of the Treasurer shows that sixteen parishes and missions were in arrears December 31, 1923; some of them many months. It does not become us that they should be allowed by their delinquency, to render void the right of beneficiaries in this Diocese to the special $1,000.00 grants made to the widows of clergymen dying in active service. Something should be done. This committee made recommendations last year which are published on pages 150, 151 of the Diocesan Journal, 1923.

The situation has not improved very greatly during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

EUGENE C. DENTON, Chairman,
G. S. BURROWS, Secretary,
Diocesan Committee.

was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Rev. Pierre Cushing, D.D., who died May 16th, 1923.

The main items of this report are two:

1. The School.
2. The Books of Accounts.

During the year 1923 there were received on the foundation 22 boys.
The average number maintained during the year was seventeen and one-half ($17\frac{1}{2}$) boys. The greatest number in attendance at any one time was eighteen (18), and the least number was seventeen (17). The age of the youngest boy on the foundation was 12 years; that of the oldest 19 years.

During the year the total number of pay pupils received was sixty-three (63), of whom twelve (12) were day pupils. The greatest number in attendance at any one time was thirty-eight (38), and the least number thirty-seven (37).

The course of study is that published in the Register and is based on the Elementary and the Academic Syllabus of the New York State Education Department.

In the matter of accounts the annexed schedules show:

- (a) Comparative Balance Sheet as at December 31st, 1923 and 1922;
- (b) Comparative Statement of Income and Expenses for the years 1923 and 1922;
- (c) Summary of Endowment Fund Assets.

SCHEDULE

(1) Schedule of Investments of Endowment and Special Funds in Mortgages; (2) Schedule of Stocks and Bonds representing Investments of Endowment and Special Funds.

The Income of the School for the year 1923 was $43,731.03.

The Trustees have applied to the Supreme Court for permission to sell the land on the east side of Main Street, also a strip of land 350 ft. wide along the bank of the River, and about 8 acres at the Whirlpool point. This permission will place the Trustees in a better position to negotiate with the Niagara Falls Park Commission and with the City of Niagara Falls and avoid condemnation proceedings if possible, and advisable and also give the Board power to sell for residential purpose the land east of Main Street which has for many years been an expense to the School. This leaves plenty of land for all the purposes of the School.

Respectfully submitted,

PHILIP WHEELER MOSHER,

Secretary.

CERTIFICATE OF FINANCE COMMITTEE

We, the undersigned members of the Finance Committee of the Board of Trustees of DeVeaux School, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a full and accurate report for the year ending December 31, 1923, of the receipts and expenditures, and of the invested funds and property and cash on hand of the aforesaid corporation. That the books of account have been audited by the New York and Buffalo Audit Company and have been found correct, and that this report is made up from such books, and is a true statement as shown by them of the financial condition of the corporation on December 31st, 1923.

DELANCEY RANKINE,

Auditor's Report

Buffalo, N. Y., January 5, 1923.

Board of Trustees, DeVeaux School,
Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—

We have examined the accounts of the DeVeaux School for the year ended December 31st, 1923, and are now submitting statements showing the financial position of the School at December 31st, 1923 and operations for the period, such statements being as follows:

| EXHIBIT | PAGE |
|--|------|
| A Comparative Balance Sheet as at December 31st, 1923 and 1922 | 3-4 |
| B Comparative Statement of Income and Expenses for the years 1923 and 1922 | 5 |

|--|-----|
| 1 Schedule of Investments of Endowment and Special Funds in Mortgages | 7-8 |
| 2 Schedule of Stocks and Bonds representing Investments of Endowment and Special Funds | 9 |

We have examined cash transactions in detail, accounting for all monies shown to have been received by tracing the same into the bank accounts. Vouchers are on file for all disbursements; cash on hand was verified by examination, balances in various banks were confirmed by certificate.

Investment of General, Endowment and Special Funds represented by loans on bond and mortgage have been verified by examination of mortgage and insurance papers, etc., but the legality of the papers and the value of the security represented thereby has not been passed upon. Stocks and Bonds as set forth in Schedule 2 have been examined.

The liabilities of the School as set forth on the balance sheet contain certain estimated items on account of bills that had not been received at the time of the preparation of these statements. The liability to banks on notes payable has been confirmed.

The results of operations as set forth on Exhibit B, show an excess of expenses over income of $1,597.31. This amount added to the deficit at the first of the year and after providing for an adjustment of insurance prepaid of $108.61 which is applicable to the year 1922, results in the net deficit of $10,882.91 shown upon the balance sheet.

It will be noted that there have been certain additions to fixed assets consisting of improvements and additional equipment amounting to $442.83. This expenditure has been made from current income and it would seem desirable, provided it was the wish of the Trustees to capitalize such improvements, to transfer an amount to income account which would re-imburse that account for such disbursement. In order also to have the Endowment and Special fund assets agree with the Endowment Funds it will be necessary to make certain adjustments to transfer accumulated income carried in certain of the funds. The time at our disposal was not sufficient to make these adjusting entries, but the same will in due course have our attention.

Respectfully submitted,

NEW YORK AND BUFFALO AUDIT COMPANY.

H. MEECH,

President.

Examining Chaplains

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EXAMINING CHAPLAINS OF THE DIOCESE OF WESTERN NEW YORK

To the Bishop and Council of the Diocese of Western New York:

The Board of Examining Chaplains desires to present its report of activities since its reorganization.

At the call of Bishop Brent, the Examining Chaplains met at the Bishop's Office, 237 North Street, Buffalo, May 23rd, 1922, for the purpose of organizing the Board. Bishop Brent was in the chair and stated the object of the meeting. The Board elected the following to serve as its officers: President, the Rev. E. H. Martin; Secretary, the Rev. Charles D. Broughton. The Chaplains present at the meeting were: Rev. E. H. Martin, Rev. W. S. Barrows, Rev. C. C. Cove, Rev. Pierre Cushing, D.D., Rev. F. N. Bouck, Rev. H. L. Gaylord, Ph.D., and the Rev Charles D. Broughton.

These By-Laws were adopted: 1. The Board shall elect its own officers annually. They shall consist of a President and Secretary. 2. The President shall appoint not less than two members of the Board to examine such Postulants and Candidates as may be presented by the Bishop, and at the time appointed by him. 3. The examiners shall name the place where the examination shall be held. 4. The expenses of the candidates shall be defrayed from the Theological Students Fund, with the consent of the Bishop.

The President appointed as a committee to prepare a Syllabus of Questions for Examination of Candidates: Dr. Cushing, Dr. Gaylord and the Rev. Mr. Broughton.

Bishop Brent spoke of the advisability of appointing two physicians to act as Examining Physicians of Candidates. Dr. Allen A. Jones, of Buffalo, and Dr. Charles W. Selover, of Canandaigua, were suggested to act in this capacity, the Bishop expressing his purpose to ask for the endorsement of the Standing Committee of the Diocese.

The Board made plans to have the Examining Papers of Candidates kept on file at the Diocesan House.

With the deepest regret, the Board reports the death of one of its valued members during the past year, the Rev. Pierre Cushing, S.T.D. As has been well expressed elsewhere, so now we record of him: "A ripe scholar, a sound theologian, a humble disciple of his Master, a true friend of man."

The Board has been called upon during the past year to examine candidates for the Diaconate and Priesthood, as well as Postulants.

The Board expects to have tis Annual Meeting early in 1924.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

CHAS. D. BROUGHTON,

Secretary.

Dated: January 10th, 1924.

Report on Theological Seminaries

To the 87th Annual Convention of the Diocese of Western New York:
Gentlemen:—

The Standing Committee on Theological Seminaries presents the following Report:

There are now within the United States, fourteen Seminaries and Schools devoted to the training of young men for the Ministry. In our Mission field outside the United States, there are seven such schools, while the training of native students is going on in nearly every district.

The name, location, present enrollment and increases of the student body in the Seminaries of the United States for the year 1923-4 over that of 1922-3, are as follows:

| Seminaries | Location | Present Enrollment | New in 1923-4 |
|--|----------|--------------------|---------------|
| Berkeley, Middletown, Conn. | | 20 | 10 |
| Bexley Hall, Gambier, Ohio | | 18 | 10 |
| Bishop Payne, Petersburg, Va. | | 13 | 7 |
| The Pacific, San Francisco, Cal..... | | 7 | 0 |
| Delancey, Buffalo, N. Y. | | 11 | 2 |
| DuBose Memorial, Monteagle, Tenn..... | | 37 | 0 |
| Episcopal Theological, Cambridge, Mass..... | | 38 | 18 |
| General Theological, New York City..... | | 117 | 47 |
| Nashotah, Nashotah, Wis. | | 24 | 13 |
| Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Pa..... | | 36 | 16 |
| Seabury, Faribault, Minn..... | | 19 | 9 |
| University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn. | | 26 | 12 |
| Virginia, Alexandria, Va. | | 70 | 31 |
| St. John, Evangelist, Greeley, Colo..... | | 20 | 11 |
| | | 456 | 186 |

As these figures show, there are now 456 students in our Seminaries, being an increase of 186 over the School year, 1922-23. These increases compare very favorably with those in the colleges and are therefore encouraging. They show that the supply for the Ministry has taken a decided advance throughout the Church, a fact which must be very gratifying to all. We give below the names of Foreign Seminaries as reported in the Living Church Annual, 1924:

Brazil, Port Alegre; Boone, Wuchang, China; Liberia, Buttington; Trinity School, Tokyo, Japan; Haiti; St. John's University, Shanghai, China. No statistics from these are obtainable.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN R. HARDING,
PHILIP W. MOSHER,
W. E. TOWNSEND.
